A few months ago a gentleman got off the cars here, and after the train had gone on, enquired the way to the National Bank of New Bern, and was much surprised to being told hat it was 24 miles east of here.

Last week's gentleman dismounted from the shoo-fly train with his suit case in hand, and being approached by one of our liverymen to know if he want ed to do some driving, said no, but a minutes pause said he did want to see the manager of the opera house. He was told the manager was not in town, Dover not having quite grown sufficient to afford an opera house. A SPLENDID REPORT.

ence year for the Methodist church and report of the progress of the church is most gratifying and shows that the work done by the pastor and church has been vigorous and fruitful. It will be noticed that while there have ormous expenses at home the missions and charities of the church have not been neglected; in fact, in spite of the expenses the contributions for the outside interests have been arger than ever before. This completed Rev. G. T. Adams' second year as pastor of the church and it has had the most remarkable growth and progress of any two years of its history. The entire congregation and officials of the church are a unit in having their beloved pastor returned to this field as they do not feel that any one can complete the work that he has successfully begun but himself. It is very likely that the conference will hear the plea of the people and reassign

Four Good Reasons.

An amusing incident happened the other day at a club which had hospitably thrown open its doors to two other clubs. A certain well known officer in the brigade of guards was guilty of the offense of smoking in the morn ing room. As a matter of fact, he wa under the impression that it was the smoking room, A brother officer told him of his mistake. He went up to the only other occupant of the room, an old gentleman dozing in a corner, and apologized for having landvertently roken one of the rules of the club The old gentleman replied, without haste, as follows: "My dear sir, pray do not apologize. In the first place, I am sure you would not have smoked had you known that it was prohibited; in the second, I should be the last person to blame you if you had done so in the third, I am not a member of the club, and in the fourth, I have just been smoking myself."-London Globe.

The Empire of Dollars. Wall street is the capital of the em pire of dollars. Like all other capitals, it has its intrigues, its favorites, its duels, its cabals and its camarillas. and, like all other capitals, it gives its color to those who spend their lives there. It has even a sort of patriotism -"wolf honor"-which brings its citisens together at times in defense of the dollar and of property rights. The empire of dollars is not altogether a noble spectacle. We are not thrilled at the mere thought of those Venice bankers who "financed" the crusaders. We do not like to think of those Wall street manipulators who tried to corner the gold supply during our civil war, when the nation needed gold.-Samuel Merwin in Success Magazine.

What shall we do with our parents? There is my father ruining himself and me by his willful ignorance and my mother ruining us by her extravazances. It is a great development of the times that the ordinary child who is past twenty is altogether better educated, more experienced and wise than are his parents! It has occurred to me to suggest that after the eldest child reaches twenty the parents should therefore come under the conrol of the children.-Letter in London

A quarter of a century ago Pobedoostzeff was as bitter an enemy of liberal ideas as now. In 1881 General Loris Mulikoff had obtained the approval of Alexander II. to a scheme to make the conucil of state more representative of popular wishes. Alexander II. was assassinated, and Alexander III., under Pobedonostzeff's influence, recalled the imperial sanction of Mulicoff's project.

Pobedonostzeff has dominated the present czar's mind with all the auhority of a teacher who was honored y the czar's father and grandfather. Again and again he has prevented Nicholas from listening to the advice of lib eral minded ministers and from granting at least some of the reform demands of the zemstavos and other bodies representing the masses of the Rus-

On the recent trip of President Roosevelt up the coast on the cruiser ments on that ship sent messages 1,100 miles. Mr. Marconl is credited with saying that transmitting wireless messages 1,100 miles is not uncommon. Mr. De Forest said in reply:

"The De Forest apparatus on board he West Virginia is not of high power, being but two kilowatts, while the Marconi messages received by the Cunarders are sent from Poldu and Cape Cod, stations of from twenty to afty times that power.
