CITIZENS' PRIDE IN MUNICIPAL DEVELOPMENT.

The loyalty of a citizenship to its municipality, has its foundation laid by the local effort which a citizenship makes to develop and build up its municipality.

It is by local effort and endeavor that cities are built, and those who have aided in this building cannot but feel a pride in themselves when the results assume such proportions, as the town evolving from the village, the city from the town, and the metropolis from the city.

Men who have lived and grown old in such cities as Chicago, St. Paul, Denver, Atlanta and a score and more that might be mentioned, can well boast of their cities, and when away from home may point with a just pride, and exult in what they have done assisting to make such cities.

And opposed to these wonderful cities, the products of the genius of men who did not fear work or personal sacrifice in order to accomplish things, look at the hundreds of shiftless and thriftless little towns and cities, whose citizens when away, are ashamed to say that they came from them and will register from their State, not city.

Look over these cities whose people are ashamed to acknowledge them and it will in most instances be found that the citizens are themselves to blame, that they have been selfish, not patriotic, and instead of displaying any public spirit have sought the personal gain without joining any community of interests which might inspire a local development that would be a credit and profit to every citizen.

Make the local application, what can the citizen of New Bern boast of his city? What has its citizenship joined efforts in, making public parks, fine city and county roads, hospitals for those needing care, or what public institutions may be named whose creation has been the work of a joint citizenship endeavor?

Poor indeed is a citizenship which has nothing to take pride in, much less boast of to its neighbors and the world.

JOYS OF THE SUMMER STAY-AT-HOME.

Naturally in these dull and perspiring July days, when it seems as if the majority of people belonged to the happy class that could go away, to the sea-shore or the mountains, wherever they wanted to, it is at this period that the person who has no choice of going away, in fact must remain at home, it is at this period of the summer that the person stay-at-home is apt to feel blue and a much abused individual, one whom the fates have willed must remain to fret and fry under the hot rays of old Sol, when others can bathe in the salt waves or be cooled to an intense coolness in the shade of the mountain pines.

To stay-at-home is not so bad, except as a matter of Hobson's choice, but it is just that, absolutely no chance of going away which is apt to cause the heart burnings, and to provoke an enmity against one's more fortunate fellow, male and female, feelings which ought not to arise at any time, much less when the temperature rises and keeps standing at 90 to 100 degrees in shaded places.

But existence of the Summer stay-at-home, needs not be wholly joyless. In this city, for instance, while it may be dull, yet the person of any natural resourcefulness may find a number of things to gladden even a hot July or August.

It is not that every hour in the twenty-four hours be filled, with something, but there are the early mornings and late afternoons when the temperature is not unbearable for active sports, and for the more quiet pleasures, such as bathing, fishing and launch parties, scarcely a day but these may be enjoyed.

Then it is not so very lonely here, even through the personal column may record the departure of enough people to seemingly depopulate the city. There is always the summer visitor to New Bern, largely of the feminine, and here is added pleasure which the Summer stay-at-home finds not least a source of joy, which makes even the hottest evening pass all too quickly.

There are joys for the Summer stay-at-home, if he or she will seek them, and the summer need not become an uncomfortable period, unless those who have to remain at home permit themselves to see only the dust and heat, and magnify distant pleasures, when there are those at hand which may easily make short the longest summer day.

THE QUALITY OF THE IMMIGRANT

The Manufacturers Record in a recent issue has a number of pages devoted exclusively to Difficulties of the Labor Problem in Southern Industries, the Record asking questions on the labor situation of men prominent in leading industries, and giving their replies.

Naturally these replies treat largely of the negro, and briefly summed up they are:

The negro as a class is tending to become less efficient as a laborer, and inefficiency adds to the acuteness of the shortage of supply.

That immigration is an all important question in the matter of southern development, both on the farm and in the factory, needs no discussion, for it is self-evident to every one in this section.

But while the immigrant is so much wanted, there will be found in his coming a serious menace and ultimate loss to this section, unless there be extreme care exercised in the quality of the immigrant, whether he comes as a pauper and ignorant, or comes with some means and intelligence which will enable him to gain a livelihood that shall be fully self-sustaining, and even more, shall also make savings possible.

A most important feature besides the personal capacity of the immigrant for work, is his mental and moral status, which shall place him in the ranks of the voters, for in no section of the country, as in the South, is the possible political status of the new comer so important in its bearing on existing social and educational issues.

