RALEIGH.

Trial of Parties Implicated in Henderson Murder.

Wilson Military Company Accepted. Marriage Necessarily Postponed. Primitive Baptists Meeting. Program North Carolina Day in Public Schools.

RALEIGH, Sept. 27.—Orders are issued from State Guard headquarters accepting a company of infantry at Wilson, to be known as Company K, 2nd Regiment. It takes the place of the company lately disbanded.

The engagement is announced of Miss Charlotte Young, daughter of insurance commissioner James Richard Young, to Mr. Henry R. Thorpe of Rocky Mount. The wedding will be in December.

Congressman Fou of this district will open his regular campaign at Rocky Mount, Oct. 8.

A convict who was sent to the penitentiary from here, to serve 5 years, wept and told the officers that what grieved him was that today was to have been his wedding day and that the marriage would have to be postponed for five years.

The attendance at the meeting of the Little River Primitive Baptist Association here became very large today. Seven counties are represented. There are elders present from three other States, Maryland, Virginia and South Carolina, these visitors being the guests of Gov. and Mrs. Aycock.

Ex-Senator and Mrs. Marion Butler arrived here yesterday evening and will remain until December. They will spend the winter in New York and Washington.

The demand for cotton seed here by the oil mills was never so great. The price paid is 25½ cents a bushel. The mills have "runners" on the streets and these fairly beset the farmers who bring in the seed.

The programme for "North Carolina Day"—November 26—in the public schools is completed and is as follows: Subject "The Albemarle Section," Song "The Old State," Reading "The First Governor, William Drummond," Reading "The Roanoke Island of Today," by Charles R. Taylor, Reading "Albemarle Memorials" by R. B. Crey, Reading "Education," by W. E. Stone, Song "America," Reading "Hertford," by W. F. McMillen, Reading "A Distinguished Citizen of the Albemarle Section," by Juntas Darrs, Reading "Hatters and the Banks," Declaration "Hatters," poem by Joseph W. Holden. Selected Hymn.

Today the three negro prisoners, Joe Cole, Sr., Joe Cole, Jr. and Charles Ferguson, who killed Mr. Stevens and wounded train porter Mitchell on a train near Henderson were taken from the penitentiary to Henderson for trial, by sheriff Powell. The case will be trial for murder. All these prisoners are from Lynchburg, Va. They were on their way to Lenoir for work in tobacco. There were five of the negroes and all five would have been lynched for the guarding of the Henderson jail by troops. The men who wanted to lynch them were railway employes it is said, and it is believed a few at least of the Henderson people would have aided the lynchers. The negroes were brought here and placed in the penitentiary for safe keeping. The negroes hate the older Cole, who worked there last year, it is said, won their money at "craps" and then reported 15 or 20 of them for gambling.

The trial of the Coles for murder and of Ferguson as an accessory will hardly take place before Wednesday. The other 2 negroes were discharged upon the statement by Conductor Clements that they had nothing to do with the affair. Mitchell, the faithful negro porter was shot while saving the life of Conductor Clements.

A Good One.

"A Wise Woman," which has been secured for one night some time in the near future at the Masonic Theatre is headed by a young woman who for the past three years has been a member of Augustin Daly's company and has attracted an amount of attention from the critics that rarely falls to so young an artist. The young lady referred to is Marie Lamour.

A Runaway Match.

News-Observer 29th. A Runaway Match at the Academy of Music last night was a side-splitter, and a clean one at that. The mix-ups are ludicrous, and will make you laugh, whether you will or no. The wonder was how they ever got straight. They made you forget all your troubles for awhile and that is goodly praise. The parts were well taken and everything was cleverly done.

The vaudeville acts by members of the company were exceedingly clever and served to relieve the continual merriment.

TOBACCO MEN

And Growers Deeply Concerned Over Consolidation American

And English Tobacco Companies. Resumes His Old Position. Cotton Farmers Busy. Crop Largely Marketed. Demand for Cotton Seed.

