VOICES FROM THE WEST.

The action of the State Republican and the State ticket it named, has been received by the Democratic press by varying degrees of criticism, but generally the convention has been laughed at gation and its wants. and ridiculed, as the usual farcial political performance, of an impassible party seeking impossible, for them, recogniat the polls.

The Citizen says:

"The nomination is the culminination of a sagacious party policy which was inaugurated several years ago by Senator Pritchard, and which had for its ojbect the building up of a strong at home, local interests and the inter-Republican organization in the western part of this State. That policy has so far been uncomfortably successful, and it has been aided by the apparent neglect of the situation by those who have controlled the management of the Democratic party. The result has been that that Republican party has been gaining strength in the west, while the Democratic party has little more than held its own. Unless these facts are heeded by the second of the Democratic party has little more than held its own. those who direct the policy of the Dem-ocratic party in this State. "The nomination of Clarles J Harris of Dilisboro as a candidate on the Republican ticket for Governor of North Carolina has been the subject of much conventation among politicians of both the political parties here since the convention at Greenboro. The universal opinion seems to be that the Republicans nominated the very best man for the place, and then when the returns are in next November it will be found that the candidate on the Republican ticket will have so materially reduced the Democratic majority of four years ago as to place North Carolina in the column of doubtful states. Mr Harris, known business ability, his clean and exemplary record as a private citizen and his interests in North Carolina es an individual are important factors in his favor, and the Republicans are jubilant over his nomination. "The nomination of Clarles J Harris

How Celluloid is Made. Celluloid, the chemical com which bears so close a resemblance to ivory, is a mixture of collodion and campbor, invented in 1855 by Perkesine of Birmingham, whose name for a time it bore. The process of manufacture is as follows: Cigarette paper is soaked in a mixture of nitric and sulphuric in a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acids until it becomes nitrocellulose. After thorough washing, to free it from the acida, this cellulose is dried, mixed with a certain quantity of camphor, and coloring matter if required, and then passed through a roller mill. It is next formed into thin sheets by hydraulic pressure and afterward broken up by toothed rollers and soaked for some hours in alcohol. A further pressure and a hot rolling process faith it, and results in ivory-like sheets half an inch thick.

HEALTHY MOTHERS.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And sented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's why should this dangerous cendition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child when Dr. Boschee's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house-for its timely use will promtly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedly cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. Nearly Sad.

A newspaper in a small country town not far from New York employs a reporter whose knowledge of English idioms is somewhat uncertain. He was assigned recently to report the sudden death of an important local citizen, and after describing the circumstances leading up to it he re-ferred to the sadness of the bereavement sustained by the family. "The widow," he concluded, "is almost grief stricken."-Harper's Weekly.

A Sure Thing It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not alto-gether true. Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for al lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs C B VanMetre and test times greater then any other of Shepherdtown, W. Va, says: "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It's infallible for Cronp, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consump-tion. Try it. Its guaranteed by C D Bradham, Druggist. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes 50c, $1.
