EMBARRASSMENT OF BAD REPRESENTATION

It is a deplorable matter for public comment, when a newspaper says the people of a great State have no cause to complain over their Senators at Washington, because these Senators are voiceless in important debates, because these men did not represent their people at home.

These Senators in question are Platt and Depew from New York, and the New York paper, says:

Had the Senators from New York been in their seats, taking part in legislation, they would simply have made more conspicuous the Senatorial degradation of the State and have been two additional votes to be counted against the desires of the people; while so thoroughly discredited are they that even the Aldrich crowd would have been embarrassed by their friendship and support.

And yet however the shame may be upon the people of a State for being thus represented in the person of men who stood for legislation inimical to the interests of the masses of the people, the fault lies not in the men who so misrepresented their constituents, but in the voters who accept such representation, without entering the protest at the ballot box which would place men in the Senatorships who would not be voiceless, or against the interests of those whom they represented.

SUMMER ADVERTISING

At this season of the year, the big line of advertising has for its subject those things which may be regarded as hot weather matters, included in these being resorts, excursions by rail and water, and things which largely enter into the physical comfort of mankind.

The very extensiveness of this summer advertising, which also means its contest in the newspapers for desirable space and position, often discourages the local advertisers of newspapers, who feel that they cannot afford to compete with railroad and boat companies or the big mountain or seaside resorts. But the advertiser of staples ought to recognize that this very same advertising, however its scope and largeness is a benefit to him, for it promotes circulation of the medium in which these advertisements are carried, and the person or family which seeks the resort or the transportation ad will likely as well seek the ad for staple goods, for staple goods, for summer goods for summer outings mean, active and many consumers of goods, and this includes a long and varied line of articles.

The live merchant knows that advertising is not a matter of whim, that it is a real part of his business, and that there is no season in which he may not sell goods with profit if he has them, and it is largely a matter of their proper and intelligent presentation to the public to secure sales. It is having what the public wants which is first needed, and then the able way to show where and how and at what price the goods may be bought at. Midsummer madness in trade is when the merchant thinks the weather is against his business, and refuses to advertise and keep himself known to the buying public.

LOCAL EDUCATIONAL INTERESTS

which completed the school year at the New Bern Graded School on last Friday, it is not without value, if only a brief review of the year be taken, and a few points noted. That the work for the past year shows a marked scholastic improvement, only one who has watched the school reports and visited the school will know. Attendance and punctuality, have been two of Superintendent Craven's hardest struggles to contend with, and the year's showing in these offer great reward for his ceaseless and persevering efforts, and it is a matter of congratulation that Mr. Craven has continued to urge these requisites until parents are aroused to the need of taking strong hold with Mr. Craven. That success should come, is no surprise. The effort should continue until the children become thoroughly inoculated with the fact that their punctuality and attendance is fully as much a part of their school life as their books and perfect recitations.

To the observer at the commencement exercises last Friday, and on the teachers and pupils part they were most excellently carried out in every detail, it was quite apparent that a theatre is not the proper place to hold such exercises. Necessity compelled this, but school enthusiasms and pride is never going to rise to any appreciable extent, unless school exercises be held in school buildings, with every surroundings lending its help to provoke educational enthusiasm on the mind of scholar, parent and visitor.

The urgent and positive need of an auditorium for the Graded School is so evident, that it only demands some action to bring about the erection of this auditorium.

No better season of preparation for more and better educational advancement in New Bern, can be offered than during these months when the school is not in session. Every building can be inspected, every needed supply can be found out, and before the school year of 1906 and 1907 opens, every needed improvement can be made and every deficiency in equipment can be made good.

But the Graded School cannot attain its best position, nor the educational interests of New Bern reach their true value until the chance be given for a rallying place, such as an auditorium offers, where can be gathered superintendent and trustee, teacher and parent and children of every grade, and in one great gathering can see each other, and all be impressed and enthused with real educational fervor, which such a gathering is sure to arouse when occasion offers, and the time is ripe to promote the spirit which shall rise to make every man, woman and child bound together, filled with the same devotion to carry on educational advancement, ever higher, and towards better and nobler ideals.

