TWO SUFFERERS FROM A COAL STRIKE.

While there is no doubt that a principle is involved, which makes the coal miners go into a strike; yet it is also certain that they must suffer loss from the attempt, successful or not in stopping their work.

The consumer is also a sufferer, and the various commercial interests through which the consumer transacts his business. Already, there have been several advances in the price of coal, the highest being $1.25 per ton, and yet there has been no general strike, while the operators have piled up millions of tons of coal, in prospect of there being a strike. To the person who is just a consumer, it all looks like a put up job. Take the situation, a strike more or less localized. Great quantities of coal mined and ready for the consumer, therefore no coal famine imminent, taking into account the quantity of coal carried over, which a mild winter has increased above the average. Yet before the strike has gone into effect, coal is advanced $1.25 per ton.

It may be as claimed, that the miners have $6,000,000 on hand as a strike fund, but they cannot win with the operators sticking out, for the consumer will have to stand the full cost, to not only make good the expenses of the operators, which will be mostly the cost for police, detective and military, to guard their property, to which may be added any loss from destruction of property by the strikers. To this of course must be added the usual coal profit, together with something additional for the "mental anguish," which the operators must undergo while the strike is in effect.

The strike is a one sided game. All profit for the operators. It is a promoter of socialism, if not worse disorders.

SHOULD BE SOME BASIS OF SATISFACTORY ADJUSTMENT

The notice of the Atlantic & North Carolina Co., which appears in another column of this paper, notifying shippers that after April tenth nothing less than car load lots will be received and delivered at the Trent river warehouse, must prove of special importance to business houses which do their freight business at this end of the city, where the Trent warehouse is situated. It will be remembered what commercial joy the establishment of this warehouse caused, when it was built under the Bryan administration, and ever since, the trade of this city, which had the long haul to the Neuse river warehouse, has been saved time, money and annoyance, by this Trent river warehouse convenience.

The cause of the present change is due to the city ordinance which requires that no shifting of cars shall take place on Hancock street, which the railway company has to do, as it claims, in order to transact its freight business at the Trent warehouse, and for which it has been subjected to suits for violation on the part of the city.

There are several sides to this shifting ordinance, or rather the necessity for its passage and enforcement. On the side of the railroad people, they have the right of way along the street, have built a warehouse at some expense, and their going back and forth, in shifting, is a part of what is demanded, in order to accommodate receivers and deliverers of freight, to their need, and the necessary shifting is along business lines, and caused by increasing commercial demands.

On the part of householders along Hancock street, whom the city ordinance was passed to protect, there can be no doubt of the annoyance in which they are subjected, by the shifting of cars. It may be said, that the railroad people have rights, which the city ordinance takes from them, and the householders along Hancock street must submit to train annoyances unless they call upon the city to protect them. Accepting the A. & N. C. Company's change in freight arrangements, means much loss to the business houses, and loss as well in the end to the railway people. Householders may be gainers by less shifting, but will it equal the other losses?

What is needed is not ordinances to place the A. & N. C. Co., or any railroad company in the class of invaders of the rights of citizens and property owners, but some adjustment, where as in the case of shifting on Hancock street, there may be concessions on each side, and the minimum of discomfort to householders and the minimum of necessary hindrance to the business of the railway people. To again refer to the Trent warehouse and Hancock street shifting, it would seem as though there might be some stated hours within each twenty-four, when the A. & N. C. Co., could have the freedom to shift along this street, and at other hours property holders could feel assured that no engine or cars would be constantly moving before their doors, and so abolish the present city system of policing a public street to watch a railroad, as a tramp might be watched, for there is no question but that some adjustment may be made by which the railroad can do business, and house holders be kept reasonably free from train annoyances.

OLD TYPE SOUTHERN MEN PASSING AWAY.

The Baltimore Sun in an editorial, "the passing of old types in the South" points with regret to changed political conditions, which is now sending an entirely new class of men to represent this section in the National Congress. These men who gained distinction during the civil war, such as General Wade Hampton, Zeb Vance and Matt Ransom, were succeeded because of the political upheaval, by such men as Tillman and Marion Butler, who were held in an entirely different esteem by those in the South, who always took a special sectional pride in being represented by the gallant men of the Hampton and Vance type.

