

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour eructations, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Digestion Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membrane lining the stomach.

P. S. DUFFY

Mr. John H. Russell has resigned his position with the A. & N. O. road and with his wife left last night for Morehead to spend a month.

The friends of Mr. Mark Disoway will be glad to learn that he is improving. Mr. Disoway has been quite sick for several days.

Mr. James A. Bryan has removed the fence around his yard and is making preparations for a substantial brick enclosure around his entire premises.

Mr. Frank Melr of Wilmington, representing Tucker Bros., Marble and Granite Works is in the city erecting a Western granite monument on the burial plot of Mr. George N. Ives in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

Policeman Montague was on the war-path yesterday morning, seeking delinquent back drivers who had not paid their license. Several of them had to temporarily suspend business until they could raise the "wind."

The fine family horse and Jersey cow formerly the property of T. W. Dewey was sold in front of the court house yesterday at an execution sale. The horse was sold to Mr. J. A. Jones for $140 and the cow was sold to Mr. J. Hiram Bell, of Pollockville, for $18.

A Mr. E. B. Rice, who it will be remembered made a canvass of the city a few weeks ago soliciting help to take him to Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore to have an unsightly and dangerous tumor removed from his neck has returned. The tumor was successfully removed and Mr. Rice is getting along very well. He thanks the kind people for their assistance.

A writer in the Free Press tries to remark that there is not a single mosquito in the bustling town of Kinston, but that each and every one of the little insects has a companion and many children. What boy! Down here we never have time to figure out the married relatives of the pestiferous critter, it's all we can do to dodge their pressing bills. (Laugh) (?)

It beats all what pains and expense people will incur to avoid paying a small tax. A case at hand developed in the Mayor's court yesterday when three men were taken before Mayor Ellis for neglecting to pay their dog tax. John Moore, William Davis and Willis Council were the delinquents and the costs attached amounted to $2.75. The dog tax is 50 cents. They were required to pay the tax and costs. Charles Aycock—not the governor, will appear before the Mayor today on the same charge.

Graceful Women

Bradfield's Female Regulator

In regulating those irregular periods, women are so prone to be afflicted with, the most delicate and delicate of ailments, it is imperative that they should use a medicine that is not only safe, but also effective. Bradfield's Female Regulator is the only medicine that has been found to be so effective in all cases of irregularity of the menstrual system. It is a purely vegetable preparation, and is perfectly safe for all women, young or old. It is sold in all drug stores, and is also sold by mail for $1.00 per bottle. KIDNAPPED.

The Disappearance of N. A. Colbert Has Every Evidence of a Most Bizarre and Mysterious Scheme.

Mr. N. A. Colbert, the very genial and popular manager of the Holes Pickle Industry here, is in an awful pickle himself as he has become the victim of some sharp, conniving rascals who stole him from his friends.

The low cunning practiced by his abductors in luring him onto the steamer Ocracoke Monday night had the desired result—that the boat should tear him away from his haunts and carry him to strange scenes and people.

He was kidnapped. No definite news of his location has been received although a telephone message was received here by a friend to have no fear that Mr. Colbert was being treated kindly and had plenty to eat and drink. Other information was withheld.

It was not deemed necessary to put officers on the trail but never-the-less those interested would like to know where he is, if he will ever come back to New Bern and what will be done when he gets back.

If he will write a story about "How It Feels To Be Kidnapped" his friends here have pledged to buy six copies and also to give him a royal treat when he returns.

Here is a paid advertisement which ought to return the wanderer:
"Lost, Strayed or Stolen, a man answering to the name of Pickles Colbert, he wears a joyous smile and give the glad hand. You'll know him when you see him!"

Any one knowing the whereabouts of One N. A. Colbert who was kidnapped on the night of Sept. 21, will please notify box 464 and receive any old thing for a reward.

Delegates to Episcopal Council.

The Vestry of Christ Episcopal Church of this city has elected the following named delegates and alternates to the General Council, which meets at Goldboro, Wednesday, October 2nd.

Delegates—G. H. Roberts, Judge H. R. Bryan, Jno. Dunn, Joe H. Green.
Alternates—Dr. F. W. Hughes, O. H. Galon, E. K. Althrop, W. B. Oliver.

