CONDITIONS MUST AGREE WITH ADVERTISEMENTS.

Municipal advertising is attracting some discussion in the press, and the comments on some sides would indicate that such advertising was something new, and as if towns and cities were just beginning the exploitation of their special advantages to outsiders.

In some ways municipal advertising is new, but the scheme of local booming a place is not new, and has hitherto been the form of advertising which has developed many places from villages into cities, and in some instances through its over booming has brought ruin to many investors who bought upon speculative chances, only, and without a consideration of any true or solid foundation for the price paid.

But municipal advertising in this day is conducted upon business principles, there is publicity but not of the boom kind, which is usually largely a word of mouth, but the advertising in its declarations has the actual conditions to warrant everything said.

As the merchant must have the wares to make good his advertising assertions in the newspapers, so must the municipality be able to show the investor that it has the resources to make good the investment which the outsider is asked to take. Industrial and commercial resources are offered as special advantages why the outside investor should buy property or go into mercantile trade.

There may be business reasons, and sound ones, which will make a city an attractive place for the man with money, and the same place may prove through local conditions lacking in many essentials which will detract from its commercial advantages.

The public demand is today that municipalities shall have not only attractive business opportunities, but that the twentieth century comforts, once held as luxuries must be part of the commercial attractions. Good and well kept roads, well lighted streets, good water in abundance, a local administration of public affairs which is progressive and safe, ample fire protection, and a people who are united for local improvements, are some required local conditions necessary so that the outside investor can feel that his money is safely entrusted in a community possessing advantages making it profitable and well protected.

THE OLD QUESTION OF OYSTER PROTECTION.

In the local columns of the Journal has been noted the fact of the beginning of the oyster season in this section, the fine quality of the oyster, and the probable large increase in quantity of oysters to be marketed compared with the season of 1908-4.

The prospects for the oyster yield this season, its increase over last is due to the bad weather of last winter which as stated the oyster growth, as it prevented the usual depletion of the oyster beds, as the storms were too severe for the oyster gatherers to secure their harvest.

But while the outlook at present for the oyster trade is most hopeful, the Journal has information that the old trouble, the ruthless and unscrupulous harvesting of oysters is already begun, that oysters are being taken up without sorting and regardless of size, and as each lot is hauled up, it is dumped in its entirety into the waiting boat, and carried ashore.

This means that the oyster beds are being ruined, for it does not take long with such predatory work, to practically take up the bottom of the oyster beds, leaving nothing for seed, and which now crop of oysters can be grown. It might be asked where are the State's inspectors while this is taking place? That is the question, they are not within the oyster beds.

up the oyster beds, or these people might be prevented. It may be that politics engage these inspectors, any way the depredations are reported, and the State's oyster industry is being ruined.

It is to be hoped that the next Legislature will be made to see the great importance of protecting the State's oyster industry, so that this source of wealth may be kept for all time, a year's resources of great value, instead of being ruined by a few persons for the sake of a few dollars today, when with care the oyster might be made an un-fading source of profit to the people of this section and a revenue to the State for all time.

It is the old issue for Eastern Carolina, are the legitimate oyster and fish interests to be properly and justly preserved, and what will the next Legislature do about it?

THREE NOTABLE REPRESENTATIVES TO BE ELECTED.

The people of this city and section can well feel a pride in voting for the three Democratic nominees, Congressman Charles R. Thomas, to succeed himself. Owen H. Guion, Esq., for a member of the General Assembly, from Craven county. David L. Ward, Esq. for member of State Senate.

Charles R. Thomas has made a Congressional record in Washington and in the House of Representatives, second to none of those who have gone from North Carolina. It has been a record of personal high character. As a representative, it has been a record of faithfulness in official life, fidelity to the interests of his constituents, with no political animosities mixed in, favoring of favoritism. It has been a political record of unwavering and non-temporizing democracy.

Owen H. Guion has already made an enviable record in the office to which he will be his own successor. His services at home have been no less worthy of respect and commendation, than were his services at the State's capital in the last General Assembly. His brilliant speeches, and the high character of his positions in all debates, have been recognized and he is a leading candidate for the honor of the next House Speakership, in the Assembly.

David L. Ward has been honored at home with positions of honor and trust. He has been in his party, not a worker because of possible rewards of office, but because he sought the success of those principles which his party stood for. He has been valiant in the fighting ranks, and his election to the State Senate is an honor he is worthy of for his party services, and in mental ability and personal character he will do credit to the State in serving in the next Legislature.

The people who will have the opportunity of voting for these three candidates can have the satisfaction of voting for not mere party candidates, but for men who are in touch with all the people, and whose election means added respect for the section and districts they will represent in their respective offices.

SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT

Of North Sea Outrage. British Cruisers Shadow Russian Fleet.

London, Oct. 28.—There is an absence of official news this morning regarding the situation caused by the Russian Baltic fleet firing on the British fishermen, but the atmosphere is rapidly clearing and it is believed Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary, will be able to announce at the cabinet meeting today that a settlement of the difficulty is in sight.

London, Oct. 28.—At the Russian embassy the following statement was issued: "We are in constant communication with the British government and as a result of these communications the embassy hopes there will be a speedy and satisfactory settlement. The whole aspect of the situation has decidedly improved."

London, Oct. 28.—A dispatch to the Central News from Gibraltar says the British cruisers have left here heading westward. It is believed their destination is Tangiers. A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says the cruisers have left Gibraltar for Vigo, Spain, where the Russian Baltic fleet is now at anchor.

FROM GEORGIA.

C. C. Bowen, Attorney-at-Law, Dalton, Ga. To Fincher & Nichols

"Have just finished painting three of my houses with L. & M. Paint. It covers about twice as much surface as expected. Had no idea that cost of paint would be so small. Always give me L. & M."

Actual cost of Longman Martin's L. & M. Paint less than $1.00, or gallon. Wears and covers like gold. Sold by Hyman Supply Co.

VIOLATORS OF LAW.

Hunters Cannot Wait Date For Bird Shooting.

Governor Aycock Busy on Stamp. Educational Day at Colored Fair.

Applications For Admission To Soldiers Home. Penitentiaries Increase.

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—Governor Aycock, after making a strong political speech here last night before a great audience, left at 4 o'clock this morning for Pittsboro, to make another speech. He goes tomorrow to Henderson, for the same purpose.

Today was educational day at the State Colored Fair here. Yesterday the numbers of visitors reached three thousand.

It is learned that there are violations of the law against shooting partridges before November 1. It is said that within two miles of Raleigh hot hunters have been killing birds for several weeks.

The number of rural free delivery carriers today reached the high figure of 785. A number more will be put on before the year ends.

Secretary T. K. Bruner of the State Board of Agriculture who expected to return to St. Louis to wind up some work connected with the Exposition says he will not do so, but will remain here.

Over 61 applications for admission to the Soldiers Home are now on file and the Superintendent expects a number more to come in.

One of the questions which is being asked, is whether the legislature will increase the amount of pensions. Though there is a considerable increase in the number of pensioners, yet the fund has not been enlarged.

Some farmers in this section say they have practically completed the picking of the cotton crop, but the majority of them have not done so, but on the contrary have much yet in the field.

The Wilmington Stamp Works Company is authorized to increase its capital stock from $2500 to $35,000.

The number of newspapers in this State is 292, with a total circulation of 688,526. Of them 196 are Democratic, 15 Republican, 21 Independent, and 2 Populist.

News in a Nutshell.

Former Gov. Geo. K. Nash dropped dead at the home of his stepdaughter, Mrs. Worthington E. Babcock, Columbus. O. Governor Nash had been in ill health for over a year, having been stricken with heart trouble and other complications while governor of Ohio.

The most terrific explosion in the history of coal mining in Colorado occurred at mine No. 3 of the Rocky Mountain Fuel & Iron Company at Terrio, forty miles due west of Trinidad, the number of dead is placed at between thirty and sixty.

A receiver was appointed for the steamship company that owned the General Slocum.

Alex. Kiss, a one-armed and one-legged wife murderer, was hanged at Newton, N. J.

Crazed by the pain of pulling a tooth, Benjamin Kling attacked a New York dentist and almost wrecked the office.

The long protracted drought in Mississippi has caused such a scarcity of water in the rural districts that many cotton gins have been compelled to close down, while others are hauling water many miles in order to supply their engines.

Over a greater portion of the State there has been no rain for seventy-two days.

The new underground railway in New York City was opened with formal ceremonies at the City Hall Thursday.

It was reported that the Union Pacific had secured an option on the Great Western Railway.

Miss Mary Worth Bagley, of a noted North Carolina family, being penniless committed suicide in New York.

Five men "beating a rifle" on a Wash freight train were killed in Illinois.

The State troops were withdrawn from Berkeley, the scene of the lynching of the negro Blount last Monday, and all is quiet.

Representatives of nations of the torrid zone who have been showing themselves on the "Fike" at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, at St. Louis find the weather too disagreeable for them, and quite a number are returning home.

Saves Two From Death. "Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by C. D. Bradham. Trial bottle free.

INSURANCE

COMPLICATION

Over Adjustment of Fire Loss At Hamlet.

Col. Whitford at Raleigh. State Bird and Game Warden. Arrangements Announced. State Officials Absent. Ransom Monument Fund.