POLICE COURT NEWS

A Case of Moral Depravity, That Needs Attention. Similarity to a Raleigh Case.

In the police court yesterday Anna Bryant, colored, was on trial for maintaining a house of ill repute. The development of the case for which she was arraigned was quite a bit different than has been on trial in the local court and while it is a delicate matter to give publicity, it is important to publish the facts in order that conditions inimical to the moral welfare of the city may be corrected. It will be remembered that a tragedy was enacted at Raleigh under very similar circumstances, and a crusade was begun at once against such places.

Early yesterday morning policemen Lupton and Bryan had information that a colored transfer driver had taken a young white girl to the Bryant woman's house. They went there and found the girl occupying a room with ironmous Moye, the transfer driver before mentioned. Both persons were arrested as was also the Bryant woman and Moye, and the woman was given a hearing before Mayor Patterson yesterday afternoon. The girl, who was only fourteen years old, was taken home to Marshallberg, by her father. The girl's name is Emma Rose. Moye was fined twenty dollars and costs and the woman was bound over to Superior Court under $100 bond.

The girl is a sad specimen of moral depravity preferring the companionship of those of the colored race to that of her own, and indulging in language which should bring the blush of shame to the cheek of any one who uses it. She had the elements of a handsome young girl, but the hard and abandoned life she was leading was fast obliterating all traces of feminine beauty. She is said to have attempted to escape her father yesterday morning.

The woman who is better known as Anna Etheridge, has a bad reputation in police circles, and has been on trial a number of times.

Alfred Jones, colored, was arrested Friday morning on the charge of entering the house of Julia Spelman. Another charge is made of a more serious nature, that of attempted rape. He had entered the room where two of the woman's daughters were sleeping, and an alarm by one of them frightened the man away. His case was continued until Tuesday in order to secure evidence.

Kit Chapman, Joe Franks and Jimmie Warren, transfer drivers, were taxed the costs for driving overloaded transfers.

Fortunate Missourians.
"When I was a druggist, at Livonia, Mo.," writes T. J. Dewey, now of Graysville, Mo., "Three of my customers were permanently cured of consumption by Dr. King's New Discovery, and are well and strong today. He was trying to sell his property and move to Arizona, but after using New Discovery a short time he found it unnecessary to do so. I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as the most wonderful medicine in existence." Surest Cough and Cold cure and Throat and Lung healer. Guaranteed by all Druggists, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Russell's Creek
May 29,
I think the farmers are more encouraged since the nice showers we have been having in the last few days.

Mr. Alonzo Thomas passed through en route to his farm yesterday.

Mrs. Jessica Sparrow is spending a few days this week with Mrs. Ferrell.

Mr. Dan Lewis passed through our burg Sunday, en route to Beaufort.

Mrs. Lloyd Springle was the guest of her sister, Miss Janie Lewis, Friday afternoon.

There was a goodly number of young people from Wire Grass attended services Sunday.

We are glad to note that Rev. J. B. Russell is still improving.

We hear the noise of hammers, so we think Mr. W. W. Davis has commenced on his new dwelling again.

Rev. J. R. Jinnett filled his regular appointment Sunday at the Disciple church.

Misses Erah and Lillie Bell Springle, of Beaufort, are visiting relatives this week here.

The Elks Bazaar
The crowd at the bazaar last night was not diminished from other nights. From the opening at four o'clock, when the people assembled to see the repetition of the pretty dances given Wednesday evening until late last night the Elks entertained hosts of their friends. The booths keep up their attractions and during a dull period the band plays and the dance begins.

The course suppers are features that have made considerable money and they have been nicely arranged and served.

Today is the last day and every one should take advantage of this splendid opportunity to see the show. There are several additional features which have not been mentioned, but they will be immensely enjoyed. Remember the doll show tonight and the prize to be given to the child having the prettiest doll, also a prize goes to the one giving correctly the name of one of the dolls.