RALEIGH, Sept. 29.—The news your correspondent first gave yesterday that Maj. F. K. Huger will resume his old position as Superintendent of the Seaboard Air Line for this division, succeeding D. H. Barger, is fully confirmed. He arrived here today and it is understood will take charge Wednesday.

Farmers are exceedingly busy gathering cotton and plowing. The tobacco is gathered and it is asserted that east of here 75 to 80 per cent of the crop is already marketed. A large crop of small grain than usual will be sown. Turnips look very well. The report to be issued tomorrow will no doubt be a favorable one.

The Supreme Court will devote this week to the hearing of appeals from the 6th district.

The Primitive Baptist Association ended its session here yesterday. Several hundred persons were in attendance, mainly from Wilson, Wayne, Johnston, Wake and Harnett counties.

The leaf tobacco buyers, the war-men and the growers are alike deeply concerned at the news of the consolidation of the American and Imperial Tobacco companies. Prices are now high, but a sharp fall is expected, though this may not, for reasons of policy occur at once. The only hope is that the shortage of tobacco of the old crop may result in sustaining the demand, and then too the trust will have to pay a sufficient price to induce farmers to plant. Otherwise farmers will go into cotton and other things as they did a few years ago when prices paid for tobacco were so low. But nevertheless the great consolidation is regarded as a severe blow to the leaf tobacco interests.

The jump in the price of cotton seed to 27 cents a bushel is causing a stir. There is a great deal of profit in this seed. To an oil mill the seed are really worth 47 cents a bushel, this being what the oil, meal, hulls and lint will bring.

Prof. W. F. Massey, of the State Agricultural and Mechanical college here left today for Athens, Ga., to make an address to the wheat, oats and corn fair.

IN MEMORIAM.

Born on the 26th day August, 1825, Aunt Francis lived 77 years of usefulness and on the morn of September 25th as the Autumn sun rose in its unclouded brightness, she took her departure to that realm where, "There'll be no night there."

With heart and hands ever ready to do deeds of kindness, and to smooth the rugged pathway of the distressed and the sorrowing, she lived a life full of works. She was to this writer a mother, and though she has been seriously afflicted for several years, it was always good to seek her counsel.

By her strong constitution and will power, she had in recent years, successfully combatted against severe cases of sickness and we did hope that she would yet a little longer be spared to us, but God in His goodness had finished her eternal resting place and bid her come and dwell therein.

She leaves an aged husband, Capt. C. D. Foy, four sons, Messrs. F. R. Foy, of Kingston, C. D. Foy, Jr., and P. C. Foy and E. H. Foy of Florida. Two daughters, Mrs. Sallie Garden of Durham, and Mrs. J. E. McCutchen of Mayaville. One brother, Mr. Franklin Foy, of Pollockville, and numbers of relatives and friends to mourn the loss. Yet we know that our loss is her eternal gain.

"Gone to the grave is our loved one
Gone with a Christian bloom,
Lowly we bend relative and friend
Marching away to the tomb.

She has gone through the valley,
The deep, death valley,
Her face we shall see nevermore
Until we cross the valley,
The deep, death valley,
And meet her on the other shore."

A LUCKLESS SEARCH.

Lovers Escape The Vigilance of a Father.

"A Runaway Match" was enacted in real life at Clumpforts Creek, a small place in Pamlico county, and the searcher for the father of the young lady in the case is said to have granted his forgiveness as is usual in such cases.

Mr. J. B. Freeman and Miss Clara Tingie were married by magistrate Claude Taylor of Beahol.

The marriage of course created a great sensation in the community where the young people live. The license was procured in this city Saturday.

Another wedding occurred at the same time and place and by the same magistrate. The contracting parties were Mr. N. B. Lee and Miss Myrtle Holton. The latter wedding took place by and with the consent of the parents of both parties.