What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 50c at C. D. Bradham's drug store.

DAVY CROCKETT.

His Knowledge of Politics and His Description of Himself.

As an example of Crockett's early pioneering methods one might mention his first canvass for the legislature. Regarding this, he says, "I didn't know what the government was; I didn't know but General Jackson was the government." Meeting Colonel Polk, later to be President Polk, the latter remarked, "I think it possible we may have some changes in the judiciary." "Very likely," replied Davy, "very likely," and discreetly withdrew.

"Well," he comments, "if ever I knowed what he meant by 'judiciary' I wish I may be shot. I never heard there was such a thing in all nature."

Again, Crockett, in what is called his "autobiography," a work which he no doubt in part dictated or at least authorized, gives the following account of one of his speeches to a stranger at Raleigh, while Crockett was on route to Washington to take his first seat in congress. "Hold on, 'Who are you?' said I, 'I'm that same Davy Crockett, fresh from the backwoods, half man, half alligator, a little touched with snapping turtle, can whip the blindest slipp, keep the Old, ride a streak of lightning, slide down a bronny ledge, and not get scratched. I can swim any weight in wildcats, bug a bear, be close for comfort and eat any man's nose as Jackson'—Benson, Henson in Outing.

It is interesting to note that Crockett was a member of the first legislature of the State of Texas, and that he was one of the first to be elected to the office of Governor of Texas.

SCOTT'S STABLES IMPROVED.

The Large Horse Rearing House Enlarged and Fully Equipped.

After the fire which partially destroyed Scott & Co's. livery stable last summer, a spacious ground has made available for Mr. Scott to enlarge his stable and increase his business. He has taken advantage of the opportunity afforded and has made his stables one of the largest and finest in the State.

Beginning at that portion of the building which was saved from the flames an extension was built measuring 180 feet and an "L" attachment was made which measures 300 feet. Both additions are about 30 feet wide. It is estimated when all shall be completed that 1 1/2 acres will be under cover.

Mr. Scott has housing for two hundred horses and one hundred and fifty mules. The stables are large and roomy and there are many box stalls. The comfort of the animals has been one of Mr. Scott's chief ideas in building his barns. Ample provision is made for the storing of hay and grain. One hundred tons of hay and one thousand bushels of grain can be stored in the barn.

In addition to the livery feed and sale stables, Mr. Scott will also have an extensive and up-to-date line of all kinds of vehicles, harness, robes, whips and all goods that go with a first class livery establishment. He is beginning to receive these goods.

About November 1 he will receive a lot of horses and mules which will be exceptionally fine. When all is equipped as he has planned Mr. Scott will have one of the most complete stables in the city.

Mr. Scott is to be commended for the energy and enterprise he has made use of. Not being discouraged by the loss caused by the fire he used the misfortune as a stepping stone to do more and greater things. He is certainly deserving of the success which he is enjoying.

The Pleasure of Eating.

Persons suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia or other stomach trouble will find that Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. This remedy is a never failing cure for indigestion and dyspepsia, all complaints affecting the glands or membranes of the stomach or digestive tract. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure everything you eat tastes good, and every bit of the nutriment that your food contains is assimilated and appropriated by the blood and tissues. Sold by F. S. Duffy.

Small Plastic Judgments.

That insects think is the belief of a French neurologist who has been making careful observations of ants and bees. He thinks that, between the ideas of the naturalist who regards insects as mere automatons and those of the man who treats them as humanly intelligent, there is a happy medium of common sense, and this he has tried to attain. His observations teach him that, although most of the acts of insects can be explained by instinct, there remain what he calls "small plastic judgments" by which they avoid dangers and steer their way beyond dangers. The directive faculty of bees, especially, and their wonderful memory for places can hardly be explained on the theory of automatism.

The Genuine vs. Counterfeits.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by F. S. Duffy.

THE PLAYERS.

R. G. Willard began earning his living as a baker's boy in Brighton, England.

Harold Kyle Bellows is fifty-five years old, but the youngest looking of all the great romances.

