MRS. HENRIETTA A. S. MARSH
Woman's Benevolent Association of Chicago.

Mrs. Henrietta A. S. Marsh, President Woman's Benevolent Association, of 227 Jackson Park Terrace, Woodlawn, Chicago, Ill., says:
"I suffered with la grippe for seven weeks and nothing helped me until I tried Peruna. I felt at once that I had at last secured the right medicine and kept steadily improving. Within three weeks I was fully restored."—Henrietta A. S. Marsh.

Independent Order of Good Templars, of Washington.

Mrs. T. W. Collins, Treasurer I. O. G. T., of Everett, Wash., has used the great catarrhal tonic, Peruna, for an aggravated case of dyspepsia. She writes:

"After having a severe attack of la grippe, I also suffered with dyspepsia. After taking Peruna I could eat my regular meals with relish, my system was built up, my health returned, and I have remained in excellent health and vigor now for over a year."—Mrs. T. W. Collins.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

EARLY SNOW STORM

Follows Closely Upon Annual State Fair.

Governor Talking Education. Pension Lists Next Week. Masonic Fair. New Bern Lady Honored. State Champion Clay Pigeon Shot.

RALEIGH, Oct. 24.—Nature springs a great surprise on the public this morning by sending along an October snow storm, by far the earliest ever seen in this part of the country. For over an hour the snow fell in lively fashion, the flakes being very large, and whitening everything except the ground. But for the rain, which began falling early in the night there would have been a snow covered ground. The temperature dropped to the lowest figure reached this autumn. It is said that the earliest snow fall ever known in this section before this occurred, October 30. Some of the old timers are saying that there will be a very early and a very severe winter, but this is all guess work. Last winter was a very open one, whereas that before was unusually prolonged and severe. Winter in 1901-02 set in November 1st, and the ground here was frozen constantly for more than 60 days. In February a great snowfall came.

The weather was very obliging to the State Fair, remaining warm and fine until the very close. The fairs say they did not make so much money at this fair as they did at the one of last year, but in the city certainly as much money was made. The crowds were handled by the railroads more rapidly and better than ever before and strange to say there was not an accident of any kind during the week, to travelers or to persons here.

Governor Aycock goes to Hartsville, S. C., on the 28th to make an educational speech to the schools there.

State Auditor Dixon, who has charge of the pension matters says the new pension lists will come to him from the public printer next week. As yet he does not know the total number of pensioners, nor the number of new ones.

Among the visitors here today was Joseph P. Wayne of the Breeders' Gazette of Chicago, which is the greatest live stock paper in this country. The Masonic Fair ended tonight. It has been a success in every way, though it is said the attendance last week was larger than it was this week, this being due to the great number of other attractions in the city.

The annual ball given by Chief Marshal George L. Morton at the Capitol Club last night was as brilliant as any of the many given here. The Chief Marshal and about 40 of his assistants were present. The Chief Marshal presented his regalia to Miss Hal Newland of New Bern. He also presented souvenirs in the way of hand painted fans, and hat pins. The Chief Marshal was presented with a watch, with a suitable inscription by the assistant marshals.

W. P. Whittaker, of the Raleigh Morning Post won the cup presented by George E. Lyon of Durham, as the best shot in the State at clay pigeons. He is the champion of North Carolina, having broken 88 out of 100 pigeons. He has to hold the cup against all comers for two years.

Farmers Attention!

The American and Imperial Tobacco Companies have instructed their buyers to refuse all tobacco not properly graded. This order is effective every where and will be obeyed to the letter. The grading by the farmers will insure them better prices and will make the handling at the local market and by the manufacturer much easier. Tobacco growers should heed this suggestion and act accordingly.

SKILLFUL WORKMEN, ALL.

Eighteen of Kinston's J. O. U. A. M's struck the good city of Elms Friday night and hammered out from certain crude material found here twenty or more finely finished specimens which they were pleased to accept as fellow craftsmen.

In fact such mysterious tinkering was done throughout the long and dark hours, but eighteen happy, beaming faces showed up promptly at train time yesterday morning looking none the worse because of their toilsome labors. Nineteen faces as it were, for did not the mascot, that polished bit of ebony with the iron settings out, "Old Greek" was just as happy as the most skillful master mechanic in the push.

The visiting mechanics were all from the glass city of Kinston, and only a glancing at the "soaps" will justify the belief that something was certainly doing.

They were—W. E. Perry, H. D. Harper Jr., L. B. Sutton, T. H. Grady, C. R. Spear, W. M. Basaly, John Rhodes, Ben Nance, R. A. Howard, C. S. Chamberlain, J. M. Howard, H. M. Basaly, Oland Ballard, R. Z. Nunn, W. A. Jordan, M. F. Basaly, Z. A. Clayton and Ozylis Hunter.

Whittaker's White Lock.

As long as the name of James McNeill Whittaker lives among those who saw him it will recall the famous white lock which stood out so conspicuously from the mass of his black hair. It was, as he used to say himself, "well placed," and was always treated from the harmonious point of view, to develop its greatest effect in his appearance. One day when Dorothy Menpes, daughter of the well known English artist, Mortimer Menpes, was a baby and was asleep on her pillow, Whittaker went to see her. A white feather had by chance settled on her head and lay in a spot exactly corresponding with the white lock on his own head. "That child is going to develop into something great," he exclaimed. "For, see, she begins with a feather, just like me!"

