GOOD SIGN FOR GREATER CITY DEVELOPMENT.

In the local columns may be seen an article, telling of the proposed subdivision to New Bern, which will soon be opened up for occupation of residents.

The Journal has often noted the fact of the congested conditions which prevail in the present residential portions of New Bern, which anyone may see by driving about the city, and noting how closely the houses are built, and how few vacant spaces there are.

The demand for houses has been the cause of the present congestion in this city, in the residence sections. The demand has caused the continual shrinkage in building space, with a corresponding increase in land values, for while it may be argued that land is too high in New Bern, this talk could have no effect, for people wanted lots upon which to build, and were willing to pay for what they wanted, even at the advanced price.

The proposed sub-division to be soon opened up to buyers who want good homes, will prove of great assistance to those who want homes, but cannot afford to pay what is asked for lots in the city. This sub-division promises to prove a choice location. It lies well for drainage, therefore is healthy. Water and electric lights can be easily secured.

The new sub-division is a good sign for the opportunity of greater local development, and the electric car system is not far behind the new residential section to be opened up to home builders.

THE POVERTY PLEA AND POOR ROADS. The rather prevalent plea in excuse for poor roads, is that the community, be it county or city, cannot afford or has not the money to pay for the construction of better roadways.

There is nothing which will keep a community in so poor condition, as bad roads, for roads are the vital arteries which give life to county and city, and the better the roads, the quicker the commercial life, and more ambitious the business spirit, therefore to attempt to excuse poor roads, on the plea of poverty, indicates some business weakness on the part of those who are in authority in county or city.

In New Bern, this poverty plea has been given so long, that it has become a chronic excuse and a snare passed without comment. It is always "if we had saloons, or liquor selling through a dispensary or something else, the city would have money to build roads and would build them. But would good roads be built and maintained, if there was a revenue from liquor selling? The Journal seriously doubts it, for when there were saloons, the city was in a worse state than it is now, and there was no money to build roads.

Beats the Music Cure. "To keep the body in tune," writes Mrs. Mary Brown, 20 Lafayette Place, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. "I take Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are the most reliable and pleasant laxative I have found." Best for the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Guaranteed by All Druggists. Price 25c.

Three hundred of a party of Chinese regularly hired French laborers, who were killed by a French force, who had 50 killed.

have at times been better, but the fault is not so much the absence of money, but the absence of intelligent effort and work, the construction of at least one block, or more of good material, properly laid, that will remain through sunshine and rain, and neither dry up nor blow away, or become a sloop which must be brushed up and carried away.

What is needed is to make some administration get beyond the idea that a wagon load of oyster shells and a man with a rake, is a combination, which gives assurance of a good roadway. This idea seems to be transmitted from one city administration to another, and today can be seen the same so-called road improvement, oyster shells and the rake, which is simply throwing money into the street, and at the same time the old excuse will be given, "no money" to make good roads. So the tax payer's money is scattered in small amounts, to pay for oyster shells which will fill one hole, and make two new ones, and the roads will be getting worse and worse, and every business interest be made to suffer, because of such bad city roads, while the countryman becomes exiled from all chances of city life, after a week of rain, which puts a practical stop to all travel from county to city.

SECURING THE FOREIGN IMMIGRANT

Through the Department of Agriculture of North Carolina, efforts along a new line are being proposed, by which foreign immigrants may be brought to this State, the plan suggested is the organization of a State Association of Immigration Agencies, and along the following lines:

Securing one of the trans-atlantic steamship companies to make one landing a month, or one landing in each sixty days, at Norfolk, Va., where all these lines have their deep-water terminals, for the purpose of discharging immigrants brought to the South.

Securing the appointment and employment of a thoroughly capable man of experience and training, to be sent to the country from which it is desired to draw the people needed. This man to be the foreign agent of the State Association, and to be paid by it. His duties to be defined by it, to include the advertising of the sailings of the steamer engaged; to faithfully distribute the literature of the members of the Association (as defined above); to personally select the people to be sent, and to book them for distribution to the agents of the members of the Association who will meet the ship at port of entry.

Secure the co-operation of the United States Government authorities in having established at the port of entry a discharging office, so as to prevent delay in releasing all receivable immigrants immediately on arrival. Secure a well-organized system for inviting, receiving and distributing immigrants, and uniform plans for co-operating with and developing the agencies which compose the Association.

The railroads which have their terminals at Norfolk, are the Southern, Seaboard, and Atlantic Coast Line, and over these railroads, with their co-operation, the South can gain an immigration, which is now, and will ever in some degree prove a failure, if left to New York and other ports, where other interests predominate. The South must use its own seaports, its own railways and its own local efforts, through the several states, if immigrants are to be secured.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, hearing is impaired, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be delayed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

A young negro man, giving his name as Jim Johnson, and who has figured in the courts of the State before for several offenses, was arrested by a member of the Raleigh police force while asleep in a pile of cotton seed near the Union railway station. There were found about his person the money order stamp from the post office at Elmore, in Scotland county, a blank order and some postage stamps. The office at Elmore was entered and robbed last Thursday night, and suspicion points to the captured man. The Raleigh officer making the arrest was after his man on the charge of larceny committed elsewhere.

An alarm of fire called the city fire department to the cotton platform where a considerable quantity of cotton was exposed to about ten bales that were ablaze, the fire supposedly having originated from an engine spark. The damage was slight as the cotton was only scorched.

While no action has yet been taken in the unusual case that is developing which so deeply concerns the life of young Robert Lilliston, last week sentenced to 14 years imprisonment for the alleged shooting of Charles Smith, during fair week, in Raleigh, new links in a strong chain of evidence are being daily forged that would seem to place all the burden on other parties. More witnesses now state their willingness to testify, and those who have believed in the third man theory are feeling justified.

