NUMBER 52.

POPULISTS TO STICK.

Chairman Cy Thompson Says Lloyd and Fowler Will Win.

Judge Dick Dead. Southport Terminal Railroad Co. Postmaster in Trouble. New Brands of Ferilizers, Russell Escapes His Soldiers.

JOURNAL PUBLISHED
RALEIGH, N. C., September 14.
The six companies under command of Col. Burgwynne from St. Simons Island did not arrive here until this morning. Those men were all well and fully looking, ruddy cheeked, and in splendid condition generally. Now that Colonel Burgwynne has the disbanding of the regiment will be complete. Some of them may possibly re-enlist in other commands, but the majority are only glad to get out of service.

Judge R. P. Dick, as was predicted, never rallied from his last illness and last night he quietly passed away at his home in Greensboro.

The secretary of State yesterday chartered the Southport Terminal Railroad Company. The capital stock is $250,000 with the right to increase to $500,000. The amount subscribed for at Southport, this week, exceeds that of any other State, and a railroad goes down below Wilmington and all the way to the coast has to be carried to Wilmington either by small boats up the river or by wagons.

W. H. Robinson, Republican postmaster at Ayres, a constable on the Southern Railroad, was arrested and charged with obstructing justice, also with making an untrue statement to a grand jury. He is held in the county jail. John N. Clark.

Eleven members of the State Agricultural Department for the year 1910 were named at the Agricultural Department yesterday. They are: W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, W. H. Robinson.

Superintendent McAlister of the penitentiary has a record of 1000 men from 1870 to 1910. He is now in the penitentiary.

Mr. A. D. R. Wallace, who has been appointed clerk in the State Department, is now in the State Department.

Jim Yancy, who was arrested for stopping with the negro soldiers here, today was paroled by Governor Russell.

Manila, September 14. The day's fighting in the city, and the railroad authorities would not hold the train. The people of Manila, however, thank anything that saved them from such a visitation.

Populist State Chairman Thompson says that Lloyd will continue to be the Populist Congressional candidate in the 2nd district and Fowler in the 3rd district.

Manila, September 14. The day's fighting in the city, and the railroad authorities would not hold the train. The people of Manila, however, thank anything that saved them from such a visitation.

It is questionable whether or not General Pio Barahona, commanding the troops quartered at Malate, will obey the order to withdraw. If the order is disobeyed a crisis will have arrived.

General Gomez Resigns
SANTIAGO DE CUBA, September 13. A report was received by General Lawton last night that General Maximo Gomez, the insurgent commander-in-chief, has resigned his command of the Cuban army, and that his resignation has been accepted.

Gomez, it appears, has been protesting against the Cuban government's yielding control of the island's affairs to the Americans. The explanation for resigning is said to have been his disapproval of "passive submission to conditions tending to the practical discrediting and retirement of the Cuban republic as such, and the establishment of the absolute dominion of the United States."

The Oregon and Iowa.
New York, September 13. Orders are expected at the Brooklyn Navy Yard any time for the sailing of the battleships Oregon and Iowa to the Pacific. Ammunition is being put on board of both ships, and they will begin coaling by tomorrow. After this they will be repaired the regulation lead color. This will set up the work on them.

DISEASE AT PONCE.

Yellow Fever Among the Troops. Precautions Taken.

PONCE, P. R., September 14.—Disease from yellow fever and four cases of the disease among the troops in Ponce were acknowledged officially. The cases appeared in the Nineteenth Regiment of Infantry, which has been quartered in the city.

That the situation is considered serious is evident from the stringent precautions taken to prevent a spread of the fever. The hospitals are all intelligently and skillfully managed.

A board of surgeons especially convened to consider the cause of the fever and find a remedy is now investigating the cause. All troops formerly quartered at Ponce are now encamped in the hills. Boards patrol certain streets, restricting passage. Other guards are on the main roads to and from the city and refuse to pass people in or out. The vessels which were in the harbor left yesterday to escape quarantine.

Mayor Defects Taylor
MONTELEONE, Ala., September 13.—The Democrats of the 1st District in session at Monteleone, Ala., today nominated George Wash. Taylor for Congress to succeed Wash. Taylor. He was opposed by Hannu Taylor, ex-Minister to Spain.