In noting the result of the recent senatorial election in Arkansas, the Sun, says:

Gen. James H. Berry, the senior Senator from Arkansas, who will be succeeded by Mr. Jefferson Davis, is a Senator who has the highest sense of honor, whose name is synonymous with honesty and devotion to duty and principle. That he was named in the Civil War has not diminished the confidence and respect in which he is held by Senators of all parties. Of his successor little is known outside of Arkansas, except that, like the most conspicuous type of politician of the new regime in the South, he is aggressive and plain-spoken to an exceptional extent and does not carry into debate the refinement and learning which characterize the best representatives of the Old South. He has an historic name, but that seems to be all he has in common with the first Jefferson Davis, who was Secretary of War and a Senator of the United States from Mississippi before the civil conflict. The latter was a profound thinker, a man of refinement, a debater of rare ability, who measured up to the highest Senatorial standard in a most exacting period. Senator Berry's successor appears to be more of the rough-and-ready type of statesmanship of the Tillman school. These changes in the South's representation in the Senate are very significant. In the natural order of things the old types must disappear. Times have changed and men have changed with them. Yet it is regrettable to find a man like Senator Berry superseded by one who is of an entirely new and far from admirable school of statesmanship. It is unfortunate, since the South shows a disposition to retire the best representatives of the old type, that it does not replace them with the best representative of the new type.

Coal Companies Claim Hard to Fill Existing Contracts. Preacher Declines Call.

No Excitement in Federal or Superior Courts. Death of Rev. Seabrook

(Special Correspondence.)

Greensboro, April 3.—The announcement that Rev. Paxton of Lynchburg, had declined the call extended him by the First Presbyterian church of Greensboro was received with deep regret by not only the congregation but by every one here, who heard his admirable sermons last week.

Intelligence was received today of the death of Rev. J. McL. Seabrook, being pastor of the Presbyterian church at Charlottesville, Va. He resided in Greensboro some years ago and was pastor of Buffalo church. He leaves a wife and six children.

In the Federal court yesterday Ed Taylor, of Alamance, indicted for illicit distilling, was ably defended by Judge Strudwick and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

E. G. Caudle of Stokes, was convicted of illicit distilling, his counsel Judge Bynum announcing after the defendant had testified in his own behalf that he could not resist a verdict of guilty.

The only case of importance tried in Superior court was one against Joe Byers of High Point, for seduction of Miss Addie Capps under promise of marriage. W. P. Eagan of High Point made a strong fight for his client and G. S. Bradshaw assisted the Solicitor in the prosecution. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The prospect of a coal strike, whether impending or remote is causing embarrassment to dealers here. It seems that the coal companies are not booking any new orders at all. One representative here yesterday had an order for a thousand tons of coal, but it was refused, although $1.50 per ton at the mines was offered where it has been quoted at $1.15. The coal companies claim that they will be put to it to fill their present contracts, if the strike is ordered, and are not taking new business even at greatly increased prices.

Mr. G. D. B. Reynolds of Troy, Montgomery county, was presented and sworn in as an attorney for practice in the United States Courts.

United States District Attorney L. L. Lewis of Richmond, Va., arrived last night, and is busy today getting acquainted with the witnesses and their testimony to be presented by the government in the three indictments pending against Congressman Blackburn and set for trial on April 17th. Judge Lewis will prosecute the cases for the government, Judge Nathan Goff presiding at the trial. Judge Lewis was not in the court room this morning, but Congressman Blackburn was one among the attorneys present in the bar.

The Wilkes county brigade did not arrive until last night, and until those welcome visiting attorneys, defendants and witnesses get here Federal court always seems tame.

A Place Where All Find Work.

The Raleigh Evening Times of Saturday had an interesting article about the people who are boarding in that city at the expense of the state. A good many are making brick, not because they want to, but because they have to. Murderers, thieves, and vagabonds are perhaps the most noted who are engaged in this menial task. The brick, it is said, is of excellent quality and has ready sale. The demand is greater than supply.

Thomas W. Dewey is engaged in hospital work and is trying his knowledge of drugs and medicines to good account. It is said that he is a most excellent nurse and is relied on by the prison authorities to take care of the sick prisoners. Dewey's health is very good. There are 650 convicts most of whom are engaged in making the Raleigh and Pamlico railroad. The prison farm is a model and the convicts employed at that work take a great pride in their work.

GOOD REPORTS AND A GRATIFYING OUTLOOK

The Condition of the Centenary Methodist Church Very Satisfactory to its Members

The second quarterly meeting of the Centenary Methodist church was held Monday night and the reports given in from all departments were most gratifying and showed the remarkable extent of Christian earnestness and enthusiasm that has been taken in the work. The most marked progress was made in the Sunday school. The attendance and finances have increased 50 per cent during the last five months. The average attendance is about 400 scholars and more than 500 are on the rolls. There was a full attendance of officers. At the Sunday's communion 33 new members were taken into the church, 10 on profession of their faith and 23 by certificate. The membership is now about 1100 and it is one of the largest and strongest churches in the State.