More Lynchers Arrested
Special to Journal.
Wadesboro, June 1st.—More arrests were made today for the lynching affair, and twenty-eight warrants have been issued for twenty-eight more. Two have turned state's evidence. The roads are guarded with armed citizens around the jail. The sheriff has received several anonymous letters threatening to kill him if he persists in prosecuting the prisoners. Public sentiment is strong with the Mayor.

CLASS OF 1906

Commencement Day Exercises of Graded School at Opera House. Interesting Exercises. Four Graduates.

Reception Last Night.
To the pupils, and the relatives and friends of those attending the Graded School, yesterday was a most important day, marking as it did closing exercises of the school, and the exercises which accompany commencement day.

The New Masonic Opera House, on the lower floor was comfortably filled, while on the stage were the class of graduates, four in number, Supt. Craven, Miss Hendren, Principal, County Supt. Brinson, President Green, and Trustees of the Academy, and Dr. B. F. Dixon, Speaker of the day.

Shortly before 11 o'clock the following program of the day's exercises began and was carried out:
Song—Star Spangled Banner.
Invocation—Rev. L. G. H. Williams.
Essay—New Bern in Colonial times; Esther Howard.
Essay—Public Schools in North Carolina. Fannie Smith.
Song—Soldiers Chorus.
Essay—Panama Canal. Clyde Hardison.

Presentation of Diplomas by T. A. Green.
Presentation of Medals by S. M. Brinson.
Presentation of Scholarships.
Literary Address by Dr. B. F. Dixon. Announcements.
Benediction.

The essays of the graduating class were well read and splendidly gotten up, the subjects all being of interest. President Green of the Trustees, in a few well chosen words presented the diplomas to the graduates, Misses Esther Howard, Fannie Smith, Carita Wallace and Mr. Clyde Hardison. Miss Howard was valedictorian.
The awarding of the four gold medals by Supt. Brinson was of special interest. With his usual pleasing and happy address Mr. Brinson made those receiving the medals greatly pleased, and also left those who had failed feeling that their efforts were appreciated, and their striving was not without good to them.

The medal for highest in mathematics went to Miss Esther Howard, for English, to Miss Sadie Rice, the Latin, to Misses Katie Styrone and Mary Ward, who tied.

Other awards were, scholarship to Elizabeth College, Charlotte to Miss Howard, and scholarship at A. & M. College, Raleigh, to Mr. Clyde Hardison.

The literary address of Dr. B. F. Dixon, of Raleigh, was in the gentleman's best style, and full of interest in every sentence to those who heard it. Doctor Dixon is one of the most pleasing of speakers, and his addresses all teem with valuable advice, delivered in the most convincing manner. He is always a welcome visitor in this city, where he has many friends.

OLD AND YOUNG

Find in Pe-ru-na a Reliable Friend.

For the Debility of Old People—
The Catarrhal Diseases of the Middle Aged—The Coughs and Colds of Children and the Various Ailments of Infants—Pe-ru-na is Used and Recommended.

A Grandmother Who Has Used Pe-ru-na in Her Family For Years.

Mrs. Helen Dawson, Snyder, Tex., writes:
"I believe Pe-ru-na to be the best tonic in use for a rundown system or general debility, also for all throat and lung trouble, and ailments originating from colds."
"I believe Pe-ru-na and Manilla would cure anything."
"I have used them in my family for years and never have a doctor bill to pay."
"I know the medicine to be all that is claimed for it."
"I recommend it to all."

Mr. Caleb Conklin, Midland, Ohio, writes:
"After studying and watching my grandson's case, I can truthfully say he is a well boy with no symptoms of catarrh at all."
"Before taking your treatment, he was constantly clearing his head and throat and gagging. The glands of his throat were swollen badly and he was very pale."
"He is quite a different boy now. The rest of us had heavy colds during the past winter so as to be laid up for several days, but he seemed to be fortified."
"Revised Formula"—For a number of years requests have come to me from a multitude of grateful friends, urging that Pe-ru-na be given a slightly laxative quality. I have been experimenting with a laxative addition for quite a length of time, and now feel gratified to announce to the friends of Pe-ru-na that I have incorporated such a quality in the medicine, which, in my opinion, can only enhance its well known beneficial character.