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—Among today's visitors was Col. John D. Whitford, of New Bern, who was so long in public life as the president of the Atlantic & North Carolina railway. He looks extremely well, having changed so little in 20 years that the change is not noticed.

In the Superior court here a case involving the insurance at the great fire at Hamlet last year, which destroyed the cotton compress and warehouses and a quantity of cotton is on trial, seven insurance companies figuring in it. There is to be another suit and a very important one by Englishmen, to whom a lot of the cotton had been sold, this being against the Seaboard Air Line for loss. There is yet another suit against the same road for $40,000 damages for the death of Mr. Wilson, who was in charge of the compress, and who was burned to death. There are many lawyers in these suits and all are being warmly contested.

The postmaster is notified that some changes in rural free delivery carriers have been made, these being as follows: Jacksonville, William Watts, vice O. B. Jarman, resigned. Monroe, Thomas A. Price, vice L. A. Sprague, resigned; One Hill, M. J. Ellis vice, William T. Ellis, who was killed in the great train wreck near Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 24th, while on his way home from the St. Louis Exposition; Washington H. B. Leggett vice, F. M. Hodges, resigned.

On the 15th of November Miss Rosa Battle, the youngest daughter of Hon. Richard H. Battle is to be married here to Dr. Robert D. Miller of Goldsboro.

Today, upon the recommendation of Secretary Gilbert Pearson of the Audubon Society of North Carolina, the Governor commissioned the following persons as State bird and game warden: James A. Justice, Rutherford; F. S. Hill, Pittsboro; J. S. L. Powell, Warsaw; W. D. Joyner, Rocky Mount; E. H. Freeman, Wilmington; A. E. Garrett, Winston; Samuell A. Cooper of Knotts Island and Nathan Owens of Jarvisburg, both for Currituck county. These are not county wardens. There are really no county wardens in the service. They are all State officers and may be sent to any part of North Carolina as directed from Mr. Pearson's office at Greensboro. Wardens receive $2.50 a day and expenses during those days when they are actually and necessarily on duty prosecuting violators of the law or attending to the other duties of their office. Of course they are expected to keep things well under control in their own county and the edges of the surrounding counties all the time. The wardens are working hard. A report has been received of a conviction in Bertie county, where warden Dunstan presented a man, who was convicted of killing deer out of season.

At the Methodist Orphanage here tomorrow afternoon two bells, are to be blessed, this ceremony being known as the baptism of the bells. It will be quite elaborate and a number of Raleigh people will go out to witness the ceremony, never before seen here.

Democratic State Chairman Simmons is greatly pleased with the political conditions in the State, and has returned here very bright and enthusiastic. He is certainly a drawing card as a speaker as his audiences show.

The absence of news in the various State departments is very marked. Newspaper people wander here and there but find nothing going on except the dull routine work. Today there were only two heads of department on hand—Commissioner of agriculture Patterson and chairman McNeill of the corporation commission. Everybody else is on the political warpath except the State Treasurer who is in Arizona for his health, and who, by the way is improving rapidly after his severe attack of asthma, and can now sleep well at night.

In a little while the Alumni of the State University will get at work to raise the fund for the statue of Senator Ransom which they and the Confederate Veterans desire to see placed in the Capital square on the north side, where there is a very fine situation for it. Everybody is very much in earnest about the State. It ought to be no trouble at all to get the money and quickly too. Ransom was much more than a State character, he was a national one, a wonderful man, no matter how you take him. The writer was very much gratified by Gen. Ransom's visit to the Hall of History which he greatly admired and the next time he came he brought with him and presented the beautiful sword given him by the First North Carolina Infantry, when he was its Lieut. Colonel.

Many special cars took out to the colored fair yesterday the hundreds of students from Shaw University, colored, which is one of the largest negro institutions in the country. All were well dressed, both sexes being represented, and everybody wore the college colors. There were 7000 people at the fair.

At the home of Mr. Joseph B. Bonshall here, a dinner was given to Mr. Geo. C. Heck formerly of Raleigh, now of New York and to his Successor Miss Helen Brock of Philadelphia. Mr. Heck is a brother of Mrs. Bonshall, and is a son of the late Col. J. M. Heck.

A FEW INTERESTING FACTS.

About The Recently Completed Subway in New York City.

The opening of the great New York subway last Thursday was an event of historical interest. It will be classed among the most gigantic feats of engineering yet undertaken.