Frederic De Belleville, one of the finest actors on the American stage, is, like Miss Rhea, a Belgian.

Edward E. Settem, and Mrs. Con. Urganat Porter were born in New Orleans, the actor in 1860 and the actress in 1860.

John Brougham used to call Lotta a "dramatic coalstall." It was to her that the phrase "a strawberry blond" was first applied.

In the past thirty-two years Sir Henry Irving has played forty-three parts, all of them, in their way, of the first importance.

Miss Marie Wainwright was the original Josephine in the first American performance of "Pinafore." That was fifty-five years ago.

Frederic Ward is an Oxford man—got of the university, however, but of the name, he has been there. He was introduced for the first time.

Benoit Constant Coquelina's father was a baker in Boulogne, and the son, born in 1841, expected until he was seventeen or eighteen years old to follow that trade.

If you ever look De Witt's Little Blue Pills for biliousness or constipation you know what a purgative pleasure it is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of bile without producing unpleasant effects. They do not grip, sicken or weaken, but give tone and strength to the tissues and organs involved. W. H. Howell of Houston, Tex., says: "No better result can be used than Little Blue Pills for constipation, sick headaches, etc." Sold by F. S. Duffy.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

A Friend of Good Marksmanship. There is unusual interest among the riflemen, national and state, this year, and the annual contests of the year will attract wide attention. United States Senator John F. Dryden of New Jersey is more than any other person responsible for the lively interest in rifle shooting at this time. It was through Senator Dryden's efforts that the army appropriations bill passed by the last congress contained a clause authorizing for the first time "a national trophy, medals and other prizes to be provided for and contested for annually . . . by the army and national guard or organized militia of the several states and territories and of the District of Columbia." Senator Dryden also recently presented a handsome trophy to be contested for under the auspices of the New Jersey State Rifle Association at Sen. Girt, N. J. The Dryden trophy cost about $3,000. Prizes from the army of the United States and from the militia of the various states and territories may compete at the annual contests for this trophy. The first competition will be in September of this year.

Knew He Was an American.

Congressman James A. Tawney of Minnesota has complained much of late about the inadequacy of public school education. This gentleman once had the good fortune to bring out very admirably the difference between the English and the American temperaments.

He was traveling abroad; he was about to board an English steamer. A tall stout up a full inch from the gang plank, and this tall annoyed the passengers a great deal. It tore frocks and it caused many a stumble. No one, though, attempted to remedy the evil until Congressman Tawney came along. He—he had learned blacksmithing in his youth—took up a weight that lay at hand and hammered the tall home so that it could occasion no more trouble. A bystander, noticing the deed, said to him: "An American?" "You are right," said Congressman Tawney. "I am an American."

Sandford After Satan.

Manned by a corps of experienced devil drivers, one of the Rev. F. W. Sandford's new gospel boats set sail from Bath, Mo., the other day. The new boat, known among the Shilohites as Devil Chaser No. 1, will first sail for the Kennebec river, where it is asserted by the disciples of Sandford, the devil is hiding in a boathouse. After driving the devil to the sea the members of the Holy Ghost and Us society will endeavor to convert all the fishermen along Maine's rugged coast to their belief. Sandford has no expert speed skipper with him, and hath scuzzing men predict that the boat will soon be sunk either in a storm or by striking some large rock or bluff.

A Noteworthy Conversion.

Word comes from Fort Sill, I. T., that the notorious chief, Geronimo, of the Apaches has become a convert to religion and joined the Methodist church. Geronimo's age is variously estimated all the way from seventy-five to ninety-five. His career has been marked by bloody deeds and innumerable instances of treachery. Before his final subjugation several years ago he led General Miles and the United

GERONIMO.