The following delegates were elected to attend the district conference to be held at Bayboro the latter part of June: J. J. Baxter, D. W. Dowdy, T. A. Green and A. E. Hibbard; alternates were S. R. Ball and J. T. Hudson.

Five Refused Pardon.

Special to Journal:

Raleigh, April 3.—Governor Glenn refused five pardons today and granted three. Those refused were: Clarence Wallace, Craven, sentenced in 1902 for murder. Pardon was also refused by Governor Aycock; no reason for clemency apparent now, George Gay, Wilkes, murder, sentenced in 1901 to 30 years. An eye witness to the deed was examined and no good grounds for pardon were found, Peter Mabry, Edgecomb, murder committed in 1904, he plead guilty to carrying concealed weapons; he is sentenced to two years, J. D. Galloway, Transylvania, retailing liquor without a license, sentenced in 1905. He was fined in three cases, and escaped from the road gang once. W. H. Meek, Sr., Anson, retailing liquor without a license, sentenced in 1905, for two years. Judges and solicitors do not endorse the applications.

The pardons granted were Jasper Hinson, Mecklenburg, convicted in 1897 for murder. At the recommendation of judge and solicitors the prisoner who is over 70, and sent up for life was pardoned as he has been a model prisoner. Pardon conditional on good behavior. David Garrison, Jr., and John Horne, Gaston, manslaughter in 1906. They were two little boys who carried a third boy to deep water accidentally slipped with him and allowed him to drown. Pardon conditional. Deal Howell, Johnston, seduction under promise of marriage, is almost an idiot and circumstances indicate that his case is pardonable.

THE KING OF BLOOD PURIFIERS

No other remedy has given such perfect satisfaction as a blood purifier and tonic or is so reliable in the cure of blood diseases of every character as S. S. S. It is known as "The King of Blood Purifiers," and the secret of its success and its right to this title is because "IT CURES DISEASE."

It is an honest medicine, made entirely of purifying, healing roots, herbs and barks, which are acknowledged to be specifics for diseases arising from an impure or poisoned condition of the blood and possessing tonic properties that act gently and admirably in the up-building of a run-down, weakened or disordered condition of the system.

One of the greatest points in favor of S. S. S. is that it is the only blood remedy on the market which does not contain a mineral ingredient of some kind to derange or damage the system. It is the one medicine that can be taken with absolute safety by the youngest child or the oldest member of the family, and persons who have allowed their systems to get in such condition that most medicines are repulsive to the stomach will find that S. S. S., while thorough, is gentle and pleasant in its action, and has none of the nauseating effects of the different mineral mixtures and concoctions offered as blood purifiers.

As every part of the body is dependent on the blood for nourishment and strength, it is necessary that this vital fluid be kept free from germs and poisons. So long as it remains uncontaminated we are fortified against disease, and health is assured; but any impurity, humor or poison acts injuriously on the system and affects the general health. Pustular eruptions, pimples, rashes, and the different skin affections show that the blood is in a feverish and diseased condition as a result of too much acid or the presence of some irritating humor. Sores and Ulcers are the result of morbid, unhealthy matter in the blood, and Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison etc., are all deep-seated blood disorders that continue to grow worse as long as the poison remains.

But all blood diseases are not acquired; some persons are born with an hereditary taint in the blood and we see this great affliction manifested in many ways. The skin has a waxy, pallid appearance, the eyes are often weak, glands of the neck enlarged, and as the taint has been in the blood since birth the entire health is usually affected.

In all blood troubles S. S. S. has proved itself a perfect remedy and has well earned the title of "KING OF BLOOD PURIFIERS." It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, humors, waste or foreign matter, and makes this stream of life pure and health-sustaining. Nothing reaches inherited blood troubles like S. S. S.; it removes every particle of the taint, purifies and strengthens the weak, deteriorated blood, and supplies it with the healthful properties it needs and establishes the foundation for good health. As a tonic this great medicine has no equal, and it will be found especially bracing to weak, anaemic persons.

Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all other blood troubles are cured permanently by S. S. S., and so thorough is the cleansing of the blood that no trace of the disease is left to break out in future years or to be transmitted to offspring. If you are in need of a blood purifier get "THE KING" of them all. S. S. S.—and good results are assured. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired furnished without charge to all who write.
