THE OUTSIDE CAPITAL DELUSION.

Looking outside for help is the part of the individual or community that is not possessed of energy, enterprise and push. It is the weakness, but unless accompanied with the qualities mentioned above it is the ruin of individuals, communities, states and nations. Communities, states and nations that are prosperous and happy are so because their citizens are energetic and enterprising and have confidence in themselves.

The outside capital may be induced to come to a community, state or section of country that is possessed of the qualities mentioned above, but unless they are possessed by the people of the community, state or section of country, the outside capital will not come.

It has been emphasized so often that in many communities the people have sat down, doing nothing and folding the hands while waiting for outside capital, that it is only necessary to say that the next day would bring it to the front, to give expression that was to be worth much to readers for their benefit.

This waiting for outside capital has developed into such a fad in many communities that it is going to take many years for them to become perfect helpless in the way of instituting themselves to accomplish any kind of work. Take a friend, at every turning to prompt, and initiative.

Periodically there are many papers in North Carolina in existence for a short period that succeed in exploiting the outside capital. Advertisements are published in the papers which tell how the outside capital is to come and help them. Subscriptions are accepted in many cases and stated. Then the paper suspends and the outside capital is never heard from again.

By this time, it is believed, it is understood that the people of these progressive towns offered inducements to outsiders who sought to make investments.

But the most effective method the up building. Home men went into such enterprises and the success of these enterprises came through local money and local endeavors.

If outsiders came they saw the local spirit and confidence exhibited was a guarantee that money invested in such places would be safe and bring good returns.

The town that waits for outside capital to come in and build it up for a long period of time nothing before it, and its best workers, the grown-up generations are going to desert such places just as soon as they can get away.

The "outside capital" does not help itself, without local endeavor, but to attract new men and new money there must be development and it is only when people are in such a condition would be blessed by a conflagration, cyclone or earthquake, in comparison to existing in such a stagnant state.

THE COTTON SITUATION.

According to the New Orleans Picayune, a well posted and reliable authority on cotton, the situation on that staple is as follows:

"Spot cotton yesterday reached 7c in this market, which represents an advance of practically 3 cents per pound over the low figures of last season. An advance of $15 per bale is a very considerable appreciation in the price of cotton, and means that the south will receive actually more money for the present short crop than it did for the enormous crop of last season.

"According to Secretary Hester's figures, the exports for the five months of the season have decreased, compared with last year, 1,909,000 bales, whereas the total available supply has decreased 1,692,000 bales, showing that foreign spinners have not taken their full proportion of the amount of cotton marketed. On the other hand, American spinners have increased their takings 186,000 bales. As trade has been exceptionally good in Europe, foreign spinners must be extremely short of supplies, and the manner in which they have been reaching out for cotton within the past few weeks proves that they have become thoroughly aroused to the necessities of the situation.

"The American cotton producer has

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND UTAH.

The Secretary of the New Bern Chamber of Commerce, pursuant to the President, has just issued a circular letter which is sent to each member of the association.

Each recipient of the letter says the Chamber of Commerce is entirely "above and beyond" local politics, and is devoted to the best interests of the city, its business and residents.

Recalling this, the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce says: "Let us remember at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday night.

That the Chamber will work to perform, if it intends to live up to the purposes of its formation, no member can doubt, and that the present day, month and year is the time to begin and do this work, is quite evident and clear.

If there ever was a time when a Chamber of Commerce could find plenty to do in advancing the commercial interests of New Bern, the present time especially demands it.

With progress, activity and commercial development and growth on every side, New Bern seems at a stand still in comparison, and to set a pace in the direction of real progressive it is demanded of the Chamber of Commerce.

If the Chamber of Commerce is to do any work it was organized for, let its members get together and carry out its purpose.

If it exists in name only, then its members had better quietly let the Chamber of Commerce go out of existence entirely, and not keep up the pretense of something in the future life, for people in the city have no realization tomorrow of a living thing, only a graveyard to the days and its different persons who is ever going to wake up to-day and not to-day.

8100 REWARD 8100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

An Editor's Life Saved By Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

During the early part of October, 1899, I contracted a bad cold which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state. ARMED TRUCE.

No Settlement Yet Made in Kentucky to Secure Peace.