We give in the brief paragraph below a few facts and figures concerning the construction of this wonderful underground railway system:

The length of the tunnel is 23 miles. Total cost $40,000,000, cost of Brookly extension, $10,000,000, cost of equipment, $18,000,000; contract awarded Jan. 15, 1900; work begun March 25, 1900; five miles of system on viaduct; 48 stations on entire system; in the work 130 lives were lost; actual time spent in work, 1375 days; average number of men employed per day, 4661. Men employed in operation, about 5,000. Estimated passenger annually $18,400,000. Excess annually estimated $11,000,000. Rates train speed, 45 miles an hour; local train speed 25 miles an hour.

World's Visible Supply of Cotton.

New Orleans, Oct. 28.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton issued today shows the total visible to be 2,927,140 against 2,690,892 last week and 2,344,742 last year. Of this the total of American cotton is 2,456,140 against 2,308,813 last week and 1,867,743 last year, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 471,000 against 489,000 last week and 477,000 last year. Of the world's visible supply of cotton there is now almost held in Great Britain and Continental Europe 1,490,000 against 1,181,000 last year; in Egypt 100,000 against 89,000 last year; in India 190,000 against 177,000 last year, and in the United States 1,181,900 against 898,000 last year.

Letter to F. M. Chadwick.

New Bern, N. C.
Dear Sir: There is endless discussion about barytes in paint. Perhaps this settles the question.

Two houses exactly alike at Delbi, N. Y.; the owner of both is Mr. N. Avery. One was recently painted Devor; the other with a barytes paint; same painter did both jobs; his name is George Gilbert.

One cost $37; the other $34. The first took 6 gallons; the other 18. Six gallons Devor, as to covering, equals twelve of the other.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devor & Co.

School Children in North Carolina.

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—Statistics just completed in the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction show that there are 658,000 children of school age in the State; 461,639 white; 201,547 colored and 1,825 Croatan Indians. The State distributed January 1, $100,000 among the counties for the public school. This has been on the basis of 14.07 cents to each child.

IRVING NO POLITICIAN.

Surprise of the Author at Receiving a Public Position.

President Andrew Jackson in 1820 appointed Washington Irving secretary of the American legation at London. This yielded a salary of $2,500. Irving was at the Alhambra in Spain when Colonel Thomas Aspinwall, United States consul at London, sent him official advice of his appointment. Irving replied in the following letter:

Alhambra, July 22, 1820.
My Dear Colonel—I have just been surprised by things of my appointment as secretary of legation at London, an office as unexpected as unasked for by me as that of pope at Rome. It has been equally unsolicited by my friends. I confess I have felt great repugnance to enter into the business and bustle of the world and to lay myself under any restraint or responsibility.

An offer like this breaks in upon the quiet, retired literary life in which I have so long indulged. My brothers and my intimate friends, however, are unanimous in urging me to accept, and I have complied with their wishes.

I shall disengage myself, therefore, as soon as possible from my occupations and engagements in Spain and push for London as rapidly as the hot weather will permit. I hope to eat an English breakfast with you toward the end of August. You need not address any more letters to me to Spain after the receipt of this.

With kindest remembrances to Mrs. Aspinwall and the young folks, for whom I shall endeavor to bring some marvellous stories, I am, my dear Aspinwall, yours ever,
WASHINGTON IRVING.

Martin Van Buren was secretary of state and signed Irving's commission. Probably he never would have been appointed secretary of the legation if it had not been for his older brother, John T. Irving, judge of the court of common pleas in New York city in 1820.

Washington Irving a short time before his appointment as secretary of legation had received $15,000 for his "Columbus." He immediately invested it in a steamboat enterprise and lost it. Judge Irving thought it might be a good thing if he had something in the shape of a regular income, and he used his influence to have him appointed secretary.—New York Tribune.

General admission will be one dollar.

The Emancipation of a Slave. A well known Church of England missionary among the aborigines of Queensland, Australia, gained great influence over a certain tribe in a very peculiar manner. This tribe had the queer custom of having the front tooth of the upper jaw knocked out. The missionary by accident had lost this same tooth and replaced it by a false one. When he got talking with the aborigines, he would pull it out, point to the hollow place and say, "Me, brother, belong to you!" In this way he gained the complete confidence of the tribe, converted every member of it to Christianity and introduced as much civilization as they were capable of assimilating.

Everything Here Short. The late M. A. Lower, the antiquary, is responsible for this Lullington anecdote.

One Sunday morning the curate, a man of diminutive stature, preached from the shortest text in the Bible, "Jesus wept," to a congregation of a dozen people, and the oratory realized only 18 pence, whereupon a stranger remarked that it was the smallest church, the smallest congregation, the smallest parson, the shortest text and the smallest collection he had ever known.—Westminster Gazette.

SOME SEASONABLE ADVICE.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that none should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by all druggists.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know that there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, croup and whooping it is unsurpassed.