States troops many desperate chases through Arizona and all of the southwestern country. He is said to be a skillful dissembler, and his profession of religion may be taken with a grain of salt by many of those who know him best. However, he is said to have made a public confession of his many bloody deeds committed when he and his tribe were on the warpath. He has issued a proclamation urging his people to give up dancing and other worldly amusements and repent of their sins. Geronimo's conversion has caused a sensation among the Indians of Oklahoma and Indian Territory.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bodridden, alone and destitute. Such in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicine gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies: "I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for Liver and Kidney troubles, and all forms of Stomach and Bowel Complaints. Only 50c. Guaranteed by C. D. Bradham, Druggist.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

The Summer Bedroom. The heavy white counterpane is being consigned to the "rot in use" trunk in the attic more than ever this summer. In its place on the bed a dainty coverlet of lace is spread over a color to harmonize with the decorations of the room.

Nor is the old time bolster, with its white muslin slip, often seen in a sleeping room which has any pretensions to up to date. A long wooden or paper mache roll has displaced it.

Both of these new bedroom accessories have an advantage over the old style.

In the first place, the lace spread, with an unobtrusive lead, itself more easily to the color scheme of the apartment than did the counterpane. The latter comes only in three shades—pink, blue and white. For less expense one is able to make a prettier room in this way than with the old fashioned style. The lace spread with the roll does not need shams, as the counterpane does, as it is thrown over the entire bed.

One of the reasons for the popularity of bolster rolls made of a material on which it is impossible to sleep is that they take away from the temptation to sleep on a pillow. Many women folk are depriving themselves of this comfortable, if curio destroying, luxury.

The fad of antique laces has extended this summer into the bedroom, and many girls have adopted it for coverlets and curtains.

A large number of the summer coverlets are made of a soft, figured silk, ruffled all around the edge. Persian designs are popular.

Pretty little half size quilts made of a shade of satin to harmonize with the color of the room are finding their way to the summer bedroom for cool nights. During the day they are thrown over the foot of the bed.

Sun Bath in a Wicker Chair.

One need not go to Scarborough to sit in a Scarborough sun chair. Indeed, the chair favored at the English resort is made right here in our own country, complete, even to the peepholes at the sides. This picturesque chair is a delight at the seashore, and it is quite as delightful for the stay at home, if not as absolutely necessary. By turning it to the sun one may indulge in a sun bath in the utmost comfort. By turning it the other way one may be screened from his too ardent glances and woo the breezes.—Philadelphia Record.

For the Table.

The fashion of having a bare table and using only doilies and centerpieces instead of whole tablecloths is a pretty custom that is still in high favor and promises to have a long life. It is so much cooler in the summer time that in almost every country house the highly polished table and doily are found. Formerly only fine, thin linen thread was used for the table, but now there is a kind of embroidery known as the stank which is done on heavy, coarse linen. The designs, which resemble those used in the Bulgarian work, are done in red and white cotton. A complete set contains a centerpiece and a dozen plate doilies, round or square.

To have china that looks well with this heavy, coarse linen is one of the chief things in making an effective table. Fragile china would look decidedly out of place, and to meet this demand the manufacturers have made a ware that is heavy and durable, while not clumsy, and is to be had at a variety of prices. Gay patterns and colors have the lead instead of delicate tones and small, faintly tinted decorations.

Beet Salad.

New beets make a delicious salad. Boil the beets and when cold cut into dice. Serve with a tartar sauce, which is simply mayonnaise into which have been stirred a teaspoonful of minced onion, a little minced parsley, an olive and a cucumber pickle, both finely chopped. A little tarragon is an addition, or use tarragon vinegar in the dressing.

Water Stains.

When a drop of water falls on black craps it leaves a white mark. To remove this stretch craps over a piece of old black silk. Dip a large camel's hair brush in common black ink and lightly brush white spots, then wipe off with a piece of silk. The craps will dry at once and spots will be gone.—Housekeeper.

A Perpetual Sacred Fire.

In the peninsula of Abercorn, formerly belonging to Persia, but now a part of Russia, there is a perpetual or rather, the natives call it an eternal sacred fire which is known to have been burning continually for more than 2,000 years. It rises from an irregular orifice of about twelve feet in depth and 120 feet square. The flames, which are constant, rise to a height of from six to eight feet, unaccompanied by smoke or disagreeable smell, varying back and forth with the wind like a field of golden grain.

MALARIA

Germ Infected Air.

