Office Washington, D. C., July 3 .- The great count of the cash in the Treasury has begun. A force of 60 Treasury employees, most of them experts, are taking an inventory of the $1,152,818,725 in the 13 cash vaults.

July 1st Morgon H. Treat, of New York, took the oath of office as Treasurer. He had already qualified in a bond of $150,000, the largest bond given by any official of the United States Government, except the sub-Treasurer at New York, who is compelled to furnish bond in the sum of $400,000.

The retiring Treasurer believes his affairs are in such good shape that the count can be completed in the three months, although when he came into office the count lasted nearly three times as long, being the longest count on record.
