HIS THIRD TERM

Marshal Millikan Makes Notable Change

Thousands Annually. Depulies With Salaries. No Incentive to Hatch Up Cases for Prosecution at Under Marshal System.

Greensboro, March 28.—When United States James M. Millikan takes the oath of office next Monday, April 2nd, he will begin his third term by having succeeded from experience of the practical workings of the present system of appointing deputy marshals in securing from the department at Washington, a distinct reform in that department of the revenue service in his district. On that day, in place of about forty deputy marshals scattered all over the district getting nothing except the occasional fees for service of process, there will be sworn in, as regular deputies all his own selection, four or five, at salaries ranging from $600 to $1,000 per year, according to the territory covered by them.

Each one of these deputies will be required to report to the marshal in writing every day, and will be directly responsible to the marshal for the proper discharge of duty. The lopping off of twenty or thirty party heaters, and substituting therefrom responsible men though partisans it is thought, will greatly improve the service and save the government at least $20,000 a year in costs of prosecuting frivolous or malicious cases besides saving many people much irritation, expense and annoyance.

Another reformatory effect will be to place the deputy marshals beyond the control of the deputy collectors and entirely in the control of the judiciary branch of the service. Under the old system, where deputy marshals only get fees, their remuneration depended entirely on the good will of the deputy collector. The recent revenue trials here showed conclusively what source of corruption this was. A similar anomaly yet obtains in the internal revenue service, where a store keeper and gauger is absolutely dependant upon the distiller he is supposed to watch for his employment.

Under the new system of deputy marshals, these men have no incentive to hatch up frivolous cases before United States Commissioners to get fees. Neither will they be subject to corruption from those deputy collectors disposed to be dishonest by failing to report violations or giving false or careless certificates and jurats for pay or accommodation. Their being required to make daily reports direct to the marshal will also practically eliminate the United States Commissioners, so far as revenue cases are concerned as violations of law, being daily reported to the marshal as the central head, the practical effect will be that almost all the cases, where prosecutions are decided upon, will go direct before the grand jury.

The National Magazine for April.

"Gotham in Golden Chains" is the title of a remarkable article by John Coulter in the National Magazine for April. He shows how the Ryan-Belmont-Rothchild-Morgan gang has got New York City by the throat, and outlines its plan to float a street-railway combine with a capital—mostly water—second in size to that of the United States Steel Company.

The same magazine contains three striking character studies of famous men: "Jaquin Miller at the heights," a beautifully poetic essay by Charles Warren Stoddard; "Fighting Joe Wheeler," by W. F. Melton, and "A Day With Marquis de..." the foremost statesman of Asia, by Yone Noguchi. Congressman John F. Lacy of Iowa writes about the earliest automobiles, in 1837, when it was thought the steam automobile would force the steam railways, than in their infancy, out of business.

TO BEGIN SENTENCE

Sprinkle Convicted of Distillery Frauds to Atlanta.

Prisoner Had No Rehearing of His Case. Contract Awarded for Church Building. Inspector of Buildings Elected. Association of B. and L. Fine Showing.

Greensboro, March 29.—In the United States court this morning a final decree of discharge in bankruptcy was signed by Judge Boyd in the matter of B. F. Sprinkle of "Greenville." The order was made by consent of plaintiff's attorneys, L. M. Swink and A. E. Holton, of Winston, and Sprinkle's attorneys W. P. Bynum Jr. and E. J. Justice of Greensboro and Reuben D. Reid of Reidville. Sprinkle has been sentenced to the penitentiary at Atlanta upon conviction of frauds with Young and Angle of Rockingham, as distillers.

Young and Angle are trying to have the case reheard, in the circuit court of appeals but Sprinkle refused to join in the petition for rehearing, saying that he wanted to begin serving his sentence and get through with it. He came here last week and gave himself up, but his attorneys said that it was important for his bankruptcy case to be terminated so re-imposing the sentence was deferred until next week when the regular term of Federal court begins. In addition to the term of imprisonment Judge Boyd fined Sprinkle one thousand dollars. His discharge in bankruptcy will act as a practical remittance of the fine.

Yesterday afternoon the building committee of the First Baptist church awarded the contract for erecting a new church on a lot recently purchased on West Market street one block beyond West Market Street Methodist Church to "Ingham and Fries, contractors of Greensboro. The contract price is $35,000. Work is to commence April 15, the edifice to be completed by January 1, 1907.

The city recently created the office of building inspector, W. R. Pleasants, a practical builder and contractor, was elected to the position and this morning the oath of office was administered. His duty will be, not only to inspect buildings under course of construction to prevent chances of fire, but to make examinations of all old buildings and report fire promoting defects in construction of flues or other defects. He will also inspect storage receptacles in buildings, and report as to the presence of inflammable material and rubbish in basements or attics of mercantile establishments.

At the third annual meeting last night of the Gate City Building & Loan Association the reports showed that last year the number of shares increased over one hundred per cent that 25 residences had been built, average $1,000 each, that 20 loans had been made, that receipts for the year had been $24,000, that the associations assets are $38,900.

REV GEORGE W RULAND

Restored to Health by Vinol and Endorses it. Prominent men from all parts of the country are endorsing Vinol, and strong testimonial letters from physicians of the gospel and several physicalians have been received within a week. Such unsolicited testimony as this is best proof of merit any medicine can have.

