value of Peruna. I have used it for years and have found it to be a most excellent family remedy. For colds, catarrh and similar ills, it is unsurpassed."

HARRY M. STEVENS.

John L. Burnett, Member of Congress, Seventh Alabama District, writes:

"I take pleasure in testifying to the merits of your Peruna. At the solicitation of a friend my wife used it, and it improved her condition generally. It is a remarkable remedy. I can cheerfully recommend Peruna as a good, substantial tonic, and a very good catarrh remedy."

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. Peruna is not a guess nor an experiment—it is an absolute scientific certainty. Peruna has no substitutes—no rivals. Insist upon having Peruna.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.

Registration Returns For State Not All In.

Farmer Cuts Man Dangerously. Portrait Presentation to the State Library. Increase in Sale of Fertilizer Tax Tags.

RALEIGH, Oct. 30.—The State today granted a charter to the Lucas Lumber Company of Wilson, capital $125,000, Silas Lucas and others stockholders.

There was but little going on at the State departments today, as the rush of visitors was so great. Tomorrow will be a holiday and all the departments will be closed.

Five thousand persons visited the State museum today. It is one of the city's greatest attractions.

Commissioner of Agricultural Patterson says there was an increase in the amount of the sales of fertilizer tax tags up to October 1. He has been away all the month and does not yet know what the sales have been since that date. He had expected a large increase in the acreage of small grain.

Inquiry was made today at Democratic State Headquarters as to the registration. Secretary Field said: "All our returns are not yet in, but we now know that the white registration is very full; much more so than was generally expected. I can not say as to the negro registration total, but it is small. We ought to win by at least 60,000 majority."

A printer, George Holder, living here, was intoxicated and was being taken home. He staggered against a white farmer, John Hubbard, who returned and cut him dangerously and then fled. Pursuit was hot and after a long chase he was captured.

At noon today the portrait of the late Dr. Charles J. O'Hagan of Greenville was presented to the State Library, ex-Governor Matt W. Ransom making the address of presentation in behalf of the State Medical Society, many of the members of which were present.

GREAT THROG

At State Fair. Attendance Breaks Record.

Every Exhibit of Interest to Visitors. Amusements in Plenty. A Clean Midway. Floral, Industrial and Military Parades.

Special to Journal.

RALEIGH, Oct. 30.—The prediction that this State Fair would be a record-breaker proved more than accurate. Last night President J. A. Long of the State Agricultural Society said he was sure this would result. There was never before so great a throng of people here on Wednesday of Fair week.

As early as 8 o'clock people began to go to the Fair grounds, by railway and electric cars and in all sorts of vehicles. People from the country in great numbers drove in. The crowd tomorrow, which is always the great day of the Fair, will no doubt literally over-run everything.

Not an exhibit was missed today by the sight-seers. Farmers inspected the long lines of agricultural products, the quality of which has never been equaled; poultry fanciers saw with delight the 600 specimens of poultry; cattle-lovers looked at some of the finest cattle ever shown here. The horses and the ponies, on view in large numbers, were surrounded by many interested people. L. Banks Holt of Alamance county has a remarkable exhibit of ponies, mainly Shetlands, are the smallest ever seen here.

There are plenty of amusements and good ones. The Midway has clean shows this time, and better attractions than heretofore, the Layton shows being a feature. The city band began today and continues tomorrow and Friday. The last day it will be for the championship of the State. There are various free amusements in the great oval of the race course.

The day was superb. It was a joy to be alive and in such a happy, well dressed and well behaved throng of people as that at the Fair and on the streets. It well represented the best of North Carolina.

Commissioner of Agricultural Patterson said "You can say from me that it is a splendid fair; the best I have ever seen."

The floral parade, the industrial parade and the military parade was one of the great features of the day. It made the tour of the city, watched by thousands. The military of the State Guard, 9 companies, were under command of Col. J. F. Armfield of the 1st Regiment, the cadets of the Agricultural and Mechanical College being also in line.

Miss Julia Howell was in charge of the floral parade, which was by far the finest ever seen here. Henry W. Miller and Sherwood Higge were in charge of the industrial parade, which was easily the finest since 1899, when Raleigh celebrated its centennial. There was also a handsome parade of decorated bicycles. All these features made an imposing picture when they reached the fair grounds, made the circuit of the track and then grouped in the oval. There was music by four bands, a bugle corps and a drum corps. The fire department and a number of wild animals were in the big parade, which was so handsome that it will long be remembered.

The orchestra and band of blind at the fair proved to be a decided attraction. The school for the blind has a fine exhibit of manual work. So have the school for deaf mutes and Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Instructed to Acquit.

Special to Journal. New York, Oct. 30.—On motion made by Gov. Black counsel for Roland Molineux, to dismiss the indictment for murder Justice Lambert directed a verdict for acquittal. The prosecution, it is argued, has not made out a legal case.

Big Crowds at Fair.

Market Letter on Cotton.

By private wire, J. E. Latham & Co.

