SWANSBORO NOTES.

January 6.—A Happy New Year to the Editor of New Bern Journal, and all its readers, so may it be. We have had a very pleasant one so far, only very cold, for which we render unto Him, our Divine Creator, our heartfelt thank.

Miss Katie Pittman commenced her school last Thursday again.

Bro. B. B. Paul closed his school before Xmas, will not commence another now.

Mr. G. W. Ward has been under the weather for two weeks past, is getting all right again, and will resume his school at Salter Path, Bogue Banks next Monday, providence permitting.

The New Year was rung in by the several church bells here, at midnight, the last day of the old year 1901. Quite a large gathering attended these services; let us all hope and pray, that 1902 will be a more prosperous year than ever before with our people and our whole country at large, less drunkenness and rowdiness in our village this Xmas holidays, than we have seen in many years, plenty of fess and fun, but no fights nor quarrels.

Some fish are being caught this week, mullets; they sell for 2c. per lb. fresh. Clams all the way from 60 to 80c. per bushel.

The boys right now, are having some fun shooting wild ducks, while they fly over the marshes here, (not the boys, but the ducks do the flying.) Some of the boys are splendid shots too, they don't have to shoot more than a dozen times to get the ducks.

Mr. John Piner, who was bound to court for breaking in Mr. Dunn's house a white back, has since daddled, and some say, Mr. E. F. Littleton, who shot at Lee Smith with a 16 shot Winchester about same time, and gave bond, etc., will soon follow John. Ed says he is not going away, and is not all afraid, he was only funning.

Our visitors have nearly all left us, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Herring are here yet, but will leave for Burly Va., soon.

Guess our county has gone wet again. More whiskey and better whiskey, so they say.

Affair Occurred at Five Points. All Colored.

Arthur Hill, a colored boy, took his bicycle to the shop of William Moore at Five Points for repairs and last night about 7 o'clock he called for his machine. According to the account Hill paid for the repair work but Moore for some reason refused to give up the wheel, and both fell upon Hill and forced him out the door.

At this point William Griffin appeared. He is a brother-in-law of Moore and he commenced firing a revolver at Hill. Three shots were fired and one shot took effect in the arm of the bicycle owner. Warrants were taken out for the arrest of those concerned and the police were in search of them.

Injured by Big Trunk.

In unloading at Goldsboro the big trunk fell on the baggage man's foot and cut the toes very badly. A surgeon's attention was required and a loss of a portion of one toe was the extent of the misfortune.

Railroad to Swansboro.
 There has been talk and talk again, about a railroad coming to Swansboro, but at last we suppose it is a settled fact, the Governor of this State, the President of a railroad near Greensboro, Chatham, by name, and Mr. McIntyre owner of Glencoe Stock Farm, are all coming interested in the industries and resources to be derived by bringing a branch to Swansboro. We hear these men are coming to see for themselves before commencing operation.

Mr. J. F. Prettyman President of the Swansboro Lumber Co., is going to build a tram road 6 or 8 miles anyway, and offered such inducements to parties along this line, that these men have consented so we hear, to build the road from some point to connect with the W. & N. or A. & N. C. R. R. Work will commence this month or next at farthest. Mr. Prettyman wants to begin right away as he has timber on that line he must have before the summer is gone. We will yet live to see our wish, we hope, a railroad to Swansboro.

THE DOG TOOK ONE.

How the Merits of a Hunting Dog Were Discovered.

Mr. Will Marshall, the well known engineer on the Atlantic and North Carolina railroad, was given a hunting dog by a Goldsboro admirer.

For some time Mr. Marshall tried to discover the value of the dog, but was unable to decide upon his merits.

A short time ago, a couple of visiting hunters to this vicinity, borrowed the dog and started on a hunt.

Going along the river shore, a duck was discovered on the river, which one of the hunters fired at and brought down.

The dog, before this acting very indifferently, and following the hunters in a sleepy manner, when the duck fell into the water the dog at once sprang into the river and brought the duck to the hunter.

A second duck was shot, the dog bringing the bird to shore.

Separating in their hunt, the two men found themselves a few hours later on opposite sides of a creek, with no means of getting together. The hunter with the whiskey was on one side, while the hunter with the thirst was on the other.

An inspiration seized the thirsty hunter, who calling across the creek to his friend, said "Send me the flask!" "How can I" returned his friend. "The flask around the dog's neck," was the quick answer.

Acting upon this suggestion, the flask was fastened to the dog's neck, the animal at once swimming across, bringing joyous comfort to the thirsty hunter.

