The river rose rapidly, and by eleven e'clock had overflowed the roadway on East Front street from a point south of the Coca-Cola plant northward nearly to New street. Union Point was cut off from South Front street, except by boat, and Elli's' coal yard was a lake. The floor of one of E. K. Bishop's warehouses proved to be too near the surface of the river, and some of its contents got wet The foot of Craven street was rather damp, to say the east, and navigation for small boats in Middle street was good for quite a dis-tance north of the bulkhead. Seriously, though, the storm was one of the severest experienced here in a long time and when the water began to recede about sunset, there was a general feeling of relief on the part of boatmen and property owners along the water

On Inspection Trip.

In a special train over the A. & N.C. vesterday, there arrived here, Mr. R. E. L. Bunch, traffic manager, and Col. H. C. Hudgins, the newly appointed General Paysenger and Freight Agent of the A. & N. C. These gentlemen were on a trip of inspection over the ine between Goldsboro and Morehead

As both Mr. Bunch and Col. Hudgins occupy the same respective official positions on the Norfolk and Souther railroad, as they do on the A. & N. C., there has been some idle talk that these two lines of road had ceased to be competitors for businesss, but the Journal has every assurance to believe otherwise, that there is no abatement of competition, nor secret agreement

Both Mr. Bunch and Col. Hudgins, are gentlemen ever keen after business for their lines, and competition is always engaged in, to the advantage of business interests along their roads.

A Clever Company.

The Payton Sisters supported by one of the best stock company's on the road will open a week's engagement at the Masonic Opera House Monday night, presenting "The Man Outside" and between acts the audience will be enterest tained by as fine a line of vaudeville features as has ever been seen in New Bern. "The Man Outside" is a light problem play with a fine detective story nning through that is intensely intering from start to finish, and not until quired all the resources even of N. W. devotion to him was shown in many the curtain falls upon the last act is the audience aware of what the final outcome will be. It contains numerous fine dramatic situations and startling climaxes and is altogether one of the most successful of the seasons new productions. By keeping its principal members together year after year the Payton Sisters have a longer list of plays at their command than any other stock company on the road and is therefore prepared to offer the public the most select repertoire. Besides their dramatic company they carry a complete vaudeville show that is given between the acts, and these features as well as the plays are changed at every performance. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Why We Need a Bigger President

Than Washington or Lincoln.

Mr. Ernest H. Crosby is a radica whose motives no one can doubt. Born a conservative and the heir to a large fortune, he had every selfish reason to be content with the existing order of things. But his heart was too big for him to remain long uninfluenced by the tragic conditions upon which his wealth was based, and since his conversion to revolutionary tendencies the social reform camp has had no more faithful ally. Poems, sermons, pamphlets and lectures have issued from his energetic mind with steady purpose, and always in behalf of the proletariat. And still he feels that his work is all before him. As he says in a striking editor ial in the February number of the Metropolitan Magazine. "We still are in need of freedom then, in a form adapted to present circumatances, and the need today is morsearching and wide-spread than it ever was before. The tasks of Washington and of Lincoln were comparatively simply and easy. To cut off the connection with England was like amputating a separate limb. The ulcer of the slave power was localized, and three-quarters of the body politic at any rate was in a healthy condition, but now we have to

way into every tissue. We need a bigger president than Washington or Lincoln, for the opportunity is far greater

OUR NEW YORK WEEKLY LETTER

Early Spring Street Gowns-Fade and Fancica In Neckwear.

BY RENE DEVERAUX.

The spirit of sociability is very prounced in New York these last few weeks, and it has become very popular for fashionable women to give Sunday o'clock dinners to their intimate own restaurant. Being the only hollday of the week for business men, they can enjoy these informal affairs without being harassed by business engage sents. Then, too, the refreshments are so light that no one has a disagreeable feeling toward his hostess the next morning. At one of these dinners latevere almost as brilliant as those worn at the opera, only no jewels were displayed, but the colors made one think of an old fashioned carden ne of feathers, for a harvest of them is still to be seen on all the latest midwinter hats; basides it is predicted that hey will be worn to a certain extent a the spring. But then no one can fore tell to a certainty what new fashions will become popular. As soon as any thing new becomes universal it ceases to be fashionable.

A few of the new spring street cos times are being displayed in the shop windows and showrooms this week One wonders where all these changes come from, for there is a distinct new s the lungs. Ask for Foley's style in all the mo Honey and Tar and refuse any substi- mannish gray suit of cloth, with a cashstitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of there finish. The short pony coat and Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used circular skirt are both trimmed with gray buttons having black velvet centers. The buttons on the skirt trimmed the center of the front and reached down to the hem, making a most original Bitle walking suit.

A very jaunty looking costume was a docked wool in gray and white, with a short hip coat closed in front, with smart beitons beginning just below the velvet collar. Many of the new skirts are circular, but the plaited skirts have been such favorites that some of the latest models show the phyllod effect, with panels set in the back and sides; sometimes a plaited passil down the front. This is a decided relief to the home dressmaker, because the circular skirt is hard to hang properly, especially if walking length,

Many of the demitailored suits for young ladies are set off most beautiful ly with the finest of embroidered cuffs and collars. Dainty frills for the neck and olbow give a suit that aristocratic feminine touch that every one longs for, and this is where a girl can use her originality to great advantage There are so many handmade things sold in the shops that a suit is hardly complete without some dainty bit of full and frills on it.

When the idea comes of a spring suit, at the same time there comes th additional thought of what to wear about the neck on milder days in place of the beavy; furs to which so many people object. Some lovely inexpensive neck scarfs and muffs were seen in imitation Persian lamb, They were pale gray with a unique design in gray silk cord cumping through the stole and the same effect carried out in the muff. Light, beautiful things can be made of maline, chiffon or any stmflar material and trimmed with marabout. Sandwiched in between these dell cute early spring displays one sees the ever popular shirt waist suit of sheet lawn with deep or narrow tucks on the full skirt. The walst is either plain or exquisitely triumed in fine lace of hand embroidery, according to the price and waterful The good line and excellent workmanship make them a most desirable addition to the ward robe, especially since entire suits of the same material is the undispute decision of Dame Pashion.
