DISCOVERED out 30 years of gun making, we have discovered many things about ammunition that no one could learn in any other way. Our discoveries in this line, together with years of experience manufacturing ammunition, enable us to embody many fine points in Winchester Metallic Cartridges for rifles and revolvers which make them superior in many ways to all other brands upon the market. Winchester cartridges in all calibers are accurate, sure-fire and exact in size; being made and loaded in a modern manner by skilled experts. If you want the best INSIST UPON HAVING WINCHESTER MAKE OF CARTRIDGES.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

The "shoo fly" carried 500 excursionists to Morehead Sunday morning. There were about ninety tickets sold at the station here.

Mr. W. T. Hill began moving his printing office and bicycle shops into the newly completed store adjoining the one he already occupied.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Circulating Library at the rooms of the library at 8 p. m. today. A full attendance is desired.

The improvements out on Dunn's Avenue are indeed encouraging. Several pretty cottages have recently been erected out there and three more are being framed.

Some of the tobacco towns are not willing to boycott the products of the American Tobacco Company. That shows that the trust is getting in its work already.

Four men from Morehead made a record catch of mackerel Saturday. They brought in 209 fish ranging in weight from 1 1/2 to 3 pounds. The fish were caught outside of Cape Lookout.

It may be of local interest to know that Virginia-Carolina Chemical stock touched the lowest point in the history of the corporation, 19 1/2, high 21, market closed at 20 yesterday.

A gentleman from this county showed a sample of tobacco for which he had offered five cents a pound this year. Last year for the same grade of tobacco he received from twenty-five to thirty cents per pound.

Last night while Mrs. Susan Anderson who lives on Broad street was crossing a bridge which covers a gutter located near her home, she fell and sustained severe injuries, nearly breaking her leg.

At a large mass meeting of the tobacco planters and merchants held in Kinston yesterday resolutions were passed denouncing the trust, and deploring the inadequacy of the state laws to control the situation, and approving of the course taken by the Retail Grocers and Merchants Association.

The Greenville Merchants Association have declined to co-operate with other associations in the proposed boycott against the American Tobacco Company. They say that the time has not arrived for action. If it is not time when the price of tobacco, with a short crop, is forced to two and three cents a pound, then it will never be.

A drinking fountain is badly needed at the A & N C station. People waiting for the train are often put to inconvenience to get a drink. If a fountain was flowing there, many who resort to the nearby bar room to get a drink of water and substitute beer, would drink at the fountain and never think of the beer.

The Retail Grocers and Merchants Association had a well attended meeting last night. The object of the meeting was to make preparations for the mass meeting to be held Saturday noon, as previously announced. There will be another meeting of the Association Friday night.

An affray case was tried in Justice S. R. Street's court yesterday. The offenders were David Spight, Lena Blount and Martilla White, all colored, of course. The two had a little "mill" up on Kilmorie street, Saturday night, and the Justice closed the affair by requiring Spight to pay $3 and costs. The women were let off with costs.

Mr. E. B. Rice left last night on the steamer Ocracoke for Johns Hopkins Hospital for the purpose of having an operation performed. He has been suffering a long time with a wen on his neck. He wishes to thank all who gave him assistance, for without it, it would have been impossible for him to have gone.

The farmers and merchants of Newport and Wildwood have organized with a membership of three hundred, the majority being tobacco farmers. They express themselves as being determined to fight the trust to the last ditch. That's the right spirit, and if the tobacco farmers throughout the tobacco belt will take the same stand before the trust gets in its work, the fight will be easily won.

An enterprising grocer exhibited some meat on lower Middle street yesterday upon which was placed a placard announcing that it would be sold for 6 cent a pound. The attention of an old colored "sunni" was called to the low-priced meat, whereupon she exclaimed: "Gawd bless my soul! I've gwine to hab one more mess ob greasy greens." The old woman had been paying 12 cents for meat, and was astonished at the sudden reduction, but observed that she "spes den Norton gunnen done got sorry for de pore called people."

