CONGESTED HOSPITALS

Governor, State Council and Superintendents Meet to Consider Question.

Raleigh, Nov. 15.—At the request of Superintendents McKee of the Central Hospital for the Insane, and Murphy of the Western Hospital, there was a conference this afternoon here, between them, Governor Glenn and his council of state, regarding the best means of remedying the congested condition of both hospitals. It was urged that arrangements be made by which certain patients may be sent to counties where they can have proper care, and curable patients needing prompt attention, may be sent to the Hospitals. The colony plan of treating patients is favored also, that of giving them work on farms.

Raised a Great Sum.

The appreciation with which Rev. Stuart was held in the hearts of the people was borne out at the men's meeting held on Tuesday night when over $300 was raised, without any special solicitation. The contribution was essentially a free will offering and the spontaneity with which it was given can be easily learned from the fact that it took only a few minutes to raise the money. The sum of $300 was pledged at the meeting but later contributions were handed in making the total amount of $1,114 of which $110 was raised at the women's meeting on Tuesday night.

Question What Public Institutions Does State Pay Insurance

Additional Insurance Placed on Colleges. R. M. Phillips Elected Secretary Chamber Commerce. Character Immigrants Desired For This State. Book For North Carolina Day at Schools.

Raleigh, Nov. 15.—Insurance Commissioner Young goes to Greensboro to increase the amount of insurance on the Normal and Industrial College for white women and on the negro Agricultural & Mechanical College, both of these having new buildings and requiring a new valuation. There is now $100,000 insurance on the Normal & Industrial College. This week Commissioner Young placed $51,000 more insurance on the Agricultural & Mechanical College at Raleigh, the amount having previously been $100,000. The question now comes up whether the premium on this additional sum is to be paid out of the State insurance fund of $10,000 or by the agricultural department. The law which appropriated $10,000 as an insurance fund excepted the penitentiary and the agricultural department, which are required to pay insurance on their own property and what they have in charge. The question now comes up and will be argued before the council of State Monday, whether the college is in charge of the Agricultural Department, Commissioner Young will go in a day or so to the State University to place more insurance on the buildings there. The amount of insurance at present is $250,000.

The Raleigh Chamber of Commerce has, as was predicted, elected Mr. R. M. Phillips, who was editor of the Morning Post here, its secretary, the salary being $1,200.00. The offices are in the building in which the grand lodge of Masons meet, these offices being shared by the local retail merchants association. It is hoped that the Industrial Club will also occupy the same quarters. In this suite of offices there are all sorts of conveniences for visitors to the city, including newspapers, writing desks, a special telephone service, etc., and all are welcomed there.

Your correspondent found that at the Chattanooga Immigration Convention or Conference, no man spoke so plainly in regard to the character of immigrants desired in North Carolina as Governor Glenn. He said that no immigrants were wanted here, except such as could inter-marry with the people, excluding all except the honest, law abiding, and type of people who make good citizens, to work in the field and in the shops. No governor took so strong a stand.

Pollocksville.

Nov. 15.
Winter is at last here, the thermometer this morning was down to 25° at this place.

The farmers are about done harvesting their crops, there is now but little cotton in the fields.

Mr. J. N. Foscoe, one of our most successful and professional farmers presented us with a half dozen sweet potatoes that filled a peck measure, 300 bushels of potatoes is a pretty good crop per acre.

There will be festival at the academy here Thanksgiving night, for the benefit of the new public school house, this is for the comfort of our children, so let's turnout and patronize it liberally. We hope all will come as we need their sympathy.

Miss Emma Spain is visiting Mrs. J. H. Bell at this place. They are now visiting friends in Onslow county.

Dr. O. J. Bender left for Stella, Swansboro and Marlines on professional business Monday.

Quite a number of our people have been attending the Stuart revival at New Bern and return praising him highly.

Remember J. B. Bender of Pollocksville will take your subscription for the New Bern Journal and any other leading paper you may want.

