THE NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

New York courts have decided that "Faith" or "Christian Science" healing is illegal.

Scientists attribute the cause of the great disturbance in the weather to sun spots. They say there are more sun spots than ever before.

Bishop Joseph Cheshire, of the Episcopal church of this State celebrated the tenth anniversary of his ordination as a bishop this week.

Ex Gov. Mitchell, of Florida, died in Tampa, Wednesday.

Gov. Aycock addressed a mass meeting at Norfolk yesterday on the Jamestown exposition matter. A number of other prominent men spoke.

In the city election at Indianapolis, Ind., John W. Holtzman, democrat, defeated Charles A. Book, alter, republican and present mayor of the city for the office of mayor. The campaign was one of the most interesting in the history of the State.

Miss Mae Wood, a clerk in the postal department at Washington, alleges that she has been jilted by aged Senator Pratt of New York, and will take steps to prevent his wedding to Mrs. Janeway.

It is charged that there have been wholesale violations of the naturalization laws. President Roosevelt, it is said will ask congress to put naturalization in the control of the federal government.

Governor Aycock has gone to Norfolk where with Governor Montague he will speak in the interest of the Jamestown Exposition.

CAPE LOOKOUT LIGHTSHIP

The Appropriation was Made at Last Session A Matter of General Interest.

ED JOURNAL.—In a late issue of your paper my article Mr. T. L. Hall of Morehead City writing an article advertising an appropriation for a Light Ship on Cape Lookout shoals. Mr. Hall was not advised of the fact that an appropriation for this purpose was made at the last session of the 57th Congress.

The appropriation and law covering same will be found on page 1093 Acts of 57th Congress 2nd session, in the act making appropriation for Sundry Civil expenses of the Government approved March 3rd 1903.

The appropriation was included in the bill as it came from the senate and when it went to Conference I remember distinctly looking after the matter in the House of Representatives to see that it was retained in the bill, and asking the Chairman in person or upon the floor of the House as to the retention of this important item.

The law reads, Cape Lookout Shoals Light Vessel, North Carolina, for constructing, equipping and outfitting completed for service, a first class steam light vessel with steam fog signal, ninety thousand dollars; and the Light House Board is authorized to employ temporarily at Washington three draftsmen, to be paid at current rates, to prepare plans for the light vessel, said employment to cease when the plans for said vessel being finished—proposals for said vessel are invited by advertisement.

This bill also carries appropriations for the Marine Laboratory at Beaufort, Life Saving Stations, etc.

I am glad to be able to furnish this information to your correspondent and I shall urge the prompt construction of this vessel under the law.

Respectfully,
CHARLES R. THOMAS

TILLMAN ACQUITTED.

Celebrated South Carolina Murder Trial Finished.

SPECIAL TO JOURNAL.
LExINGTON, S. C., Oct. 15.—The jury in the Tillman murder trial announced their verdict in which the prisoner was found not guilty of the murder of Editor Gonzales in Columbia. The jury was out twenty hours.

Tillman's friends immediately gave vent to their joyful feelings over the result but the court admonished the spectators to refrain from any demonstration.

Tillman shook hands with the Judge and jurors and at once left the room accompanied by friends and counsel.

While the verdict had been freely predicted, it was denounced in unmeasured terms. Tillman and friends are jubilant over the victory.

It is not known how the jury stood at any time after retirement. It is thought when the case was given them by the Judge that they would be about evenly divided.

IN FIFTEEN MINUTES

Jury Acquitted Haywood of Murder. Judge Complimented Jury's Verdict.

SPECIAL TO JOURNAL.
RALeigh, Oct. 14.—In the Haywood trial today, Thos M Argo concluded his argument for the defense. The Judge charged the jury in fifty minutes. His charge was very favorable to Haywood.

The jury was out only a quarter of an hour, when it returned with verdict not guilty.

There was no demonstration, Haywood's features did not change at the announcement of the verdict.

The Judge thanked the jury for the verdict and said he did not see how it could have done otherwise, that it was exactly what he would have done under the circumstances.

THURSDAY'S CARNIVAL.

Continuation of the Merry Making Times. Large Crowds in Attendance.

Though the skies were lowering yesterday and the air chilly there was a great crowd in attendance at the carnival. The representation from the surrounding country was also very large. The trains brought in large numbers but many farmers especially from Pamlico county.

The shows began business at two o'clock and enjoyed a splendid patronage until the closing hour last night. They have been very successful here and have been conducted in a masterly manner.

The band is particularly worthy of praise. It is a company of musicians who give productions of merit. One member of this organization is a little girl, Miss Mildred Crouse, cornetist. She is especially worthy of favorable comment. She is scarcely more than ten years of age but plays the cornet finely and often takes solo parts with wonderful ability.

The Ferris wheel still has the call and many say that to ride in it once is to ride in it again.

