NORTH CAROLINA TARIFF DISCUSSION.

Under what may be termed the "new political condition of affairs" in North Carolina, the reader of North Carolina newspapers cannot fail to detect a more sprightly tone in their editorial columns, and the desire to discuss public issues without any fear of being declared "irregular," in their political affiliations.

A notable example of this "cutting away" is the Winston Journal, whose columns display newspaper thrift and prosperity, and whose editorials have taken on an alertness which makes them most readable.

The Winston Journal has especially devoted itself to some discussions upon the tariff question, and its position may be said to be on the side of protective tariff.

The assertion from this esteemed contemporary that the trust evil is not to be remedied through the tariff, has provoked a reply from the Charlotte News, and this has caused quite a discussion between these two papers.

Here is an interesting discussion among political friends, and one which should prove instructive and entertaining to the readers of these newspapers. Without wishing or attempting to enter into this friendly discussion, it can be said there is a newness about this kind of Democratic newspaper discussion in North Carolina, which presents a most interesting phase.

Here is a question, both local and National, and one upon which sides can be taken by those of the same political faith, thus doing away with those personal accusations of broken political fealty, which are too often employed in political discussions.

Let this tariff discussion proceed, with best wishes to each esteemed contemporary.

LIVE BY WORK, NOT BY WITS.

"We need to get our people back to the idea that they must earn a living, not secured by doubtful methods and modern tricks of trade," says C. E. Vawter, of the Miller Manual School.

Happy will be our beloved South when such schools of industry shall be built up for all; when our young men learn that the highest type of manhood is shown in him who by honest industry supplies the wants of himself and those dependent on him.

It is a most lamentable fact that many, very many, of our young men after leaving school, have no way of making a living unless they go to teaching. The result is that we have a very large class of young men waiting for something to turn up, who think they are educated, who are too proud to work and who are too poor to live without work.

The few who succeed in getting an office or winning a place that pays make the exception. The many who must earn a livelihood by the sweat of the brow make the rule. Let us, then, educate the masses so that they can the better gain their living. Let this be the rule; the exception will take care of itself.

With trained, educated, thinking, reading workmen, we will have a rich, prosperous country, dotted all over with lovely, happy homes, with no place for the bar-room and the gambling hell. Such a movement would indeed be the greatest temperance work this country has ever known.—Southern Education Notes.

CONSTANT PUBLICITY NEEDED.

Publicity in the fullest sense of the word, is recognized as the most important factor in securing commercial success.

Articles of not extraordinary individual merit, though constant publicity by advertising, have won wide demand and gained reputations which have brought fortunes to their owners.

This lack of publicity has caused many articles which possessed real intrinsic merit, to never become well enough known to come into the market, and become of benefit to people.

As with articles of trade and commerce, so it is with persons, unless they shall attract attention by some public conduct, and thus secure a publicity sufficient to demand recognition at the hands of the people.

It matters not that an individual may have genius of any special kind or degree, if it is not known and developed, it is the same as if not possessed.

The honest merchant in trade with a large first class stock of goods, unless he makes known that he has these goods, through advertising, will not succeed as well as the merchant who has the poorer and smaller stock, but who advertises.

But even a reputation once established in the commercial world, must be kept before the world by constant publicity.

This publicity in trade, is gained through advertising, and success has only been found in the persistent and unremitting employment of printers ink.

It is not enough to simply attract public attention. This must be gained, first, and then held through keeping the public familiar with the name of the article offered for its use or consumption by every kind of device which can be presented to make constantly known the merits of the article.

An article of trade may have gained a public reputation, it may have seemed well established, and its owner have felt that it was well enough known, so that further expense of advertising could be saved.

But this apparent saving has proved costly in every instance, as the reputation gained was made of service by some follower, who noting that the first was out of the market, as an advertiser, quickly presented a substitute which through ingenious advertising took the place in the public favor of the first article, and finally drove it out of public mind and public use.

The success of today is only to be gained and held through constant and honest publicity.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assailing nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

WHY THESE SMELLS?

Some of The Odors Around Town Are Not Born of Heaven.

If there is such a thing of a superintending Providence—an influence or protection from injury and disease, it is certainly exercised over the citizens of New Bern. For in the natural order of things anyone breathing the atmosphere that is reeking with impurities as it in some parts of the city is sure to inhale the germs of typhoid fever.

Yesterday the Journal man was on his beat and while in the vicinity of the Middle street docks could but notice the unhealthy odor that arose from that place. It fairly smelled to heaven and back again.

There are other places where there are nauseating odors threatening the public health and making a charnel house of the street.

With the practice of a little vigilance these things can be prevented and if care is not taken by the citizens and more cleanliness insisted on by the city authorities there will be an epidemic of sickness here that will distance small pox in a walk.

The odor referred to emanates from decaying vegetation, fish offal, spoiled meat and perishable things improperly cared for. The city and health authorities should demand that more care be taken in regard to this matter.

BALTIMORE

Amount of Taxable Incomes to be Lowered.

Corporation Commission Finished Investigation of Accident on S. A. L. Delegates Appointed to National Farmers Congress. Report of Supt. Public Instruction. Pension Application.

BALTIMORE, September 23.—The corporation commission has completed its investigation into the wreck on the Seaboard Air-Line here in which an engineer was killed. The law requires the commission to investigate such matters, but there, strange to say, the law appears to stop and the commission has no power to act. It does not appear that any report can be made.

The city authorities here are making no effort to enforce the ordinance against spitting on sidewalks and it is a farce. It does not appear that any attempt has ever been made to enforce it and it is contemptuously violated.

Governor Aycock today appointed the following delegates to the National Farmers' Congress at Macon, Ga., next month, these being members of the State Farmers' Association named by T. B. Parker, secretary of the latter, J. W. B. Battle, J. W. Alwater, Ransom Hinton, A. T. Uzell, W. R. Cheason and E. F. Lamb.

The State auditor has nearly finished the work of passing upon the pension applications. Some counties sent up very few new applications. New Hanover, for example sent up 14 for soldiers and 8 for widows. All these passed.

The report of the State Superintendent of public instruction shows that there were built in the State during 1902 only 68 new school houses for whites and 45 for negroes, while this year there have been built 239 for whites and 56 for negroes, and 3 for Colored Indians—a total of 298. It is found that the school houses built this year are better than those heretofore erected.

A new lodge of Masons is authorized at Fairfield, Hyde county. The number of rural free school libraries which have been added by the State is now 362.

The State tax commission will very probably recommend a lowering of the amount of income exempted for taxation to $600 and recommend something like a tax of 5 per cent on all excess over $600.