There will be two weddings in this county next week, on the 22nd at Oak Grove church, Mr. Dock McDaniel will be married to Miss Ada Hargett and at Trenton on the 23rd Mr. Charlie May will be married to Miss Corlie Rounce and several others will follow soon. Two couples we think from this place will be next in turn.

IMPORTANT CHARTERS

Granted By Secretary Of State To Corporations.

Governor Issues Thanksgiving Proclamation In Attractive Shape. Raleigh Industrial Club Addressed By Col. Fred Oles. State Fair Gets Big Thing For Privileges.

Raleigh, Nov. 16.—Governor Glenn issued his Thanksgiving Proclamation today. It is very handsome and it is unique in this respect, that it refers to the many advantages which the State has enjoyed during the year. The Governor has every reason to be proud of the blessings which have come to his Commonwealth, and he expresses his gratitude in no uncertain terms. The message will attract attention beyond question, and is in every way a credit to him.

This was a busy day at the Secretary of State's office, as charters were granted to some important corporations. These were the Lemanlee Cotton Mills Co., of Monroe, with $150,000 authorized capital stock, of which $65,000 is paid up, Charles Iceman and W. S. Lee both of that place being the principal stockholders, the mills to spin and weave all sorts of fabrics; the Statesville Manufacturing Co., capital stock $100,000, which takes over the Statesville House Furnishing Co. and will manufacture furniture and various other articles, capital stock $100,000, A. F. Baron and others stockholders; the Charlotte Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., capital stock $20,000, J. J. Adams, George H. Brockenbrough and others being the stockholders. The Atlantic Christian College Co. of Wilson is authorized to change its name to the Atlantic Christian College, incorporated.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of addressing the Industrial Club last evening. This is a new organization which is taking hold of affairs in a very earnest and proper way. Before it was laid the suggestion that it join forces with the Chamber of Commerce in so far as joint occupancy of offices is concerned; that it take steps to show to visitors the many advantages Raleigh offers to investors and home seekers. Another suggestion was made that the Street Railway be extended to the Soldiers Home and cemeteries and cover the densely settled eastern section of the city which now has no line. There are intimations that the company will build its line by the Soldiers Home and will also make a southern extension beyond Shaw University, the great colored school. Another suggestion was made that steps should be taken to have the Y. M. C. A. building and it is shown very clearly that scores of young men now spend their evenings in very questionable places.

It was pointed out that Raleigh is the only capital without a Y. M. C. A. and that in the other progressive towns in North Carolina that there are handsome buildings of this character. It was urged that the one here should have reading rooms, gymnasium, and a natatorium, etc, for use all the year round. The Club took hold of this matter very promptly, as indeed it did all of those brought forward. Another pressing matter was then introduced by your correspondent, this being the scarcity of labor which is causing so much annoyance here, not only domestic labor but that in all sorts of enterprises, and the varied industries. This is really a very keen question indeed.

A portrait of the late Mr. William C. Stronach, for ten years the devoted chairman of the Board of Directors of the Soldiers Home here has been placed on the walls there in the room which is at once the office, and is a memorial of him, having been equipped by the Daughters of the Confederacy and who also presents this picture, which is greatly appreciated and liked.

Secretary Joseph E. Pogue of the State Fair, says the attendance and the receipts at the late fair were both 50 per cent greater than ever before. The receipts from the sales of privileges on the 'mid-way' were ninety per cent greater than they were last year.

A WHITE AND YELLOW WEDDING

A Brilliant Nuptial Event At Christ Church

One of New Bern's Fair Daughters Becomes A Bride. A Large Assembly Witnessed The Ceremony.

Not in many years has there been a marriage in this city that has had so many fine appointments and where every detail was carried out so perfectly as was the wedding of Miss Isabel, the youngest daughter of Judge and Mrs. Henry R. Bryan, and Mr. Edwin Henry Jordan, of Columbus, Ohio, at Christ Church last evening, the church being thronged with relatives and friends.

Upon the arrival of the wedding party, the familiar tones of Lohengrin wedding march were sounded by the organist, Miss Rosa Dall, the party was met at the lobby by the surprised choir and ushers, of whom the latter were Messrs. F. S. Duffy, H. R. Bryan Jr., and R. A. Nunn. They were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Margaret Bryan, sister of the bride, and after her came the flower girl, Miss Mary Norcott London, of Charlotte, a niece of the bride.