With the customary enterprise of Manager Green, he is negotiating for an appearance here of the charming comedienne, May Sargent, who sustains the enviable reputation of being the most superbly gowned woman on the American stage. Her present tour brings her near this city, and there is a likelihood that the famous comedy, "That Impudent Young Couple," from the Empire Theatre, New York City, may be seen here at an early date. Miss Sargent's appearance here would be appreciated by all our theatre-goers, as the comedy is known to be one of the conspicuous New York successes.

Intemperance in France.
Statistics show that there is more drinking done in France in proportion to the population than in any other country in the world. In some parts of Normandy 50 per cent of the conscripts is said, are unable to enter either the naval or military arm of the service on account of degeneration due to drink. While of the 150,000 deaths which occur annually from tuberculosis three-fourths are ascribed to alcoholism. As for the insane asylums, they are filled with inveterate drunkards. It is further said that alcohol is fed regularly to many children, a piece of bread being placed on a plate, then alcohol poured over it as a substitute for butter or molasses. This condition of affairs is causing serious alarm among the earnest people of France, who are forming temperance societies all over the country in an attempt to combat the habit of drinking.

Vegetarian Dinner.
The gourmand will not agree with Carl Snyder, who speaks in his "New Conceptions in Science" of a future vest pocket dinner of pellets as "an engaging fancy." Mr. Snyder tells us that it was the French scientist, M. Berthelot, who said several years ago that our food some day would come to us from the chemist's laboratory and not from farms. The tendency has been in this direction for many years. As long ago as 1856 Emerson said in "Nature": "They say that by electromagnetism your salad shall be grown from the seed while your fowl is roasting for dinner. It is a symbol of modern aims and endeavors." But M. Berthelot does not stop here. "His bold imagination," says Mr. Snyder, "has looked forward to the day when from the test tube and its mixtures life itself may come."—Harper's.

The Dispute is an Old One.
It is an extraordinary circumstance that the two oldest and most vexatious complications with which the latter day diplomacy has been beset should be centered in the island of Newfoundland, the most ancient colony. One of these entanglements is the French shrike question, the other is the Atlantic fisheries question. Both had their origin in the troublous times of the eighteenth century, and the legacy of irritation and international bickerings which they have proved is an eloquent testimony to the supineness or ineptitude of the British statesmen of those days, who trafficked in the peerless fisheries of Newfoundland with every power that had to be conciliated.—P. T. McGrath in Nineteenth Century.

Alone With Thought.
"Out of the Past" states that a lecture by Emerson marked the awakening of President Garfield's intellectual life. He was a young man, and Emerson's personality no less than his subtle thought affected Garfield so powerfully that when he came out of the room in which the lecture was delivered the whole mountain that rose over the town seemed to be on fire. Yet on being questioned as to what it was all about, Garfield in telling the story years after said that he was unable to recall more than a single sentence—"Mankind is as indolent as it dares to be." He was not certain that he recalled that correctly.

Letter to J. F. Taylor,
New Bern, N. C.

Dear Sir: The way to reckon the cost of paint is to put both coats together: the cost of the paint and the cost of putting it on.

It would save this country hundreds of millions of dollars a year; it would save you alone (if you happen to be a victim) several dollars a year. See how it works. It costs as much to put on one paint as another, don't it?

Yes, if you use the same number of gallons. Well, don't!

No, you'll use twice as many gallons of adulterated paint as of Devco; and you've got to pay twice as much for putting it on.

Mr. N. Avery, Delhi, N. Y., has two houses alike and in same condition. Painted one house with Devco: 6 gallons. Painted the other house with a paint that was half adulteration: 12 gallons. Same painter, Geo. Gilbert did both jobs. One cost $37; the other $54. Better get by the name.

Yours truly
F. W. DRYOR & Co.

An Almost Infallible Remedy.

