THE MATTER OF ENGLISH-BURK PEACE.

The pro-Burk American press, as it is called, has been passing English complete success in Africa only a matter of short time, and a peace measure on the plea of 'peace' which were so greatly outburled in their light.

The American Burk sympathizers are naturally inconsistent in their peace proposition as they have been all along.

In the Burk success at first, these sympathizers urged the utter annihilation of the British colonies, but now they intervene before Burk territory has been invaded, in order that England may be kept from seeing the triumph which is rightfully hers.

It should not be forgotten that in the Maguba Hill fight, when Gladstone opened up negotiations, as if there had been no fight, the Burks claimed that the English were afraid of them, and undoubtedly these very overtures of Gladstone's prompted the idea in Kruger's head, that English timidity was so great that he could establish a Dutch colony in Africa, and drive out the English from the southern portion of the Transvaal.

And the British are not going to forget these things when it comes to treating with President Kruger.

As the London Daily Telegram says: "When Kruger and Steyn made their submission Great Britain will take over the administration of the two colonies for the time being. Perhaps for two or three years there must be military government in the Transvaal and Free State. They will be treated as crown colonies, or what is preferable, as one crown colony. When things have settled down and the burghers have returned to their peaceful, pastoral occupations there will be every disposition to give them exactly the same privileges of self-government as are enjoyed by Cape Colony and Natal, but they will remain parts of the Queen's dominion, exactly on the same footing as other British colonies in South Africa. On this point imperial opinion for it is not only Great Britain which is concerned, is so fixed that it is unnecessary to elaborate the argument."

LET NO QUARREL DEFER AMENDMENT.

It will be well for the white voters of Craven county, not to let any personal grievance, real or imagined, get the better of them, so that they will let the constitutional amendment be defeated in the coming election.

The splendid fight made in 1895 by the white voters of Craven, can and should be renewed this year, even to the extent of carrying this county for White Supremacy.

The contest in this campaign is fully as vital to the interests, material and social, of the white people of New Bern and Craven county, as was the campaign of 1895.

The contest of 1895 was the beginning, the contest of 1900, is the conclusion, by carrying the amendment, of making White Supremacy an actual and established fact.

There can be no question that there are grievances among the Democrats of Craven county, that there is a disposition among some voters who may be able to prove undeserved ill-treatment of themselves, there may be warrant for a quarrel among the Democratic factions of city and county, but however great the personal grievance, however unjust the political ill-treatment, whatever just cause might warrant a war among the Democrats, let there be no division at this time.

Let the amendment issue be finally determined, and the good work of 1895 be completed by the elimination of the negro as a political factor, and if after this there be good and sufficient reasons for quarrels among the Democrats of Craven county, then let there be a good fight, and the right men and right principles win.

But until the Amendment issue is won, let not white voters divide, or be distracted from winning that most vital matter, the permanent establishment of White Supremacy in the State of North Carolina.
