Special to Journal.

KINSTON, February 5.—Special.—Governor Taylor, said today, "My position is not changed. I will do my duty as I see it. I am backed by the Constitution. I understand a board of arbitration may be formed by both sides to arrange a settlement of the case. While I did not originate the plan of this conference, I sanction anything to look to order out of chaos and effect a just settlement of the affair. Several of the legislators now at Cincinnati want Governor Taylor to go to Pearl Gosbel's funeral for fear officers will be arrested as I understand I was immediately warned that I would lose all my power to prevent arrest on this account. The Legislature now convened is declared to be illegal. They will organize their own affairs and may arrest absent members if a quorum is not present. It is not in my power to order arrests.

I am open to negotiations for a peace settlement. I hear that a movement is on foot in Louisville to call a conference there to take charge of affairs. If this is done we will meet. I will enforce, I understand that I am sworn to do by the Constitution."

John K. Hendrick, attorney for the Democrats, said this morning that the controversy will be settled peacefully in twelve hours. The courts will be open and the militia will be gone.

A formal conference was held at Louisville. Blackburn and Beckwith represent the Democrats. Pinchback and Marshall represent the Republicans. It is understood that the last named represent Taylor but the Democratic papers say Taylor is said to have given up and republicans are going it alone.

Five Democratic Representatives and five Senators held a legislative session at noon today and adjourned subject to the Speaker's call. Representative Charlton was elected speaker pro tem and Senator Fackler acted as President of the Senate.

Chief Justice Hazelrigg issued the Judges of the Court of Appeals to meet here in Louisville. Judge Bertram is now in Louisville and the others leave left for that city.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 5.—A company of militia of ninety men arrived from Bardstown today.

FRANKFORT, Ky., February 5.—William Goebel died from the assassin's bullet at 4:35 o'clock last night and J. C. W. Beckham, who was promptly sworn in to be the Governor of Kentucky, according to the Democratic theory. He was the candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the ticket with Goebel.

The Democrats have a majority of the Legislature on joint ballot, but the Republicans have been counting on the absence of Democrats to break a quorum. The Democrats have been counting on the same thing. Both sides have been trying to get their men here. Democrats have been sent for by telegraph and telephone. Republicans have been sent for by messengers. Democrats have been sent for by messengers. Republicans have been sent for by telegraph and telephone