It is because of this that the Italian and the peoples from Poland and Hungary are not wanted. These men may easily become citizens through the manipulation of the bosses who bring them, and with the franchise can be voted as easily as they are taken to work the pick or the shovel or in the factory. This means a new disturbing element which have to be dealt with, as well as the negro, and if the treatment demanded radical efforts, it is not hard to see that serious results would follow, and the loss be far greater than the gain which the immigrant brought as a laborer.

The continued going out of the negro from the South will soon eliminate the race as a social, political or industrial factor; and when that time arrives, the immigrant question as to quality will be so serious a one as it is today, although it will be well if there ever be care and discrimination above in bringing the immigrant to the South.

Cured of Bright's Disease.
Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmore, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease. For sale by Davis' Pharmacy."

TOO MUCH RAIN

But Weather Generally Favorable for Crops.

Secretary of State's Chief Clerk Quite Sick. Grand Lodges Masons of State to be Visited by Grand Secretary.

Raleigh, July 25.—Geo. W. Norwood, chief clerk to the Secretary of State continues very ill of typhoid fever. This is the fourteenth day and his fever still lingers around 104. His oldest son eighteen years old is also suffering from the same disease but is improving.

Mr. A. V. Dockery of this city has written President Roosevelt suggesting that he should confer the rank of "admiral" on John Paul Jones, now that the remains of this hero are deposited on American soil. He says that to promote this dead man will jump no superiors, or entail any expense but will cause additional inspiration to duty and patriotism on the part of the youth of the land. He pointed out the fact that the Japanese honor their dead in this way. President Roosevelt has replied that such action on his part would require a special act of Congress.

Grand Secretary B. H. Woodell of the North Carolina Grand Lodge of Masons has started out on a systematic visitation to the lodges throughout the State with a view to quickening the work of the order and increasing the membership. He is now on a visitation to Greensboro, Lexington, Salisbury, Charlotte and other points in the western part of the State.

The North Carolina weekly crop bulletin issued today says: Too much rain continues in a few counties, chiefly in the extreme west. On the whole were injured by rains which caused weedy growth; dry weather caused considerable improvement in the growing crop, and made curing easier; cutting and curing will be general within a week. Peanuts, sweet potatoes, field peas and gardens were benefited by the period of dry weather. Some turnip and rutabaga seeds have been sown and are coming up nicely. Oat harvest is nearly over in the extreme west, in which section oats and wheat were considerably damaged in shock by wet weather; thrashing wheat continues with good yields in only a few counties. Some hay was cut and cured early in the week, but the season had not generally been favorable for this work, though very favorable for the growth of the crop. Apples and peaches are ripening rapidly, but there is much complaint of fruit rotting and falling from the trees.

Progress At The Hospital.

Work on the hospital at the old fair ground is being pushed rapidly and it is probable the building will be ready for use within 60 days. The wood work and plastering are about completed and the rooms are being adjusted to the requirements of such an institution. Contracts for plumbing and heating have been made and none but the best service will be employed under either contract.

A WAY OPEN

Many a New Bern Reader Knows It Well.
There is a way open to convince the greatest skeptic. Scores of New Bern people have made it possible. The public statement of their experience is proof of the like of which has never been produced before in New Bern. Read this case of it given by a citizen:

Resignation of Norwegian Cabinet.

Stockholm, July 25.—The cabinet has resigned. A special committee of the Riksdag, dealing with the crisis which created a revolution in Norway today, delivered a report declaring unanimously that the government bill cannot be in an adopted form which was presented to the Riksdag and proposes that the Riksdag shall signify a willingness to negotiate with Norway for the dissolution of the union. If the newly elected Storting requests the repeal of the act of the union and dissolution of the union.

ASHES OF JOHN PAUL JONES

Rest On American Soil. Tri-Color of France Entwined With Stars and Stripes At Funeral Services.

Annapolis, Md., July 24.—The body of John Paul Jones is now the possession of the United States. Today it rests on an American soil, housed temporarily in an unpretentious vault in the center of the grounds of the naval academy and near the unfinished chapel, in whose crypt later it is to find honored repose, a perpetual inspiration to the young men of the nation here trained in the arts of naval warfare.