The groom and his best man, Mr. Arthur A. Brown, passed up the side aisle and reached the altar just before the groomsmen and bridesmaids, who were as follows: William Graham of Raleigh, Shepard Bryan of Atlanta, George Henderson, E. K. Bishop and T. W. Waters; Misses Evalyn Jordan, of Brunswick, Md., Mary Norcott Broadfoot, Fayetteville, Adeline Claypool, Annie Stevenson and Bettie Windley. The bride with her father by whom she was given away were the last to reach the altar, the bride couple taking their places beneath a floral bell where Rev. L. G. H. Williams, rector of the church, pronounced the solemn and impressive words that made them man and wife. Upon their leaving the church Mendelssohn's wedding march was played.

The decorations of the church were simple but beautiful, yellow and white being the colors. The altar was lavishly adorned with yellow chrysanthemums on a background of white with a pretty setting of vines.

The bride's gown was of rich and beautiful silk crepe de chine trimmed with point lace; the veil was of tulle; she wore elaborate and costly ornaments consisting of diamonds and pearls. She carried a large and lovely shower bouquet of brides roses. The maids of honor wore gowns of white china silk and the bridesmaids dresses were of white China silk accented with plaids; they wore short tulle veils. The presents were numerous, beautiful and costly, and embraced nearly every thing described by silver and gold articles, lovely cut glass and bric-a-brac.

Mr. Jordan is a prominent young business man of Columbus, Ohio, and although his visits to New Bern have been few, he has made many friends by his geniality and pleasant bearing.

The bride is a life long resident of New Bern, and one of her beautiful, accomplished and popular daughters. She has always been a social favorite wherever she has visited and she is well known in the social circles of Raleigh, Fayetteville, Charlotte and Wilmington as well as other cities of this State and in other States.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan left at 6 o'clock on the A. & N. C. for the north.

See the Sign of the George Allen Honored.

Mr. George Allen of Raleigh, who is well known here was handsomely remembered Tuesday night in that city when he retired from the office of Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The following account was taken from Wednesday's News and Observer will be read with interest.

Mr. Joseph E. Pogue, in behalf of the Chamber, said that he had been entrusted with a high privilege, and one that afforded him infinite pleasure. He had been chosen to express the appreciation of the Chamber for the valuable services rendered it and the city of Raleigh by the retiring secretary, Mr. George Allen, who had held the office for ten years. He declared that the Chamber owed Mr. Allen a great debt of gratitude, and was sure that this feeling was shared by the whole community. Much of the progress of the city, he said, could be traced directly to the efforts of Mr. Allen while secretary of the Chamber. Mr. Pogue then presented Mr. Allen with a beautiful gold watch, bearing the inscriptions:

"Presented to George Allen by the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, 1905," and on the back of the watch were inscribed the initials of Mr. Allen. In conclusion, Mr. Pogue stated that the Chamber wished Mr. Allen many more years of happiness and prosperity and that the members of the Chamber individually hoped he would wear the watch as a token of their highest esteem, and a remembrance of their love for him.

When the applause had subsided, Mr. Allen feelingly expressed his thanks to the Chamber for its expression of appreciation. He said that when he was elected secretary, ten years ago, it was a time of great industrial and commercial depression. Then neither the Chamber nor the citizens of Raleigh were in the mood to undertake new movements; but despite some discouraging and unfavorable circumstances the Chamber had accomplished some things of substantial and permanent benefit to the city. The Chamber had been composed of men who were determined to do things and had executed themselves with good effect. He was glad that these men had "held the fort" until all the good citizens of Raleigh came together with zeal and a new spirit to take up the work, and conduct the Chamber now in such a manner as may result in the most possible good to the city. He warmly endorsed the selection of Mr. Phillips as his successor, and in concluding his remarks said that he keenly felt the expression of the Chamber's appreciation for him, but was even more touched by the kind words that had been uttered in appreciation of his services.