The Red Domes, The Holy City are good attractions and are getting splendid patronage. They are very similar in their nature and if they could be consolidated, we believe their combined attractions will be the means of larger patronage.

A very clever act is that of a bicycle rider on a tight rope at an elevation of 20 feet. The bicycle has no tire and the rider relies solely on a balancing pole. The act is thrilling and requires a deal of nerve.

Tonight we will see Mt. Pelee reproduced. Not by the destructive flood of lava but by a wonderful display of fireworks. It will be a very vivid reproduction of that terrible catastrophe. It is a beautiful and awe inspiring sight.

The Mt. Pelee takes place at 9:30 on Newse river at the foot of Broad St.

Prior to the Mt. Pelee the Queen of the Carnival will be crowned and presented with the diamond ring.

A Schooner Lost.

It was rumored at Norfolk yesterday that a schooner, name unknown, Till Williams, Captain was lost between Beaufort and Cape Hatteras.

It was sailing from Washington. Two passengers were on the boat, Dr. Joshua Taylor, small pox inspector of this State, and Thomas A. Houghton, an insurance agent of Washington.

Nothing has been heard of the boat since it left Washington before the big storm last week.

THE GUANO FACTORY CASE.

Trial of the Duffy-Meadows Suit in Progress in Superior Court.

The case of Dr. Frank Duffy again at R. H. & J. A. Meadows which is in progress in the Superior Court this week is developing a great deal of interest. It will probably require the balance of the week to hear the evidence as both plaintiff and defendants have many witnesses. A large number of ladies who are indirectly interested in the suit have attended the sessions.

The suit is brought on account of the guano factory which is located on the river in the rear of Dr. Duffy's residence corner of East Front and Fallow streets. The contention is that the odor arising from the manufacture of guano is a nuisance and endangers the health of the neighborhood.

Each side is represented by a brilliant array of lawyers and the case is being contested with much vigor.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

The Queen of Mountain Climbers. Miss Annie S. Peck of New York has accomplished the feat of ascending Mount Sorata, in Bolivia, and has won the title of queen of mountain climbers.

It is the first time the summit, estimated to be more than 20,000 feet above the level of the sea, has ever been reached. Miss Peck made her successful ascent accompanied by Professor W. G. Tipton, president of the University of New Mexico, and two Swiss guides.

Miss Peck has an international reputation as a mountain climber, being one of only three women who have ever reached the summit of the Matterhorn. She has made a successful ascent of the Jungfrau and is the only woman that ever climbed the Pumffinger Spitze, the most dangerous rock climb in all Europe, where a slip from a two inch rock ledge meant a sheer fall of 2,000 feet.

Miss Peck, anxious to outdo all mountain climbers, selected Mount Sorata. "I will succeed or I will never come back," Miss Peck told her friends when she left New York.

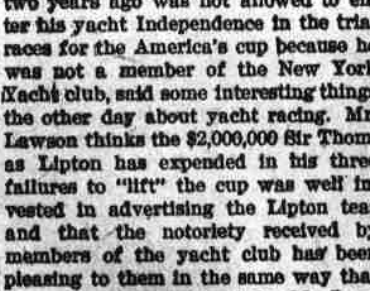

Miss Peck in all her mountain climbing discarded skirts. She wears knickerbockers or loose bloomers. She is well on toward middle age and was formerly professor of Greek and archeology at Smith college. She was one of the first women to study at the American Archeological school at Athens.

Three Boys.
As nearly as possible a half a century ago two little boys were fighting it out at fistfights in a rather too exposed part of the grounds attached to Eton college. While they were thus engaged a sixth form monitor, disgusted at the partial publicity of the fray, lounged up, banged together the heads of the two small pugilists and kicked them off on their business. The only enduring result, which followed is that one of the combatants is today head master of Eton, while the other in due time reached the bench of bishops. The monitor was the present Lord Currie, late British ambassador at Rome.

Lawson on Yachting.
Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, who two years ago was not allowed to enter his yacht Independence in the trial races for the America's cup because he was not a member of the New York Yacht club, said some interesting things the other day about yacht racing. Mr. Lawson thinks the $2,000,000 St. Thomas Lipton has expended in his three failures to "lift" the cup was well invested in advertising the Lipton teas and that the notoriety received by members of the yacht club has been pleasing to them in the same way that a prancing drum major (who, Mr. Lawson says, works without pay) has his vanity tickled by the plaudits of the big eyed yokel.

"There has probably never existed a drum major who would have been heard of anywhere on top of the earth if he had not been a drum major, the whole thing on parade," says Mr. Lawson. "The yachting circles that have of late been nauseating real sportsmen have tended to rouse true yachtsmen the world over until, unless I read the signs of the yachting times askew, their indignation will ere long take some tangible form that will bring this great sport back to a sane standard, a standard that will admit of the representative event of the sport being taken part in by all yachtsmen who can qualify as sportsmen."
