IS LABOR UNIONISM TO BE SELF IMMOLATED?

The strike, like the boycott, can prove equally destructive to both sides. Labor unionism in its determination to assert and maintain its position, often resorts to strikes to prove its power.

This stoppage of work, or strike, while it may accomplish its purpose of forcing recognition of the labor union's position, is retroactory, and those striking may be more seriously affected and injured, than the parties against whom the strike is enforced.

Illustrative of this, the strike in New York City last summer caused the noncompletion of twenty-six public school buildings, thereby causing just so much deficiency in the school room for pupils, and necessitating that some 70,000 children shall have but one half a day at school, instead of an entire school day.

The labor union may have won, but was not the victory gained at a sacrifice to the laborers, whose children attend and depend upon the public schools for an education?

A director in one of the great steel manufacturing corporations is the authority for the statement, that construction and building operations which would have called for the expenditure of five hundred millions of dollars within the next eighteen months, are already abandoned, because of the attitude of ing had leased Lowthrop hall for one labor and its demands.

The steel manufacturers will lose through this shut down in building being made to secure immigrants. The lands are here waiting cultivation, and their owners will welcome and make iberal inducements to honest and willing immigrants, who will go to work. But such immigrants, while they can be found, and no doubt brought here, need the means of being found, informed of what opportunities await them here, and then brought bere. Railroad companies, through their agents, perform this service, but the Atlantic and North Carolina railroad has no outlet through which it can go to the

Can the Atlantic and North Carolina railroad make such arrangements, as will give it an outlet to accure immigrants? If it can, then it would seem that efforts to effect such an arrangement should be made, through lease or sale, and this does not mean that the A. & N C. shall pass into the control of any railroad corporation, at present in this State.

Judging from the expressions of the majority of the private stockholders of the A & N C at the annual meeting of the company held in this city, this week, the desire is to make the railroat property pay divi lends. and under its present physical and political conditions, ft seems impossible that such can be paid. This being the situation, with both stockholders wanting some returns upon their investment in the A & N C railroad, and the country through which the road passes suffering for want of immigrants, who shall come in and bring about the proper development of the land, there can be no question but that there must be some change in the present situation of the road.

There is a loss, a wastage at present existing, which can probably be corrected, which will mean better conditions for railroad and people, and especially ocean. for those seeking the development of this section, which means much for not merely a section, but the entire State.

The undoubted and unquestioned laboring man.

The laboring man in all classes may not be getting the last cent he is entitled to, but he is getting better pay than ever before, and a continued commercial prosperity means an increasing demand for his services, with pay nearly commonsurate.

But for any class of labor to continual place for school purposes, as an annex ly enforce its demands through strikes, to New Bern Academy. is not this method, if continued in, likely to prove not merely inimical to the ing, the Masonic Opera house, is sufficlaboring man, himself, but does it not lent to condemn it. SOME MEANS TO SECURE IMMI-GRATION NEEDED.

The JOURNAL has published numerous articles, telling of the continual going out of the colored people from this section, to Northern States.

This departure of the colored people into new fields of work, means that the fields of employment in this section are being depleted, to the loss of those who demand this kind of labor.

The farm lands of this section, upon which some kind of a crop can be grown in nearly every season of the year, at a profit when laborers can be secured, are now going to waste, their owners being unable to secure labor to cultivate and grow crops upon them.

This question of labor is each year be coming a more serious matter with the farmers and land owners of Eastern North Garolina.

There will be no return of the colored people to farm again, therefore the almony, which will receive no word but cure immigration to this section, or will pupil and friend of of education in New present conditions, be permitted to continue, with the gradual increase of more good farms going to waite, or being cultivated with such a supply of labor, as to make unprolitable any crop cultiva-