New York, Oct. 30.—March sold at 8.77 this a. m. against 8.38 the low point some time ago. This is not a good sign for a bull market. Prices are now lower than before on light receipts and falling frosts. We would say the position must have in it elements of weakness to prevent an advance on such bull factors. This is the week to get the market up, for during the next four weeks we believe comparisons will operate to advancing prices. Last year receipts fell off sharply after this week. Everything points to a better movement this year, and in view of the 300,000 bales excess over last year, this will certainly operate against the market. Buyers will not rush to buy on such a showing and many will doubtless sell on fall of market to go up. For this reason we are not inclined to buy at the moment. We don't like the way the market acts; we don't like the way Southern markets keep down and send cotton here to be sold. We don't like the business here in New York and there are many other facts distinctly unpromising. The January long interest is so big that it will take a huge speculative market to enable these people to sell out. There is no such speculation in sight and in fact the January people have killed the market by their operations. One can hardly wait now for their operations. Top crop is maturing and as the promise is for 10,750,000 bales this year the market at the moment could decline easily. It is not that we are bears on cotton at 9c. This will all depend on crop but we see nothing at present to bull cotton on.

New York, Oct. 30.—Killing frosts in some sections of the cotton belt today. This should have advanced the market but after selling at 8-88 for May and March it went back to the opening 8.24 and 8.85. The market is very disappointing. Talk was if cotton would not advance on light receipts and now it would not advance on frosts there must be something very wrong about the position. There is something to be said in favor of this view. With an increase in receipts since the market falls to advance on light receipts, the tendency would be towards a lower price level. This reasoning may of course be very short sighted but for the moment it dominates the speculation situation. Fine weather has added to the situation and at the same time speculation is practically withdrawn from the market. If such a comparison as the movement presents with last year and killing frosts cannot do more than advance prices 10 or 15 points and then lose most of that we are not disposed to advise buying at the moment. Liverpool as well as the South sold and about the only buying came from the bull pool. There is a general feeling that the crop as a whole is better than last year and for the present this may bring an increasing movement and carry prices somewhat lower. For this reason the situation falls to attract enough speculation to carry prices up. We are part of the speculative public and there is little in buying when the rest do not.

SPECULATIVE MARKETS DULL.

London and New York Situations. Political Outlook Affects Speculation.

Special to J. E. Latham & Co.

New York, Oct. 30.—Advices say, London market dull. News uninteresting. Our market dull and professional shorts are principal buyers. Almost no Commission house business. The public are out of the market.

Foreign Exchange market steady and money easy here at 4 to 4 1/2 per cent. Look for gold exports next week. The market may rally a trifle on shorts covering, but see nothing to buy.

Political outlook is poor for the Republicans. I look for large Democratic gains in house and Democratic State candidates in Pennsylvania and New York have good chances. The people are becoming restless and tired of Republican dictation, High Tariffs and Trusts. Believe the market a sale on all hard spots. If Street does not issue something new, stocks may sell off some. The Bank's statement may not show over a million in reserves.

Good Conduct on Part of Visitors. Suicide on Account of Despondency at Rocky Mount Casino to be Built at Pinehurst.

RALEIGH, Oct. 30.—Yesterday broke the record for any Wednesday during all the long series of State Fairs, and today, the great day, was likewise a record breaker. The city was packed to the limit with visitors, the trains brought in fresh thousands during the day and by noon the grounds at the Fair, spacious as they are, were so full that walking was by no means easy.

The farmers and their families came in today from all parts of this county, in their vehicles, happy and with money in their pockets.

The weather was superb, even finer than yesterday. There was a white frost, but a little later the air became warm.

It was re-union day. It was the day for meeting and shaking hands. There was a half holiday in the city. The departments in the capital were closed. The Supreme Court met at 9 and was in session only an hour.

Everybody talked about the Fair and about yesterday's splendid pageant. All the visitors say it is the top-notch Fair.

The industrial plants shut down and all hands went to the Fair. Schools from various parts of the State were represented. The inmates of various State institutions were present in large numbers.

At noon today chief of police Mullen said no accidents had occurred and that no robberies were reported. The good behavior of the people and the almost total absence of drunkenness were much remarked.

Virginians were here in large numbers and some South Carolinians. There were solid trains from the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western railways, it being the first time these have ever run here.

The Republican executive committee of this Congressional district was in session here last night, but made no nomination.

News reached here today of the suicide at Rocky Mount this morning of John W. Phillips, a brother of ex-Judge Fred Phillips and a brother-in-law of John P. Arrington. He blew out his brains with a revolver. For about year he was chief of police at Rocky Mount. His age was 53. Despondency, due to reverses, is said to have caused the suicide.

It is learned today that work is to begin at once on a casino at Pinehurst, the winter resort and model town in Moore county, owned entirely by Leonard Taft of Boston. The building will be 300x900 feet and of beautiful design. It will be one of the largest structures in the State.

The North Carolina Horticultural Society has re-elected J. Van Lindley of Guilford county president and has elected T. K. Brewer secretary.

The State Farmers' Association's offices are all continued for another year. At its meeting here addresses were delivered by S. B. Alexander, J. Bryan Grimes and W. A. Darden.
