LOVE HER STILL.

We believe that the greater part of the sober minded, intelligent portion of the people of this country, no matter t what political party they belong, view with dislike any attempt to create a feeling of distrust or enmity between this country and England.

The exceeding friendship that Eng land has manifested for the United States is claimed by these disturbers of good will to be only self interest, that Enland feels the need of an ally. With how great contempt such a view would be repudiated by the English people a knowledge of the English character makes plain. There is danger that the people of this country will lose sight of the fact that in all essential things Eng land is a real democracy and that the presence of royalty itself is mainly the result of British conservatism, and respect for the forms of established gov ernment. They have the essentials of good government and if there is any ruling power in England it is most certainly the House of Commons this rule, and the lovalty of the colonies is beyond dispute. As far back as 1871, M. Thiers, the eminent Frenchman have proven the soundness of hir farsering prophecy

"Whenever England is in conflict with Democratic lines a foreign power Europe will see her colonies rally round and cooperate with it is not to be supposed that any deliher. Without the slightest expense to her they will equip their soldlers, their only ambition being to show their close union with her and to demonstrate that contest, in which every cambidate for their strength and energy are at her disposal just as her enormous resources party man, and the fight is within the are at theirs. I predict this in spite of ranks of the Democratic party, there is a y air smile of incredulity, and although perhaps none of us will live to witness

The closest bond of union between the two countries has been and will be, their dates seemingly without press accents I terature. Nearly all writing that has who can keep their constituents or followed h en ennobling, that has come to us from outside, has come to us from Eng isnd. American literature is a thing that has sorung up within the memory of many now living.

visited these shores. He was for peace advised as to the particular doings of and good will. He felt at home here as each the American does who goes to England and coming here he said:

two countries, then please God I will."

If we desire to promote the welfare of the world we cannot but reciprocate this sentiment. Knowing our own faults, we may see that England has faults. But faults we love her still.

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind.
