WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

Inter-Tone in All Markets Noticeable.

Wholesale Business Larger, Retail Prices Show Advancing Tendency. Lumber Advancing in Values. Farm Products Notes.

Anything to be noted in the market this week was encouraging. The general feeling of satisfaction with the outlook.

IN RETAIL BUSINESS—

Rices on boats and stores are still going up and a good many buyers are snapping up anything they can get at good prices. There will probably be a difference of 10 per cent in the price that are quoted by manufacturers now and those that will be quoted in July. Of course this means a larger advance in retail prices, except on such stock the may then be out of style. The cotton shirts for men and women are going to be more popular than ever, possibly as a result of the bicycle's popularity. They are for sale at low prices now, but if dry goods advance as usual in the next few months, the price of all articles will advance $1.00 or $1.50 a yard. A few weeks ago a man in a suit of the war was in the store again, so that it is a good time to buy while the light is on. There is a general feeling of satisfaction with the outlook.

Clothing is cheap in relation to the price for a year or two. The goods costing the most are the worst. June 1st, and a general feeling of satisfaction with the outlook.

The market is still in a state of uncertainty. The price of all articles will advance $1.00 or $1.50 a yard. A few weeks ago a man in a suit of the war was in the store again, so that it is a good time to buy while the light is on. There is a general feeling of satisfaction with the outlook.
