FRANCE'S SHAME.

The Jewish Captain Dreyfus Found Guilty by Military Court.

The Verdict Was Not Unexpected. Testimony from Germany Refused Confinement in a Military Prison for Ten Years, Less Time Already Served.

RENNES, Sept. 9.—Colonel Jouan, president of the court martial trying Captain Dreyfus, has announced the verdict of guilty in the case. The vote of the members of the court was five to two.

Dreyfus was sentenced to ten years confinement in a military prison. This sentence includes 4 years and 11 months already served on Devil's Island, leaving 5 years and 1 month to be served.

An appeal will be taken by the counsel of Dreyfus to the Court of Cassation but with little hope.

There are eight thousand troops on guard at Rennes at the scene of the trial. The prisoner and members of his family are protected by the verdict.

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—The Reichsanzeiger, this evening in the official portion of the paper, publishes the following statement: "We are authorized to repeat here in the observations which the Imperial Government, while loudly objecting to the sentence, did in regard to the internal matters of another country, has made concerning the French Captain Dreyfus."

"For the preservation of his own dignity and the fulfillment of a duty to his country, Prince Von Munster, after obtaining the orders of the Emperor, repeatedly made in December, 1894, and in January, 1895 to M. Harcourt, M. Dupuy and M. Casimir Perier declarations to the effect that the Imperial Embassy in France never maintained either directly or indirectly any relations with Dreyfus."

"Secretary of State Von Bulow, in the Reichstag, January 21, 1899, made the following statement: 'I declare in the most positive manner that no relations or communications of any kind ever existed between the French ex-Captain Dreyfus now on Devil's Island, and any German agents.'"

RENNES, FRANCE, September 8.—That Dreyfus will be condemned is the almost unanimous opinion heard in Rennes tonight.

Hitherto there had been a divergence, but now both camps, the Dreyfusian and the anti-Dreyfusian, seem agreed in the conclusion that the verdict will go against him.

You just what this is based and the precise reason for the conclusion are a mystery, but there is no disguising the fact that, from M. Labori down to the numerous Dreyfusians who crowd the hotels and cafes, and who last night were still hopeful that Dreyfus would be saved, all seem now to agree that his last chance is gone.

The one source of hope is M. Labori himself, who said: "We fear that Captain Dreyfus will be condemned, but we do not intend to throw up the sponge. We shall go on fighting for him."

M. Jaures, the Socialist leader, and other prominent Dreyfusians, expressed a similar attitude. Excitement is at fever heat, and nothing is discussed but the probable verdict.

According to the latest report, the verdict will be delivered between 3 and 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The court, upon assembling, will hear the remainder of M. Demange's speech. After it is concluded the judges will adjourn until 3 o'clock.

The military precautions are of the most elaborate character, and no attempt at disorder is likely to have the slightest success. Orders have been issued to repress the first symptom of trouble with an iron hand.

A small anti-Semitic meeting was held here at night and complete calm attended it. A strong force of gendarmes guarded the approaches to the building where the meeting was held, and the orders were to arrest the first man who raised a sedition cry.

The news of the publication of Count von Bulow's declaration in the Reichsanzeiger absolving Dreyfus has reacted in Rennes and is considered important on the eve of a verdict, which, in some quarters, it is thought, will be regarded as a slight by Germany, if it be a condemnation, as being tantamount to a public refusal to take the word of Emperor William, his Minister being merely his mouthpiece.

THE WHOLE EARTH

Condemns France For the Sentence of Captain Dreyfus.

Opinions of Length of Sentence. How the Prisoner and His Wife Received Verdict Against The Paris Exposition. Germany Has Proofs.

LONDON, September 10.—Dispatches received here state that with the exception of the Jesuit organs in Rome and the anti-Semitic papers, the press of the whole world is ringing with execration against the Dreyfus verdict. Papers of all nationalities fall in with the idea of boycotting the exhibition.

The verdict of the court-martial has caused indignation everywhere in England. The excitement in the Jewish quarters of London was great. Special prayers were offered throughout Saturday in the synagogues in behalf of Dreyfus and as soon as the verdict was known persons were seen at every street corner in that section, expressing execration and many sobbing bitterly.

