JULES BRETON

Chicago Post.

The passing of Jules Breton after career of high accomplishment inevitably a reminder of the great achievements of the school of which he was the chief remaining representative. Breton did not approach the peasant with the religious fidelty of Millet, nor did he communicate with the same subharm as Corot the enchants mature, yet in his own way he mingled romanticism and naturalism, and preserved, in recording the common life of the field, a bitthe idealism which sprang se much from his own spontaneou poetic instinct as from the native char acteristics of his subject.

The peasant of Millet is, of course, an expression of Millet's own austerity and humility. Corot's trees entangle in their filmy branches the gentle dreams of the painter. And so the pleaners and weeders of Breton represent his happy and contented temperament, his love, of rounded contours and fresh complexions and statuesque limbs, his delight in the firm," healthy beauty of youth, seen either in the ess of early morn or at the hours of sunset, when labor has ceased and

His vision was not always free either from convention or from easy sentiment, but, like Wordsworth's, it has meant much to many men, myone set ammany,

MILLION DOLLARS

Warships on Parade at the Jamestown Exposition Next Year Will Repre> sent an Enormous Sum of Money.

Norfolk, July 13.-The Governmen of the United States having appropri-ated last year two bundred and fifty thousand dollars and this year one mil; lion, three hundred and twenty five thousand dollars to aid the Jamestown Ter-Cententennial Celebration, one fact if settled beyond peradventure, and that is in 1907 the most magnificent international mayal rentlezvous and military encampment that the world has ever seen will be on view at the Exposition near Norfolk Virginia.

The President of the United States. has invited all the nations of the world to be represented on that occasion by such of, their naval vessels and such regiments of their soldiery as it may be convenient to send, and all of the principal countries of the world have accepted the invitation

By 1907 the United States will have nission some of the finest battleships affoat, and will also have a great fleet of cruisers, torpedo boats, destroyers, gunboats and submarines. It. is probable that more than one-half of these will be continuously at anchor in Hampton Roads, and it is unlikely that any country possessing a navy will be without a good representation during the entire period of the Exposition.

A battle ship is unlike most marvels, in proximity increases the wonder. We know that the average horse power of a locomotive is about 1,000, and that several cruisers in the United States Navy have engines capable of generating twenty-three thousand or more, therefore the engines of a first-class cruiser is twent; -three times as powerful as the locomotives.

A train-load of twelve hundred tons is a heavy burden for a locomotive. A number of the United States battleships displace fifteen times this weight of water, and there are monster vessels of other navies still larger than ours. Imagine, then, the force represented by fifty battleships-a number very likely to be seen at any time during the Exposition- and this is exclusive of the smaller and yet wonderful and powerful vessels belonging to the cruiser class. France has over fifty submarines, and leads the world in this particular. The United States being second, with ten or twelve. However, all the countries of Europe have representatives of this class, and these under-water marvels will be seen at the Exposition.

Quick Steaming Record:

The Asheville Correspondent to the Charlotte Observer Says:

The first event of the tournament was the steamer contest between New Bern and Goldsboro on Pack Square. New Bern won the quick water prize and also the distinction of lowering the world's record. Geldsberg wen the long distance prize. There was one purse of $100 for quick water, with 60 per cent, to the winner and 40 per cent. to the loser; also a $100 purse for long distance water, with the same per cent to winner and loser. The two steamers were rolled to the tank located between the fountain and the city hall shortly after the parade and preparations made for the contest. New Bern had the first show. At the signal Fireof a wider reading of the Scripture in man Ephriam Brinson went to work with a vim. His complete knowledge of the machine at once won for him admiration and shortly when water was shown in record-breaking time applause burst from the New Bern admirers. The New Bern team got up steam and showed water in two minutes, six and one-half seconds, reducing the world's record inst 22 1-2 seconds The New Bern threw the water 219 feet and 10 1-2 inches. . . u man ment sa

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

A U. A. Ward for the House, (ADV)

Let the good people of Craven county rally about their worthy son, Hom. D. L. Ward, and send him to the House of Representatives, and show to the State that we appreciate his most enviable recording the last legislature. He is a man of ability and stands always for the best interest, not only of his constituents, but for the enfire commonwealth. Two years ago when Mr. E. M. Koopes was defeated for the Senate the people of Onslow county sent him to the House. Mr. Ward is not less worthy, and the people of Craven are usually as appreciative, so let them do likewise.

Mr. Ward's identification with the moral forces and the cassage of the Ward bill should be sufficient evidence hat his services are still needed 'The next legislature' will be a very important one and just such a mrn as. Mr. Ward should be there to protect our interest. The gentlemen now running for that office are good men, but this is a time when it seems to us that every man in Cranen county, can readily see our po-sition and understanding it, will be with us in this move.

.We have not consulted Mr. Ward on this matter, but we know he is still loyal to his party, and will serve his people when they call upon him. He can serve Crayen county better, and the State equally as well, in the lower House, and if we send him theoe, you may rest assured that he will be faithful to the trust reposed in him.

Raleigh, Jaly 14 "Raleigh's successful firemen arrived this afternoon from Asheville and were given a tremendous reception at depot and were escorted to the Metropolitan hall where they listened to speeches of welcome and congratulation for more than an hour. Refreshments were served to 300 or 400 firemen and their friends. They were met by the city officials in carriages and the whole city turned out to greet the victors.

The firemen and their hosts at Asheville deny to a man that young Harris Duffy. was at fault in the matter which provoked the censure from Durham and stated that the Durham Co., failed to make the connection having placed the nozzle against the car track.