Taylor Refuses to Accept Result of Conference. Holds the Capitol With Troops. Case Has Not Decided Its Future Action.

Special to Journal.

Frankfort, Ky., February 8. The conference between Governor Taylor and Governor Beckham or Taylor leaders and others. Taylor refused to accept the terms of settlement although all kinds of persuasion and argument were brought to bear upon him.

The conference was not harmonious in any means. Dr. Bailey, the post master of Louisville and one of the Democratic Republicans of the State, was one of the leaders who conferred with Taylor. He is plainly disappointed at the outcome.

He said, "We look forward to a peaceful settlement. Governor Taylor did not agree to the terms of the Louisville conference this morning, but we expect that he will do so later. He said that he wanted time to consult his advisers and other officials who were elected with him on the same ticket. It is certain that the militia will not be disbanded today. So long as they remain the danger of trouble will continue.

At noon today Taylor said that he would make no statement regarding his attitude toward the resolutions of the Louisville conference before tomorrow. He said: "The Legislature has been subjected to me. I want time to consider it. It is possible that I may reach a conclusion late this afternoon but it is doubtful. I wish to consult my lawyers at some length before saying anything or taking any action.

Until next Monday Taylor will remain in possession of the state buildings and the Republicans will recognize him. The Democrats will recognize Beckham as governor.

Roberts and Kitchener In the Saddle And No Word is Sent.

Kitchener Expected to Strike A Blow. Buller Fighting On The Tugela. Russia to Take Advantage of the Situation.

Special to Journal.

London, February 9. Field Marshal Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener left the War Office at [illegible] this afternoon. Both were in civilian dress. Lord Roberts was accompanied by Lady Roberts and Miss Roberts. They left by the Victoria station for Southampton, where they will embark on the steamer Dunottar Castle for Cape Town. Lord Kitchener will follow in a few days.

The departure of Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener was not announced in advance, and the presence at the station of a few officials and friends was entirely unexpected by the public. Some cheering took place when the carriages containing the party drove up, but the crowd was not large enough to be called a demonstration.

Military experts here seem convinced that General Kitchener will have some unexpected plan. Some colonial papers go to show that both Generals Roberts and Kitchener are to move towards Kimberly in a flank movement, the French is clearing the way.

But what they intend to do at Modder river or at Ginsberg is a secret. Buller is not known. No word regarding Buller has been received for several days.

Roberts and Kitchener are opening the campaign to suit themselves. The British nation is backing them up.

London, February 9. There has been no official confirmation of the persistent rumor that General Buller again crossed the Tugela river and started toward Ladysmith, and strangely enough there has been an absence of sensational rumors.

London itself is strangely calm considering the tremendous stake for which Buller is playing. A few persons during the day hung around the War Office, but no excitement was shown. Apparently no anxiety is felt. In clubs, hotels and theatres the same conditions hold true.

Almost everyone in London approves Buller's policy of silence. Another repulse by the Boers is already discounted, and would not cause any remarkable effect, now that all eyes are directed toward Roberts and Kitchener. Buller is rather looked upon as having a force to be used to divert the attention of the Boers both from Ladysmith and the Free State.

St. Petersburg, February 9. The campaign in favor of taking advantage of the present complications in South Africa to secure Russian possessions on the Indian ocean and Mediterranean is being pushed with vigor.

The newspapers openly advocate pounding by Great Britain's difficulties to realize the schemes upon which depends the ultimate prosperity of Russia and which Great Britain has always frustrated.

New York, February 9. A Washington dispatch to the Herald says: Instructions were sent by Secretary Hay today to Consul Adelbert S. Hay at Pretoria directing him to make an investigation of the reported murder of an Englishman at Harrismith, Orange Free State.

The instructions were cabled in compliance with the request of Lord Pauncefote, who told the Secretary he had read a notice in an English paper announcing the killing of an Englishman at Harrismith on account of his refusal to join the Boer Army in its operations against the British.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE LINK THAT BINDS.

Jacksboro, Tenn., Nov. 23

I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with pain in my side. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.

Mrs. E. N. JOWERS

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

There is no use talking. A baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The greeting and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those peculiar disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the "travail" labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well suited to every emergency in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with light pain and no fear. Wine of Cardui is a perfect and safe-to-take uterine tonic and invigorator, a perfect female medicine for women.