In almost all of London's places of public worship today pulpit references were made to the verdict. Canon Scott-Holland, at St. Paul's Cathedral, said: "A nation is on its trial. France stands at the judgment bar. All civilization is waiting to know whether tomorrow's news may add anything to qualify the naked cruelty of the telegram, anything to relieve the staggered conscience."

Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, the well known Wesleyan divine, preaching at St. James' Hall, said: "Five unhappy judges have already taken their places, in the judgment of the human race, besides Judas Pilate, Judge Jeffries and other creatures. They have sentenced their victim to a decade of imprisonment, but they have decreed themselves forever to the scorn, derision and execration of the human race. Unless France shakes off this infamy she will be left without an ally or a friend."

The Daily Mail says: "Rennes is France's moral Scandal."

The Daily News remarks: "It is no longer Dreyfus, but France herself that is on trial."

The Daily Telegraph says: "There seems nothing left for France but a revolution and a war that will reduce her to the level of Spain."

The Times says: "We do not hesitate to pronounce it the greatest and most appalling prostitution of justice the world has witnessed in modern times."

Berlin, Sept. 10.—The Dreyfus verdict causes a feeling almost of stupefaction in Berlin.

It is agreed here that the second verdict is a grave political blunder, a violation of the laws of civilization and act of moral cowardice which the world will find it difficult to pardon.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, Sept. 10.—The following semi-official statement has been issued: "A movement is on foot against sending exhibits to the Paris Exposition in 1900. Many intending exhibitors have withdrawn their notices of participation on the ground that the present state of things in France renders it unsafe to send exhibits."

St. Louis, Sept. 10.—An informal meeting of prominent merchants was held yesterday shortly after the Dreyfus decision became known. It was unanimously agreed that not one of them would attend the Paris Exposition nor make an exhibit. It was also decided that they would use their influence to deter others from attending or making exhibits.

RENNES, FRANCE, September 10.—In a conversation today with Major Carriere, the Government's commissary at the court-martial, he said that Dreyfus' appeal would be sent to Paris without delay to be dealt with and that the results of the deliberations would probably be made known within a fortnight.

An officer in a high position who has been well and publicly known throughout the trial said: "I do not think Dreyfus will undergo a second degradation, although strictly speaking he can be made to suffer this punishment in connection with the enforcement of his sentence. For the sake of humanity, however, he will probably be exempted from this dreadful ordeal."

Mathieu Dreyfus said: "The Captain bears up admirably. He is wonderfully self-possessed. The first thing he said on hearing his fate was 'Take care of my wife.'"

"Mme. Dreyfus is well and is as brave and courageous as ever. The struggle will go on."

Rennes today has been perfectly calm. There has not been a sign of demonstration, nor a cry for or against Dreyfus heard anywhere.

The troops and gendarmes who yesterday gave the centre of Rennes the appearance of a military camp have vanished. There are hardly any gendarmes in sight except near the Dreyfus residence, where a few are posted.

One strange fact is the extraordinary difference of opinion respecting the effect of the judgment—whether Dreyfus can be degraded again, and whether the five years solitary confinement he has undergone will be regarded as equivalent to the 10 years' detention to which he is now sentenced. This question is aside from the general impression that he will be pardoned in a few days by President Loubet, who can find ground to exercise clemency.

M. Demance thinks the five years will count for nothing, and that Dreyfus, according to law, will have to suffer 10 years' detention. Many others, including several lawyers, hold a contrary opinion and declare that Dreyfus will be released in October.

Paris, Sept. 10.—Details are sent by Matin's correspondent at Rennes regarding the manner in which Dreyfus and his devoted wife received the news of the sentence.

Mme. Dreyfus' brother, M. Hadamard, brought the news to the villa Godard. After a fit of violent despair Mme. Dreyfus mastered her grief. She was able to receive a number of visits from friends, who called to assure her of their sympathy and unflinching confidence in the future.

Numbers of kindly telegrams arrived at the villa, nearly all expressing the hope that shortly the Captain's innocence will be vindicated.