A special train was sent to the Wash. Taylor men refused to give the contest. The delegation from Chocoma and Washington counties a hearing—these delegates favoring Hannu Taylor. There will no doubt be a bitter fight over the result.

Prisoners Sent to Spain
BARCELONA, N. H., September 12.—The City of Rome, in a formal ceremony, today received 1,200 Spanish prisoners, said to be the remainder of the Spanish prisoners taken on the island of Sardinia, Spain, in 1909. The number of prisoners was 1,200. They were taken from the island of Sardinia.

As soon as the prisoners were safely on the island, the 1000 men in the island were carefully moved on board. The prisoners were clothed in American uniforms. Thousands of spectators gathered to see the prisoners, who were taken to the island.

The Treaty Case
WASH., Sept. 14. Two meetings of the cabinet today have been held to consider the question of reviving the Dreyfus case, which is the subject of a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Representative Charles D. Frye of Maine.

General D. Frye of Maine has been placed on the reserve list and dismissed from his post in consequence of the general court-martial held at the military academy at West Point.

The Court has refused to release former United States Senator, pending a rehearing of the case against him.

Japan's Opinion
WASHINGTON, September 14. The newspaper extending the State Department in the official mails from the east show that the almost universal expression of the public press of Japan is in favor of the United States holding Porto Rico permanently, and governing the Philippine Islands. The position taken is that this will be in the interests of peace and commerce and good government.

The officials insist that this is the only policy that will satisfy the highest interests of the island and the demands of civilization.

The papers declare that the United States, by assuming the control of the islands, will receive the moral support of the civilized nations of Europe and Great Britain.

Yemen in West Indies
NEW YORK, September 14. Advice was received today that a terrible hurricane has swept over the island of Barbados in the West Indies group of the Lesser Antilles. Two hundred persons have been killed and 20,000 rendered homeless.

ST. THOMAS, DANISH WEST INDIES, September 14.—A boat from the island of St. Vincent, a hundred miles west of Barbados, arrived today at the island of Grenada and reports that St. Vincent has had the most violent and destructive cyclone ever known there. Kingston, the capital of St. Vincent, is destroyed. It is estimated that 200 lives have been lost on that island and that 20,000 persons are homeless. Thousands are starving or are being fed at the public expense.

The amount of property destroyed in St. Vincent cannot yet be estimated. Every small house is down, and many large ones have also been destroyed. The demolished buildings include churches, stores and almost all the estate buildings.

THE STATE CAPITAL.

Active Preparations for Next State Fair.

Republicans to Meet to Endorse Populist Nominations. Disorderly Soldiers. Governor's Law Partner Working Out Sentence.

JOURNAL BUREAU.
RALEIGH, N. C., September 15.
The Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society held a meeting, and were very much gratified at the outlook for the State Fair. Several important resolutions were passed looking to the better management of the fair. Senator Daniels was invited to speak on Thursday of Fair week. Captain C. B. Denton was unanimously elected Treasurer of the State Fair. Mr. W. J. Carter (Broad Rock) of the Richmond Times was appointed by the racing committee as "starter" for the races. Many new committees for different departments, and arrangements were appointed. The grounds and buildings are being put in thoroughly good condition. Renovated, fumigated and whitewashed. The water supply and its absolute purity will be specially looked after.

The Republican Congressional convention for this, the 10th, District will meet here on the 20th, for the purpose of endorsing Jenkins the Populist nominee for Congress.

Col. Burgwynne proposes that the Second Regiment shall give a big parade tomorrow as a farewell to the city where so much kindness has been shown the men. Colonel Burgwynne in General order No. 1, named the camp "Ship Bagley." All the men have been paid off, and all who care to do so can obtain a furlough, can go home to remain 30 days, then report here to be mustered out. The men are under no sort of military government, only being required to report at camp at 6 a. m. and 6 p. m.

During the day they take possession of the city, and in many instances are drunk and disorderly. Yesterday a protest guard was stationed on the principle business street to preserve order, and he was the most disorderly and the drunkenest man on the streets. Such things are receiving the severest criticism.

North Carolina is to have another railroad in the western part of the State, and yesterday the South Carolina and Georgia Extension Railroad Company of North Carolina was chartered. The road will be 60 miles long.