Refastening the flask on the dog's neck, the dog returned to the side he started from.

Looking at the flask, the hunter noted that it seemed to have been "pulled," but happening to glance at the dog, he thought he detected something in the animal, and drawing nearer found a most noticeable odor of "spirits" on the animal's breath.

It is needless to say that the dog was no longer made the flask bearer.

Daring Deeds of Brave Men.

The following extracts from the appendix to vol. III of the North Carolina Regimental Histories, to be published shortly, will be read with interest in Craven county.

The schooner Seabird was captured at the mouth of South River, off the Garbecon Shoals, and far within the Federal lines.

The names of the scouting party, "a detachment of six men," are, or rather were,—for all except the first mentioned are now dead—Robert F. Stille, James M. Carmady, Ben. F. Edwards, Frank Howard, Cyrus J. Mayo and Wiley Howe. Stille was in command of the party. All were of Craven county.

On July 7, 1863, the General Assembly passed a resolution of thanks to a "detachment of six men," of Captain S. C. Barrington's company, of Major Jao. N. Whitford's Battalion, "for their gallant and daring conduct in boarding and capturing the crew of one of the enemy's boats (the Seabird) on the waters of Neuse river, and in burning and destroying said boat and cargo," and requested that Major Whitford should "forward a list of the names of the brave men who have thus distinguished themselves" that they might be placed on the roll of honor.

Captain Barrington's Company was from Craven and when Whitford's Battalion was increased and became the Sixty-seventh Regiment, it was Company B. of that command. Captain John T. Elliott became later Company A, of the Sixty-eighth Regiment, and was from Pasquotank county.

The capture in Neuse river of the steamer Myrtle 5 April, 1865, and of the side-wheel steamer Mingoas and two barges on 7 April, 1865, by small detachments of the Sixty-seventh, then operating in Sherman's rear, is told in Vol. 3 of this work on p. 710. * and the capture of a steamer in New River 28 November 1863, by Company A, of the Forty-first Regiment (Third Cavalry), and a section of Adams' battery is narrated in Vol. 2, p. 774. * Doubtless there were other incidents of a similar kind creditable alike to the courage and enterprise of our troops whose memory should be preserved by surviving comrades before it is too late,

New Monument Erected.
 Mr. Frank Meier, representing H. A. Tucker & Bro., of Wilmington, has just completed the erection of the monument in memory of Capt. Styron, at Cedar Grove Cemetery.

Reduction in Fare.

Children Especially Liable.
 Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mook, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." F. S. Duffy.

Striking New Year's Card.
 Some of the New Bern friends of Mr. Charles Reizenstein, have received from him a very striking and handsome New Year's card.

Those who have not received this kindly remembrance, can no doubt get Mr. Reizenstein's card by sending him a postal card to New York City.

A Story of Wendell Phillips.
 At the close of the civil war and before he was well known Wendell Phillips, the distinguished abolitionist, went to Charleston and put up at a hotel. He had breakfast served in his room and was waited upon by a slave. Mr. Phillips seized the opportunity to represent to the negro in a pathetic way that he regarded him as a man and a brother, and more than that, that he himself was an abolitionist. The negro, however, seemed more anxious about his breakfast than he was about his position in the social scale or the condition of his soul, and finally Mr. Phillips became discouraged and told him to go away, saying that he could not bear to be waited on by a slave.

"You must excuse me, massa," said the negro. "I is 'bliged to stay here 'cause I'm 'sponsible for de silver-ware."

Bradham-Credie.

Mr. B. G. Credie of this city has received a letter from his daughter, Charlotte, announcing her marriage to Mr. C. D. Bradham. The wedding occurred last Wednesday night, January 1st at Rochester, N. Y.

An Atlantic City paper, in mentioning the resignation of Miss Credie from the Atlantic City Hospital in which institution she was chief nurse, says:
 "Once more has Cupid perched upon the copola of the Atlantic City Hospital and sent his arrow to the heart of one of the nurses of that institution. This time the victim of the little fellow's bow is Miss Credie, the chief night nurse of the hospital staff, and one of the loveliest young women in the hospital.

"Miss Credie is a recent graduate of the Philadelphia Hospital, and is considered by her superiors as one of the most capable young women on the nursing staff, and it was with feelings of mingled joy and regret that they received the intelligence of her engagement, which was announced last evening.

"While her associates in the work in the hospital will be delighted to see her happily married and mistress over her household, they will be very sorry to lose her in the hospital, where her bright and cheerful smile and pleasant manner to those about her have endeared her to the hearts of all."

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bradham, arrived here last night.