M. Desmoulin, a well known engraver, told the Matin's correspondent he had just seen Mme. Dreyfus.

"I am filled with admiration for that noble woman," he said. "There she is already up and doing, ready for the greatest sacrifices to save the honor of her husband and children. I know nothing nobler than a woman, who so boldly faces misfortune. She proclaims aloud the innocence of her husband, and declares that the injustice of men can neither subdue her faith nor lessen the love she bears her husband and children."

When Labori and Demange met after reading the sentence they embraced and the latter said: "Never mind this temporary check. We have truth, law and justice on our side. Such a cause cannot be immediately lost."

When Labori went to inform his client, he said: "Well, my poor friend, we have been beaten."

"To this Dreyfus, overcome by his emotion, replied: 'We shall have our revenge. I am innocent. You know it. I will patiently await the hour of justice. Console my dear Lucie. Tell her I do not consider myself affected by the sentence and am ready for her and our children's sake to endure the worst tortures.'"

The Journal des Debats says: "Dreyfus will spend the unexpired term of his sentence at Corte, a fortress in North Corsica, on the site of a ruined town."

LOUIS, Sept. 10.—A dispatch from Berlin says: "It is now permitted to be known that the War office holds documents conclusively proving that Esterhazy and Henry betrayed their trusts, and only the permission of Emperor William is awaited for the publication of documents showing the sentence of Dreyfus to be a brutal act of injustice."

RALEIGH. Need of Room for Insane. Wholesale Conspiracy. What Harris Says. Bishop Chastice Dead.

RALEIGH, Sept. 11.—When asked whether the Democrats on the penitentiary board would resign, Senator Travis said he did not know, but supposed that matter would be considered on the 15th. He added that he had no doubt the Legislature, when it meets next June will settle completely the penitentiary question. A bill could have been drawn this year, which in very few words would have given the Democrats the desired control and not have given the feston Supreme Court a whack.

The State board of public charities is called to meet at the Western Hospital for the Insane at Morganton, September 19. The meeting is at the special request of Dr. Murphy, the hospital superintendent, who wishes to show the urgent demands of that hospital for more room for the insane. He tells the board that while there is great sympathy for convicts who have been cruelly treated, yet that the sufferings of convicts do not seem to compare with those of insane persons, who are now in jails in western North Carolina because there is no room in the hospital for them.

Last month, it will be remembered, six convicts, four of them Federal prisoners, escaped from the penitentiary here at 7 o'clock one morning—the boldest escape ever made in the State. It is now learned that 21 convicts, nearly all Federal prisoners, were in the plot to escape, but that the firing at the six who got away frightened the others.

Governor Russell's special friend J. C. L. Harris has plainly declared that it is impossible to defeat the constitutional amendment limiting the negro franchise. Now he comes out and says he thinks the Republicans ought not to put up a State ticket of Republicans next year but nominate Populists and anti amendment Democrats.

The attendance at the Agricultural and Mechanical College is so large as to make it clear that more dormitories must be built.

At the penitentiary now 250 mattresses are being turned out each week. Shipments are made to all parts of the State, and aggregated 500 this week.

More Chance for Peace. LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Anglo-Transvaal situation wears today a more peaceful aspect. The Associated Press account of decisions taken at the Cabinet Council yesterday (Friday) are confirmed from the best sources of information.

A semi-official report comes from Pretoria through Cape Town to the effect that the Transvaal government has explained to the British diplomatic agent, Mr. Conyngham Green, that its last dispatch was meant as an acceptance of the proposed joint inquiry.

The Cabinet Council here today attracted greater public interest than any meeting of the ministers for years past. A well dressed crowd of people cordially greeted the most prominent of the Cabinet ministers and impatiently thronged the precincts of the Foreign Office throughout the session, eagerly scrutinizing the faces of those coming and going in the hope of obtaining a glimmering of the outcome of the momentous event. The war spirit was evident on all sides, and the generals were enthusiastically cheered as they appeared, the crowd evidently understanding that they had been summoned to be in readiness in the event of the ministers wishing their advice.