South Carolina yesterday sent three United States convicts to the penitentiary here for robbing trains.

David B. Sutton, ex-law partner of Governor Russell, as was noted a few weeks ago was serving out his court martial sentence at Ft. McPherson. His sentence for disorderly conduct, and absence without leave was "To be dishonorably discharged from the service of the United States, forfeiting all pay and allowances due him, and to be confined at hard labor, at such post, as the reviewing authority may direct for the period of six months."

The Democratic Congressional convention will meet here on the 20th. E. Chambers Smith is the only name so far mentioned for the nomination for Congress from this 4th District.

The reports of lead tobacco markets show sales of 125,000,000 pounds during the year. There are 44 markets in the State and 87 warehouses with 330 leaf dealers. North Carolina produces more than half the "bright leaf" grown in the United States.

Cotton pickers are now in great demand around here. The prices paid are about 35 cents per 100 pounds. The Fusion Populist Republican Hand Book is being circulated. They issued 100,000 copies of the book. The book was prepared and endorsed by both parties.

No More Mustering Out.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Tremendous pressure is still being brought to bear on the War Department to have more troops mustered out of the service. Efforts in this direction, however, are of no avail. It is announced today with increased emphasis that there will be no more troops mustered out. The situation does not admit of any further reduction in the army, and efforts are being made to put those volunteers who are retained in the service as near as possible on the footing of the regulars in the matter of drill and discipline.

The original purpose was to muster out 100,000 volunteers. About 96,000 have already been discharged, and it is announced positively that no more will be mustered out, no matter what influence is brought to bear.

The retention of the volunteers now in service, and the efforts to improve the morals of the army has in view the Philippine situation more than that of Cuba and Porto Rico.

Returning to Austria.
VIENNA, September 14.—In accordance with the Emperor's wishes his wife, the Empress Elizabeth, will be finally buried beside her favorite son, the Crown Prince Rudolf. The interment on Saturday, will be only temporary. GENEVA, Switzerland, September 14.—

BITES THAT POISON.

ANIMALS WHOSE TEETH CARRY A VERDICT OF DEATH.

The Power That Is in the Snap of the Jaws of the Lion, the Leopard, the Wolf and the Tiger: The Crocodile's Formidable Row of Spikes.

Dog bites are always dangerous. This is mainly due not to poisoning, though this often results, but to the frightful wound which any large dog thoroughly in earnest can inflict. Human beings get off lightly in many cases, because, as a rule, a dog only "snaps" at them when irritated, and there is as much difference between a "snap" and a bite as there is between a fall with the back of the fingers and a knee-knaw blow.

Most poisoning caused by bites, however, probably due to the state of the creature's teeth. The dog tribe, which have very wet mouths and wet tongues, keep their teeth fairly clean, while herbivorous animals do not. A dog's teeth are usually very beautiful, whereas those of a horse or a camel yellow and dirty. Captain Christie in some notes on sport in Southland recently published in "Country Life," states that a native cook who served him had been disabled for two years by a camel bite received during our former Sudan expedition. The work done by the tongue and saliva in constantly cleaning the carnivorous animal's teeth is proved to some extent by the different results of being "snapped" and bitten respectively by the same creature.

Wounds made by the claws of leopards are poisonous, while those caused by the teeth are less frequently so. Sir Samuel Baker notes that "the wounds from the claws of a leopard are exceedingly dangerous, as the animal is in the habit of feeding upon carcasses some days after they have been killed. The flesh is at that time beginning to decompose, and the claws, which are used to hold it as it is torn by the teeth, are consequently saturated and poisoned sufficiently to insure gangrene by inoculation." He recommends that all wounds caused by leopards or tigers should be thoroughly syringed with cold water mixed with a thirty-sixth part of carbolic acid, and when the wound is dressed, probably modern treatment can improve upon this recipe.