The Rev. George W. Ruland of Keene N. H. writes: "I have used your cod liver oil preparation, Vinol, as a tonic, and I do not believe there is any other medicine that can equal it. It built me up and strengthened me when run down and overworked. Vinol has done for me more than was claimed for it."

"We honestly believe there is no other remedy or cod liver oil preparation known to medicine that has the healing strengthening power which Vinol has, and if it fails to create strength and health for run-down, debilitated people, old people, weak, sickly women and children, nursing mothers, and after a severe sickness, or if it fails to cure a hacking cough, chronic cold, throat or bronchial trouble, or to make those who are too thin fat, rosy and healthy, we will return every cent paid us for it. In there a sick, ailing or aged person in New Bern who can afford to ignore this generous offer?" F. S. Duffy Druggist.

FAMILY REUNIONS

Are You a Descendant of One of the Jamestown Pioneers.

Norfolk, Va., March 29.—Although Captain John Smith left no direct descendants, there are a great many families both of England and United States who trace back to him in collateral line. Among the most distinguished of these is the Baden-Powell family, one of whose members is the noted General Powell, the hero of Mafeking.

General Powell recently designed and completed a bust of Captain Smith, which will be placed in the rotunda of the capitol at Richmond next month. There are so many others of these collateral Smiths, that a Smith day will be a feature of the JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION. If only Smiths attend it is certain that enough of them can be gathered to break all previous records at Exposition turnouts, and if all the collateral branches of the Smith family should come it is likely that the full roster would include nine-tenths of our population.

Smith Day is, however, only one of the family days. The descendants of Pocahontas, of whom there are a great number—one county in Kentucky alone having 108—will also have their day; and the Wingfields, the Byrds, the Vories and the Lees and several other families have each expressed a desire to have a special day set apart for family reunions.

In the south, family reunions have been on the whole confined to immediate family connections. The larger ramifications extending to all branches of the family having a trace of the same blood is essentially New England in its origin, but, like many other of New England's good ideas, has been borrowed by other parts of the country.

The JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION offers a very appropriate occasion for Virginia family gatherings; and the Virginians have been such nomads during the three centuries of its history that they have settled in nearly every State in the Union. As a consequence, as any of these family gatherings, if well attended, is sure to bring representatives from all of the American commonwealths.

The first test case under the Elkins law, forbidding rebates, is on trial in Philadelphia.

Attacking the Quarantine Bill

New Orleans, March 29.—"Texas against the whole South," is the opinion heard on every side in Louisiana in expressing the attitude of the Lone Star State against the Williams' Quarantine bill which is expected to reach vote in the house the latter part of next week and reprisals are not remote. The attempted blocking of a measure which means safety for the entire South in the matter of yellow fever, tho' it prove futile, will have its effect if the South is called on to nominate a Southern man either for the presidency or vice-presidency in 1908. Senator Bailey of Texas is among those mentioned as a "possibility," and it is safe to say the South will not have forgotten his endeavor to throw her best interests when convention bees are buzzing, for, as he and a majority of his colleagues have stood together against every other State in the South on the quarantine bill, they will not be apt to overlook it. Congressman Williams of Mississippi and Richardson of Alabama express confidence in the passage of the bill, Texas to the contrary notwithstanding, and, as the mosquito dogma has superseded the former numerous vacillating theories, of yellow fever transmission, so will sane and rational measures supersede the barbarous and childish shot-gun quarantines of the past. New Orleans, the scene of so much trouble and loss last year, is buoyant and confident this and with a watchful and truth-telling board of health, believes that the summer will pass without a visitation.

Unfortunate Johnstown Again Suffers

Johnstown, Pa., March 28.—The fire which broke out in the business section of this city shortly after midnight was not under control until after day light, when it had burned itself out, after destroying four large business structures and causing a loss of more than $500,000. During the progress of the fire M. F. Campbell, a fireman, was caught under a falling wall and probably fatally injured.

High License in Ohio

Columbus, Ohio, March 28.—It is estimated that between 10,000 and 15,000 men may be thrown out of employment by the enforcement of the Alken Liquor Tax law, which raises the cost of the license from $250 to $1,000 passed yesterday, according to one authority. The 5,000 proprietors of the saloons that will close will be out of employment. At least half of them have been kepters, making 2,500 more. Many bartenders and men who get up saloons unlicensed will lose their places. Brewery drivers and other workers at the breweries will also suffer.

A PROSPECT FOR A PARK

A Tract Containing 200 Acres With Fine Natural Qualifications the Site

Plans are being made which when put into execution will make what is now a partial wilderness blossom like the rose. It will not only blossom but will team with life and energy. It is a scheme to convert a tract of land consisting of 200 or more acres into a park with all the attractions which that word implies. The land lies just beyond James City and is two miles from New Bern. It is the property of Judge and Mrs. H. R. Bryan. J. Council Brown is the agent in charge and has conceived this idea. The plan is now to establish an electric line from this city to the park and with this in view a gentleman will visit New Bern within a few days to investigate the matter.

While the park proposition is only in embryo there is another project which is more tangible and that is the establishment of a large wood working plant on a tract of land bordering on Brice's Creek. This land also belongs to Judge Bryan. Mr. Brown has sold ten acres to a northern syndicate who will within a few months put in a large wood working plant. The persons interested in this plant represent enormous capital and will have one of the most complete factories in the State. Mr. H. H. Berry of New York is the name of the leading member of the enterprise but there are several who are associated with him.