WASHINGTON LETTER

[Special Correspondence.]

The annual report of the operations of the dead letter office for the fiscal year ended June 30 has been prepared and will be embodied in the forthcoming report of First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne. The report states that it is made to appear that there has been a large and steady increase in its annual receipts, which is due, it is stated, to the great and constant increase in the volume of matter passing through the mails.

The total receipts for the year were something over 10,000,000 pieces, the largest in the history of the office, exceeding those of the preceding year by some 850,000 pieces. Of the aggregate number 8,895,205 pieces were opened.

The money found in opened letters amounted to $48,934, but this sum included money, generally coin, found loose in the mails or in post offices and consigned to the dead letter office. Commercial paper found, such as drafts, checks, money orders, etc., represented a face value of $1,493,063. The number of merchandise parcels received was 254,580, which were returned to the owners as far as possible. Photographs were found in 219,955 letters and parcels. Letters which contained postage numbered 249,855. The domestic misdirected letters received numbered 544,201. There were 131,082 letters held for postage.

North Entrance Closed.

The north front entrance to the White House has been again closed to the public, not to be opened except for the president, his family and friends until the presidential family take their next protracted vacation out of the city.

The thousands of tourists who visited the White House while the president and his family were at Oyster Bay not only entered by the north door, which was closed all winter, but also had the range of the entire first floor and basement without the trouble of getting a pass. All of the house but the east room and lower corridors and dressing rooms are now closed.

Hereafter entrance will be by way of the east wing opposite the treasury department.

Changes in the Hall of the House.

Extensive improvements at the capitol have been in progress ever since the dissolution of the Fifty-seventh congress, some of these having been undertaken two years ago, but Superintendent Woods says that the capitol will be ready for congress by the 1st of November. The Fifty-eighth congress will be composed of 386 representatives and four delegates, an increase of thirty over the membership of the last congress.

The hall of the house has been so arranged as to seat 200 members on each side of the main aisle. The new desks are ready to put in place.

The speaker's lobby has been finely frescoed by Roberman, a pupil of Breindel, who for many years was engaged on the decorations of the capitol, including the dome.

Post Office Committee Chairmanship.

Formal announcement is made that Representative John H. Ketcham of New York is to succeed Eugene P. Loud as chairman of the post office committee of the house. This committee is expected to be one of the most important during the next congress, as it will conduct the investigation of the postal scandals which, it is generally understood, congress will order. Ketcham does not want the place. He is seventy-one years old and the ranking member of the committee. Congressman Smith of Illinois stands next to Ketcham, but Mr. Cannon decided he could not appoint him chairman because Illinois already has its share of chairmanships.

Necessary Department Employees.

The treasury department has promulgated regulations governing the appointment of unskilled laborers in that department. The regulations vary little from those that have been in existence, there being added the order of President Roosevelt that the element of age shall be omitted in case of soldiers and sailors of the civil war and their fitness decided by their physical qualifications, moral character, industry and adaptability for manual labor.

Didn't Need a Doctor.

"Glad to see you, Rixey, but we don't need a doctor." That was President Roosevelt's hearty greeting to Surgeon General Rixey of the army, the White House physician, on his return to the hospital. As he spoke he waved his hand toward the Roosevelt carriage, filled with healthful members of his family. The president was well bronzed and appeared to be in excellent health. Mrs. Roosevelt, too, and the children, with the exception of Miss Alice, were greatly improved by their trip. Miss Alice, on the other hand, seemed thinner than when she got away. Too many social engagements during the summer may account for that.

Plans for the Philippines.

The Philippine bureau of agriculture has forwarded to the bureau of insular affairs, war department, a report on the introduction and distribution of seeds and plants in the islands, which shows that much has been done in the way of introducing new food and forage plants as well as new fruits and their growths of economical value. The experiments already conducted demonstrate that many garden vegetables of European origin may be grown in great profusion in the Philippines.

Land For New House Building.

The commissioners appointed to acquire the lands embraced in the site of the building for the committee rooms, folding rooms and other offices of the house of representatives reported that the total value of the land is $21,000, which is $8,000 less than the appropriation therefor.

MEXICAN HOUSES.
Little Wood Used in Them, and They Are Practically Fireproof.
There is a minimum of wood used for house construction in the cities of Mexico, and there is absolutely nothing to burn except what furnishings the houses may contain. The walls are solidly built of stone and brick, the less costly structures of adobe, which are thickly plastered inside, and out with mortar or stucco. The floors are of brick, stone or tile, while the roofs are of brick laid in mortar of in some cities of semi-cylindrical clay tiles. Many roofs are arched with brick laid flat, not on edge, and it is marvelous how slight a curve some of these arches have. Yet they support heavy weights and have lasted through centuries.
Flat roofs are supported by 6 by 6 inch heavy pine joists placed eight inches apart. These joists are often twenty feet in length. The floors are heavy, hanging upon ornamented wrought strap hinges and secured by strong, hand-made locks, which have remarkably large complicated keys. Practically the only wood used in construction is for the doors and joists which support the roof. The church roofs are invariably of brick arches, usually several arches in each. There are no such fire traps in Mexico as those mansard roofs of French and American cities or the frail dwellings of China or the universal wooden structures which have made fire insurance so great a burden in the United States and which cause so great and continuous expenditures for fire protection.—Arboretum.
