The "Lily White" fight in North Caro lina has broken out in a new place, and Surveyor James S. Clarkson, of New York, is to be brought into it in a new way. A Lily White politician was yester day sent to New York to enlist Mr Clark adidate for the place.

Mayer Hahn, the present collector at New Bern, is, however, one of the white politicians who are allied with the tary. negro voters, and opposed to the attempt to reorganize the party. Senator Pritchard is determined to get rid of that entire element, and in addition to his fight on the colored postmaster at Wilson, he has begun one on Mr. Hahn.

Monday Mr. Pritchard went to the White House and submitted the name of D W Patrick for the collectorship. Mr. Patrick is said to be an unexceptionable candidate, a man of high repute and ability. The President seemed to receive the name favorably, and the impression yeste day was that Mr. Patrick would be ap-

LACEMAKING.

Legend That Tells of the Origin of the Art.

Lacemaking is by no means so old an industry a most persons suppose. There is no proof that it existed previous to the fifteenth century, and the oldest known painting in which it appears is a portrait of a lady in the academy at Venice painted by Caspacclo, who died about 1523. The legend concerning the origin of the art is as follows:

A young fisherman of the Adriatic was betrothed to a young and beautiful girl of one of the isles of the lagoon. Industrious as she was beautiful, the girl made a new net for her lover, who took it with him on board his boat. The first time he cast it into the sea he dragged therefrom an exquisite petrified wrack grass, which he hastened to present to his flancee. But, war breaking out, the fisherman was pressed into the service of the Venetian navy. The poor girl wept at the departure of her lover and contemplated his last gift to her. But while absorbed in following the intricate tracery of the wrack grass she began to twist and plait the threads weighted with small beads which hung around her net. Little by little she wrought an imitation of the petrification, and thus was created the bobbin lace. We Owe the Hat to Asia. We owe the hat to Asia, for it was in that country that the art of felting wool was first known, and from the most remote periods the art was carried on by the orientals. In India, China, Burma and Siam hats are made of straw, of rattan, of bamboo, of pith, of the leaf of the Tallport palm and of a large variety of grasses. The Japanese made their hats of paper. The modern hat can be traced back to the petasurs worn by the an-cient Romans when on a journey, and hats with brims were also used by the earlier Greeks.

It was not until after the Roman conquest that the use of hats began in England. A "hatte of blever," about the middle of the twelfth century, was worn by one of the nobles of the land. Fraissort describes hats and plumes which were worn at Edward's con in 1340, when the Garter order was in-stituted. The merchant in Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" had "on his head a Flaunderish beaver hat," and from that period onward there is frequent ention of "felt hattes."

A Fortunate Escape.

Mr. George N. Ives was driving on the Macadamized road yesterday after-noon when the bit broke and the horse ran away. The horse turned and threw the buggy on its side and Mr. Ives was thrown out but very fortunately escaped with a few brulese on the hand and head but nothing serious at all.

The horse was in high spirits, not having been driven for several days and the breaking of the bit frightened the animal. The horse ran down George to South Front and collided with a vehicle near Middle street and the buggy was budly wrecked. The horse was not huit. A6 Mr. Ives is to be congratulated on his acape from serious injury, as his peril 0.00 was great.

signed articles of Confederation? 3. When was the first census of the United States taken? What was the pop

4. When was the first gold and silver money coined in the United States? 5. Who was President of the United States in 1792?

6. In what year did North Carolina convey to the United States Government one acre of land on Ocracoke Island and ten on Cape Island for the erection of lighthouses?

7. When and by whom was the first Thanksgiving day proclaimed? 8. To what foreign power did America pay tribute?

9. When did Congress authorize the erection of a monument to Gen. Washington? 10. When and why did the first armed insurrection against the United States occur? 11. Which of the Presidents of the United States was known as the "Napoleon of the Stump ?" The contest was generally participated n, but Daniel Pelietier was the only scholar who answered all correctly. Mr. Green visited the school yesterday and announced the result, awarding the prize to Master Pelletier. He making the
