THE PURSUIT OF GENERAL JOE WHEELER.

The stendfast lovalty of General Joe causes him to be a target for such newspapers as the Baltimore Sun, which is anti-government, and almost everything else, except its own interests.

wide spread remark, especially of an uncomplimentry character on occasions when the General stood by his country

General Wheeler's latest letter from the Philippines to President McKinley, provokes the Sun paper to a long editoin order to make political capital for itself.

The Sun paper's malice against the type that it does not spare men or things in order to make any point, being willing to sacrifice characters in order to beamich national affairs.

The Sun is not a mere political opponent of the McKinley Administration -its against the government, and both sailor and soldier is alike condemned in the attempt to prove the Sun paper's position.

But General Wheeler is not going to suffer at the hands of a grateful and patriotic people, even with ten thousand Sun papers maligning him.