17 Washouts Near Roanoke.

Roanoke, Va., Jan. 22.—The trains on the Norfolk and Western Railway west of Roanoke are being badly delayed tonight as the result of washouts along the line. Up to midnight it was reported that there were 17 washouts between Roanoke and Bluefield. Of this number, 15 of them are said to be between Bluefield and Lurich on the New River division, and two others are near Marion. Westbound passenger trains No. 3, which left Roanoke this afternoon, was caught in an crush near Lurich and stood for two hours in five feet of water. It has been raining throughout the mountain section today and small streams are becoming much swollen.

Several relief trains carrying large numbers of men have been sent tonight to the flooded territory. It is said that it will take many hours and large forces to put the tracks in their normal condition.

Honors to a Colored Woman in the South.

From the N. Y. Ev. Post, January 13. EDITOR OF THE EVENING POST.

Sir: Within a few days after my arrival here from my Northern home to spend the winter, I had the privilege and gratification of witnessing a spectacle which many Northern people might have witnessed to their edification and instruction. It was nothing more than the funeral of an aged colored woman, a very common, everyday occurrence in the South, but under circumstances which rendered it extraordinary and interesting. The deceased was Julia Leath, better known as "Junjo," for more than sixty years a member of Christ Episcopal Church in this city, and the place was Christ Church itself, in which were gathered a large part of the white congregation as well as many colored people belonging to other churches, to pay the last tribute of respect to one who had always deserved and enjoyed not only the respect but the affection of those who knew her well. In accordance with a cherished promise made some years ago to the deceased, the church wardens and vestrymen were present in a body, and the choir sang hymns which had been her favorite songs of praise.

For June had been an ordinary negro. She was "raised" in the home of an old Southern family, and had lived in an atmosphere of refinement which permeated her speech and actions during her long and upright life. An humble, self-respecting, and devout Christian, it seemed to these warm-hearted and affecionate Southern people only fitting that they should unite in doing honor to the mortal remains of one who had loved the Lord and the place where His honor dwelleth. And so they thought nothing of the color of her skin, for her spirit was white and shining; but they did for her as they would to their own, followed her body to the grave, stood around it with bowed heads while the beautiful burial service of the church was being read, and strewed it with wreaths and flowers while the choir chanted a parting hymn in memory of a good and faithful servant, whose "blessed Marster," when He called her home, had found her ready.

CASTORIA. The Kid You Have Always Bought.

In Memory of W. F. Rountree

In memory of W. F. Rountree, who served long and faithfully, without pecuniary reward, as a member of the Board of Directors and of the Executive Committee of the Eastern Hospital for the Insane at Goldsboro, N. C. and who retired from the board but a few short weeks before he was called to his eternal reward.

This writer was appointed by the said Board of Directors to prepare a memorial of his services and a testimonial of his worth as a man and public officer, which was directed to be spread upon the minutes of the said board and to be published for the guidance and encouragement of all and as a solace to his family and friends. The writer was also directed to embody in the same the sentiments expressed in a memorial prepared by the Board of the said hospital, Dr. Jno. F. Miller, and presented by him in his annual report. The said memorial is a full and fitting tribute to our departed friend and collaborator, and I therefore present it below, in full.

D. E. MCKINNE.

IN MEMORIAM.

Since our last meeting a former member of your honorable body, Mr. W. F. Rountree, of New Bern, has been called from labor to rest, having suddenly passed away on the night of the 20th of April last from cerebral congestion. Mr. Rountree was the oldest member of our directory, having given nearly twenty-five years of continuous service as a director and much of that time was chairman of our ex-Comm. No State Institution of my knowledge ever had a more faithful and punctual director, having rarely been absent from his duties, and I might say never when it was practicable for him to be present. He was born in Pitt county on the 26th day of June, 1842, and was therefore nearly sixty-three years of age. It is doubtful if the Southern Confederacy ever had a more valiant and courageous soldier, and he was equally courageous and loyal as a soldier of the cross, having been for many years an exemplary member of the Baptist church of New Bern and was also a deacon in the church. He was an exalted member of the Royal Arcanum, having filled the highest place in the order; was also an Odd Fellow and Knight of Honor. In peace and in war and in every relation of life W. F. Rountree was a true man, unwavering in his loyalty to his friends and to every cause he espoused, and throughout a long, useful life he quietly and modestly illustrated the dignity and glory of a stalwart christian man-hood. This writer never had a better or truer friend. Peace to his ashes.

J. F. MILLER.

Since the above was prepared we have been suddenly called to mourn the loss of the trusted and beloved Supt. Dr. Miller.

Such is life. D. E. MCKINNE.

Confederate Reunion at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Jan. 23.—The Confederate Veterans Association of New Orleans has been granted permission to use an entire square of ground only three blocks below Canal street, upon which to erect its audit-rium for the reunion here April 25, 26 and 27th.

A year ago all the quaint old French and Spanish buildings in this block were torn down to make way for a new State Court House, construction upon which will not begin until next year, so the entire space is available and is practically in the heart of the city. The square faces the old St. Louis or Royal Hotel, which latter, now in disuse, will probably be converted into a rooming hotel for veterans and with cots should be able to accommodate 1000 or more.

The old St. Louis Hotel was where the White Leaguers, in re-construction days, held U. S. troops in a state of siege. The old "Black Legislature" also held forth there and before the war the place was the Mecca of Louisiana fashion. The Grand Duke Alexis of Russia was entertained there at one of the Carnival balls in the great domed ball room.

Es-Lieutenant Governor Albert Estopinal has been elected commander of the Louisiana Division U. C. V.