Malaria is not confined exclusively to the swamps and marshy regions of the country, but wherever there is bad air this insidious foe to health is found. Poisonous vapors and gases from sewers, and the musty air of damp cellars are laden with the germs of this miserable disease, which are breathed into the lungs and taken up by the blood and transmitted to every part of the body. Then you begin to feel out of sorts without ever suspecting the cause. No energy or appetite, dull headaches, sleep and tired and completely fagged out from the slightest exertion, are some of the deplorable effects of this enfeebling malady. As the disease progresses and the blood becomes more deeply poisoned, boils and abscesses and dark or yellow spots appear upon the skin. When the poison is left to ferment and the microbes and germs to multiply in the blood, Liver and Kidney troubles and other serious complications often arise. As Malaria begins and develops in the blood, the treatment to be effective must begin there too. S. S. S. destroys the germs and poisons and purifies the polluted blood, and under its tonic effect the debilitated constitution rapidly recuperates and the system is soon clear of all signs of this depressing disease.

S. S. S. is a guaranteed purely vegetable remedy, mild, pleasant and harmless. Write us if you want medical advice or any special information about your case. This will cost you nothing.

John Wesley's Shrewdness Wins. One of his biographers declares that if he had searched the whole kingdom for the evangelist John Wesley would hardly have found a woman more unsuitable than she whom he married. She did not even confine herself to her tongue in her attacks. More than once she laid violent hands on him. "Juck," said John Hampson to his son, "I was once on the point of committing murder. It was when I was in the north of Ireland and I went into a room and found Mrs. Wesley foaming with fury. Her husband was on the floor, where she had been trampling him by the hair of his head, and she herself was still holding in her hand venerable locks which she had plucked out by the roots. I felt," continued Hampson, "who was a giant of a man, though not one of Wesley's warmest friends—I felt as though I could have knocked the soul out of her."—Everybody's Magazine.

Moorish Baths. In Spain, while the Moors were in the ascendancy, luxurious hot baths were established. They were used in connection with the religious rites of Islam. The Islamites were required to bathe frequently. The manner of bathing was as follows: After undressing, the bather is wrapped in a woolen coat, sandals are put on and he walks to the hot bath. After a thorough hot bath all parts of the body are rubbed. The soles of the feet are rubbed with pumice stone, then the body is anointed with oil and sprinkled with perfumed powders.

When the Moors were driven out of Spain the first thing the people did was to destroy the Moorish bath houses. This was done because of religious prejudice against the Moors.

Three Curious Epitaphs. In a cemetery near Dublin the following words appear on a tombstone: "Here lies John Hurley, whose father and mother died while on their way home from America. If they had lived they would have been buried here."

The following epitaph adorns the tomb of a gravedigger in the Trafalgar cemetery in the south of Wales: "Hurray, comrades, person is dead! If he had lived he would have buried all of us."

Here is another curious epitaph which was recently discovered; it marks the grave of an indefatigable smoker and contains only the following four words: "My pipe is out."

Striking Him Up. Husband—My physician tells me I must have a complete change of scene. I don't know but I'll have to run over to Europe.

One Good Reason. "No, Jimmie, I am not going to Maggie Mulligan's party! The Mulligans ain't in our set, an' I don't like Maggie, an' I've got nothing to wear, an' besides, I ain't been invited, anyhow!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

You Never Know The Moment When This Information May Prove of Infinite Value.

It is worth considerable to any citizen of New Bern to know how to be cured of painful, annoying and itching piles. Know then that Doan's Ointment is a positive remedy for all itches of the skin, for piles, eczema, etc. One application relieves and soothes. Read this testimony of its merit:

John F. Hanff, proprietor of General Merchandise store, at 80, Middle Street, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they are all they are represented to be. I can also say that Doan's Ointment is the best thing that I ever used for itching hemorrhoids. I suffered untold agony with these, could not rest one moment, day or night, and I could not find anything to relieve the suffering until I came across Doan's Ointment and procured it at Bradham's Pharmacy. It relieved me at once, and acted entirely different from anything else I ever used. You could talk about this remedy for a month and it would not be like one application of the ointment. You can use my name and I will be only too pleased to recommend these remedies to anyone whenever opportunity arises."
