PERFUNCTORY CIVIC DUTIES.

Certain prescribed duties are assigned to every civic position, which of course must be sworn to be observed and carried out by the person elected or appointed to office.

But there is more than the perfunctory performance of these prescribed duties demanded of men elected or appointed to offices of civic trust.

Swearing to perform certain civic duties is a form, which is made convenient for a strict observance, or to be slighted, as may best serve the office holder's purposes.

There may be a call for performance, but how does it affect the office holder, is too often more paramount than the strict compliance with the law of duty.

It is the perfunctory performance of civic duties today, which makes an actual farce of most of our municipal governments.

More automatic performance of the routine office rules is not all there is to civic office holding, for the duties may be carried out, yet leave many discrepancies in the office needs not fulfilled, for no set list of rules can cover any civic office.

The civic government which simply abides by the strict duties, is going to show no advancement of local affairs under its administration.

It is going to halt when there is good reason to advance, because such an advance would result in benefits to the people's interests and it is going to perform the strict letter of the law at times when the avoidance of the same would result in good to the municipality.

No people wants its civic government of the perfunctory order, yet because of indifference, when the time to vote comes, they will have such a government placed over them.

THE "READING OUT" BUSINESS.

An esteemed contemporary a few days ago, threw out the hint to the Winston Journal to "beware" lest it "be read out of the party" because of its outspokenness.

This "reading out of the party" is something of a bygone time. It is a co temporary of the "party whip," and belongs to the time of "political forcing," when political bogies gave the principal strength to political parties.

Happily these are past, and the Winston Journal knows it and expresses its knowledge in the laugh which the "reading out" suggestion brings forth.

The Winston Journal recognizes certain features in a Protective tariff which work for the good and prosperity of the people of its section, and their interests.

It points these features out, endorses them and like any and every North Carolina newspaper in the same position, defies outside criticism, since it believes in its local affairs being maintained.

The presidential candidate who made the fatal admission of "the tariff being a local issue," ruined his own political fortune, but he had the entire country to account for his speech.

Not so the Winston Journal. It sees certain of its home affairs which need a tariff for their benefit, and it openly declares so.

This declaration might in another community, in another paper, be unnecessary, therefore not be made.

If the "reading out" process was not already a thing of the past, the newspaper which advocates its home protection first and all the time, would be wholly indifferent to such an attempt to make a hole in its voice for its own community's best interests and their advancement.

The Winston Journal can laugh and say, "if this be political heresy, then read away."

ANOTHER DEMOCRATIC DEPARTURE.

It would seem as if the Democratic party in several States, had already gone beyond party fundamentals in making platform declarations, but it remained for the New York Democracy in its recent State Convention, to go still farther by demanding the government ownership and control of the anthracite coal mines.

To particularize exactly, the following is a portion regarding this government ownership.

"We advocate the national ownership and operation of the anthracite coal mines by the exercise of the right of eminent domain with just compensation to owners. Ninety per cent of the anthracite coal deposits of the world being in the State of Pennsylvania, national ownership can be but in the interest of the whole people.

"Fuel like water, being a public necessity, we advocate national ownership and operation of the mines as a solution of the problem which will relieve the country from the sufferings which follow the differences between labor and capital in the anthracite coal mines. This course will insure peace in the mining regions and remove the cause for differences, leading not only to suffering, but oftentimes to bloodshed and insurrection."

This may be "politics," but it is not Democracy in any degree, and coming from such a State as New York, it is not hard to realize that the party in the Empire State has suddenly lost its conservatism and good sense by adopting such a declaration.

This declaration is not only not Democratic, but from the opinions of the highest authorities the scheme is impossible.

However great an evil this anthracite strike may be, there is nothing to cause the Democratic party to throw overboard its time honored principles, and for the triumph of an hour to lay aside these principles.

To endorse this government ownership of the anthracite coal fields would be but the step to demand further ownership, which would mean, in their establishments, socialism, paternalism, and the creation of a vast centralized government.

If this declaration came from the "Wild West" of politics it might be tolerated, but coming from New York it is a severe blow to Democracy's best interests, and those party principles which are held most sacred.

His Life In Peril.

PRESIDENT'S VAIN APPEAL.

Mine Operators and Miners Union Resist Mutual Terms of Agreement.

Special to Journal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The meeting of the coal mine owners and Mr. Mitchell at the White House today, resulted in what appears to be a complete failure.

The President appealed to the patriotism of both sides. A recess was taken and then Mr. Mitchell said he was willing to leave the matter to a commission of arbitrators to be appointed by the President.

The mine owners declared they would not in any way recognize Mr. Mitchell or the Miners Union, and the only proposition they submitted, was that any miner who had a grievance against the mine owners, could submit it to a district judge for settlement.

The President told both sides he had no power to take other action than to appeal to them as he had done.

New York, Oct. 3.—The Government at last issued its final cotton statement, and it is one of the worse in the annals. Condition of 58.3-10, or 10 points below the ten year average, and lower than last year or 1899 or even 1896. It is something to cause comment. This showing is important enough to bring about serious thought on the question of supply and demand. It's really of little importance whether the condition is 58.90 or 62. There is no hope of much more cotton than last year. This is the important item. Last year there was brought into sight 520,000 bales from the previous crop. Consumption is not likely to be less this season than last. Selling on this report may reach a large total. It will be largest in January, but this liquidation is not likely to have but a temporary effect. There may be a set back in prices but on the whole we are bullish on cotton.

It was stated last week that Democratic State Chairman would register under the "grand father clause" of the franchise amendment, and yesterday he did so.

The law does not require payment of poll tax as a prerequisite to registration but as to voting. This is done so as to give all white men an opportunity to get on the "permanent roll" of persons eligible to vote, and then whenever they wish to vote hereafter they have only to pay the poll tax. By this means no white man in the State can fail to be registered and to be on the eligible list.

Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals.