Apart from all concomitant danger of blood poisoning the severity of the bites of flesh-eating animals is due to all proportion to the weapons by which they are inflicted. The teeth, even of the largest carnivora, are merely the "spearhead," but the force which "works" these instruments is prodigious. It seems as if for the moment the animal threw all its bodily energy into the combination of muscular action which we call a "bite." In most cases the mere shock of impact as the animal hurled itself on its enemy is entirely demoralizing or inflicting physical injury. A muzzled mastiff will hurl a man to the ground in the effort to fasten its teeth in his throat or shoulder. Then the driving and crushing force of the jaw muscles is added. The snapping power of an alligator's jaws is more or less intelligible. They are long and furnished with a row of pointed teeth from end to end. But the jaws of the lion, leopard, tiger, bear, fox or falcon are short, and the long and pointed teeth are few. Yet each of their bites is a killing. Lifting power with all proportion to the size is almost unheard of in the animal world.

Sir Samuel Baker, who had a long and varied acquaintance with the bites of the carnivora, noticed that the tiger usually seized an Indian native by the shoulder and with one paw on his arm and the other on the other hip clung through the hair and back. "The fatal wound was the bite, which through back and chest penetrated to the lungs." Europeans are killed by the tiger's bite as well as by the shoulder and paw. A Mr. Lacey, a missionary of that name, was killed after he had been on for a few moments by a tiger, which then left him. He died next day. In nearly all cases the bite penetrates to the lungs.

This kind of wound is characteristic of the attack of many of the feline. Scarcely any bird recovers from a cat's bite for the same reason. The canine teeth are at most instantly driven through the lung near the wing. The chest, which has very small mouth, always bites through the backbone's ribs.

The leopard when seizing smaller and milder, such as dogs, crushes the head. When attacking men it aims at biting through the lungs. Sir Samuel Baker must again be quoted. In Africa a native boy was being reviled, according to his brother. A leopard seized one boy and was almost instantly killed by the other, who hurled his spear so accurately that it separated the vertebrae of the leopard's neck. "The boy was carried to my hut," says Sir Samuel, "but there was no chance of recovery, as the fangs had torn open the chest and injured the lungs. These were exposed to view through the cavity between his ribs. He died during the night."

The worst of the "snapping" bites of animals is that of the wolf. The jaws, unlike those of the feline, are very long. A male wolf's head often seems to be more than a quarter of its length without the tail. Some judges set it at nearly a third of the total length of the body. The bite is always a snap, which will tear away a mass of flesh from a still running animal or inflict a mortal wound on the lower parts of the body. The crocodile bite is the most formidable of the snapping order. Though its teeth are only a row of spikes, it can cut off a limb or bite a fish weighing 70 pounds into two pieces as cleanly as if they were divided by a knife.

Horses usually seize a person by the arm or shoulder when they bite. The result is more often a very bad bruise, like a jam in a door, than a wound. But the great offender in this respect is "our friend the dog," and the greatest sufferers are young children. We have known a little girl of 10 years almost bitten to death by a pet St. Bernard dog which was jealous of her and a boy of 6 months and located by a bulldog for the same reason. As most persons keep dogs for their own amusement, it is incumbent on them to remember that, though the best of domesticated animals, they are potentially dangerous wild beasts, and if they show signs of violence should be dealt with ethically, not sold to some one else.—London Spectator.

How It Struck Him.
"Her rooms in stone" quoted Mr. Doole after his literary daughter. "I'll damn about that, but sure there is some good arguments in them, there is."—Gleaner's Quire.

It was on July 4, 1820, that omnibus first ran in England. Two then began to run from the Bank of England to the Yorkshire Stingo Inn, on the New road. They carried 20 passengers inside, but none outside.

The weather forecast is for rain and north east winds.

THE GREAT CHAMPION HAYMAKER MOWER!

The ability of this mower to work where others fail is recognized, and for cutting so rough ground and among stumps and trees, its equal has never been produced. The peculiar and noiseless gearing of this mower is well known. With only two cog wheels it transfers the power directly to the knife without waste. This short connecting link that takes the place of a pitman permits the bar to be turned to any angle, even upright, to pass trees or other obstacles without stopping the team, or without throwing the machine out of gear, and the driver can do this while still in his seat.

Other mowers break pitmans, knife heels, etc., and wear out the gears because the principle on which these mowers are built is wrong. The CHAMPION is free from these troubles because the principle on which it is built is right. The Champion will cost you no more than much inferior machines. Call and examine same before buying.