The body was removed from the Brooklyn to the naval tug Standish and from that to a float moored to the shore, where stalwart jacksies placed it in a hearse, which was escorted by an imposing cortege of marines, sailors and midshipmen, in which the French nation participated with a landing party of officers and men from the French cruiser Jurien De La Graviere.

The Standish came alongside and made fast to the Brooklyn shortly before 9 o'clock. The body of the dead admiral was hoisted from its position on the "half deck" by a boat crane and carried to the starboard side, where another crane lowered it to the after deck of the tug.

Sixteen jacksies went over the side of the Brooklyn and placed the coffin on a catafalque, where it was recovered by the flag of General Porter, over which was spread the union jack. Then the sailors stood at attention in a square around the bier.

The unsheathed sword of John Paul Jones, now the property of Commander Nicholson, of the cruiser Tacoma, was laid on the coffin under constant guard of a marine.

Rear Admiral Sigbee and his ship officers came aboard the tug and the start for the shore was begun. The tug took its course down between the two columns of cruisers and battle-ships and as it was making this run, minute guns from every ship gave the fifteen gun salute.

As the body was being transferred the marines of the squadron, constituting one battalion and two battalions of sailors, were sent ashore in small boats towed by launches. These reached shore first and formed an imposing guard drawn up in double line on the sea wall of the basin of the naval academy. The Standish landed at a barge, over which an arch of American and French flags had been designed.

A hearse drawn by four black horses was in waiting, on either side of which were the honorary pall-bearers, on the right side being Rear Admiral Sands and Captains Tilley and Reeder, of Admiral Sigbee's fleet, on the left Captain Gervais, of the French cruiser, and Rear Admiral Davis and Captain Tausig.

At the extreme right of the line was the naval academy band, which rendered Chopin's funeral march as the body was placed in the hearse.

Around the vault a huge square was formed on three sides by the sailors and marines, the fourth being occupied by the hearse and midshipmen.

After the body had been removed from the hearse and placed on a carriage rested on a temporary wooden truck leading to the vault, Chaplain Clark, of the naval academy, assisted by Fleet Chaplain Bayard, read a portion of the Episcopal funeral service and offered prayer.

As the car was moved to the vault the band played a funeral march. After it had been placed in position a squad of marines fired three volleys, and taps were sounded by the buglers. The cortege was then dismissed.

Remains of Admiral Paul Jones

were landed at Annapolis and deposited in a temporary vault in the Naval Academy grounds.

CASTORIA
The Kind You Have Always Bought

The Glory of Maternity.
Nature, if left alone, will cure for itself, this might have been true at some pre-historic time, but since for ages it has not been left alone, but has been treated and fettered by the observation and mandates of society, it can no longer cure for itself.
At no time does the truth of this appeal to us more strongly than at that period of a woman's life when she is about to become a mother. Nature must be assisted at this crisis, and for this very contingency has been devised that the muscles and tissues imprisoned and weakened as they have been by the drags of our higher civilization, may fulfill without undue suffering and possible lasting harm, the functions for which the Creator intended them.
Mother's Friend by its kindly office softens and relaxes these parts and enables the mother to be, to pass through the parturient period and actual crisis with practically no suffering or actual pain and an easy delivery of her offspring. It is applied externally as a massage, and is a non-irritating, soothing, and most efficacious liniment. $1.00. All druggists. Our book "Motherhood" sent free on request.

TO CONTROL KOREA.

Is Part of Japanese Terms. Komura Arrives At New York.

New York, July 25.—Baron Jutro Komura, the Japanese peace plenipotentiary, accompanied by an extensive suite arrived today. The party came from Chicago on an eighteen hour train arriving at Jersey City at 9.25. The New York Japanese colony turned out en masse to greet the distinguished diplomat. The minister, Takahira was prominent among the crowd that gathered at the Twenty third street ferry. Cries of "Banzai" filled the air as the party made its way through the Japanese lining the sidewalk.

Komura drove to the Waldorf where a suite of twenty rooms was engaged. Komura said Japan would demand fair price for peace. His secretary said there is no "peace at any price, the sentiment in Japan is if we settle, it must be at a fair price."

Baron Komura authorized the following statement:
"At New York, we shall meet Minister Takahira from whom we expect to have word from President Roosevelt, inviting us to call either at Oyster Bay or Washington. We desire peace, yet are not over anxious, nor are we ever sanguine that the negotiations will be productive. A Japanese protectorate over Korea will open the way for Japanese immigration there, and divert it from this country."
