this subject: "Major Gorgas tells us in his report on the vital statistics of the cities of Ha-vans and Guanabacoa that during the month of January in these cities the na-tive whites showed an excess of 188 births over deaths, that is, the figures were 458 and 200, whereas the native negroes showed an excess of 58 deaths over births, that is to say, the figures were 128 and 70. The figures for the year 1901 are even more significant. Dur-ing the 12 months the native whites gained 1740, and the native negroes lost 613 making a total gain for the natives of 1997 inhabitants. The deaths of for-eigners brought the difference down to exactly one, although it must be remem-bered that the number of foreigners dy-ing indicates that the city is gaining rapidly in population by Jimmigration. If this keeps up for a reasonable length of time there will soon be no negroes let in Oubs, and this, notwithstanding the fact that the difficulty of obtaining marriage licenses does not appear to here does not appear to the fact that the difficulty of obtaining marriage licenses does not appear to have any deterrent effect upon the in-crease of the negro oppulation, because of all births among negroes 37 were ille-gitimate and only 13 were legitimate. The most fatal disease from which the negroes suffer is apparently pulmonary tuberculosis. The ordinary infections seem to attack them neither more or less virulently than they attack the whites, and the difference in nonulation is one and the difference in population is con-siderable. The baneful effects of civili-zation in decreasing the birth rate have not appeared very notably in the negro race elsewhere. Negroes are apparently more adaptable to civilization than other savage races, and, although they have not yet entirely lost some of their abor-iginal characteristics, even after a residence of several generations in this country, they manage to hold their own very well with the whites. When they are brought in contact whites. When they are brought in contact with a white pop ulation adapted to tropical life, and par-ticularly to tropical city life, they rapid-ly deteriorate. It cannot be said that the improved hygienic condition of Ha-vans has benefited them notably."