Hon. M. W. Ransom, U. S. Senator from North Carolina: "I take very great pleasure in recommending Dr. Worthington's Cholera and Diarrhoea Medicines. Dr. Worthington was a gentleman of eminent skill in his profession. I have observed for thirty years the effects of his medicines. It is my duty to state that it has proved an almost infallible remedy."

MAN ABOUT TOWN.

A Few Incoherent Observations On Matters of No Material Importance.

There is some agitation in the State papers relative to the adoption of a State flower. Nearly every State has a flower symbol, as well as the Nation, which I think, the arbiter. Of course the idea is more sentiment but there are more sentiments rampant in this blooming country that are more harmful than the selection of a National or State flower.

One paper suggests for the emblem of the Old North State be the cotton bloom. Another paper is in favor of the strawberry blossom. Both are appropriate and very pretty. Some one has suggested that the rum blossom ought to be considered, but perish the thought! Better to have no flower at all than to have that.

There is a little doggerel verse on this subject which has more truth in it than poetry. Each Nation mentioned has its flower. The verse runs thus:

France has her lily,
England has her rose,
And every body knows
Where the shamrock grows;
Scotland has the thistle
Flowering on the hill;
But the American flower
Is the one dollar bill.

A gentleman was speaking to me not long ago about native song talent. He said he wondered if the people of this city knew that there was exceptionally good voices among our school children and if trained right they might develop into wonderful singing qualities. New Bern may be able to produce a second Jenny Lind or Adeline Pattil.

Particularly among the colored children is this true. The gentleman said he was walking up town a few days ago when he was attracted by two negro girls singing together. He said their voices were remarkable in a musical way especially the alto voice and thought it a pity there was no way to develop and train them.

The same thing probably exists among some of our white school children. It seems as if it would be a good plan to introduce special musical training in our schools. In a company of from 300 to 500 children there is bound to be three or more who will have special musical talent; the excellence of their voices will surely be shown no matter what may be the natural disposition of the child. For the sake of this small percentage more attention should be paid to music in the schools.

One of the queerest sights that has been seen in this city lately is the city convicts in the new clothing provided by the city authorities. The clothing itself is good and proper, but occasionally a convict is not built to fit the clothes. It's the man's fault. He ought not to have done things to have to put them on.

One man was put to work in a suit of the "peculiar" type, and he looked like a pencil in a balloon, the suit was evidently intended for a man weighing from 180 to 200 or 225 lbs, while the occupant could not have tipped the beam at more than 140 pounds. The clothing was tied on him as the best means of keeping it on him, One man who watched him said he was the best specimen of an animated ball furled mast he had ever seen.

A WET AUGUST

Rainfall Thus Far About 6 1/2 Inches. Injury to Crops.

Thursday's rainfall was 1.74 inches, which was followed Friday and Friday night by two inches more, the total rainfall here for the first fourteen days of August being 6.49 inches.

The Journal's correspondents, and farmers coming to town, all say too much rain, and the early planted cotton is being greatly damaged.

The forecast for today is for rain.

Picnic And Base ball at Lima.

Aug 14—When old Sol made his appearance on Friday A. M. and his smiling rays had driven the dew and rain from the beautiful lawn of Mr. O. H. Perry's, the Cove Base ball Team, accompanied by quite a number of their friends made their appearance at this place and were given a hearty welcome and handshakes by the home team and entire community of Lima.

By noon quite a little crowd had assembled in the cool grove. The fore noon was pleasantly passed away. A good majority of the men, and boys entertained them selves with balls, while others were enjoying the company of the young ladies and resting quietly.

At 1:00 p. m. a table under the cool shade was abundantly filled with delicious eatables and the sweets of life.

At 3:00 p. m. the two ball teams Lima and Cove met in the field, Lima was in fine order so was Cove, but Cove was not fine enough for Lima. The boys did good playing but could not do anything with Lima. They worked faithfully from the beginning to the close but all in vain, Cove could not even score, Lima was just simply fine. The game closed as follows 11 to 0. In favor of Lima. The Cove team and their friends are very fine, and we will be glad to have them when ever they may come.
