Putney, Eng., Sept. 8.—One of the greatest of university boat races that has occurred in years took place here today between the Cambridge (English) and Harvard (American) boat crew. Each team was in the best condition and the followers of each crew were confident. Experts bet heavily on the Harvard and the odds were in favor of the Americans who had the advantage of the lighter shell, Coach Wray and Capt. Filley of the Harvard were loud in praise of their men and had the utmost confidence in their success. Cambridge won position, took the lead down the winding river and kept it. The result was never in doubt although the Harvard worked nobly. When the race was finished, Cambridge was two boat lengths ahead. The victory surprised even the rowers for the English crew as they did not reckon on so great a victory.

The crowd witnessing the race was enormous. Among the noted people present were Ambassador and Mrs. Whitaker Reid, many of the English nobility and Harvard professors traveling in Europe. The attendance was estimated at 125,000.

SHYSTER LAWYERS WILL GET A JOLT

Colleges and State Institutions Open With Promise of Successful Year.

STATE EXHIBIT CAR LEAVES FOR THE NORTH

Big Crop of Corn in the State. Distressing Accident to Old Citizen. Carolina Gems on Exhibition. Beautifying Capital Grounds.

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—The Commissioner of Insurance is at the State Farm near Weldon, inspecting the buildings there in regard to placing the necessary insurance upon them. He has now inspected, for this purpose most of the State institutions.

The Baptist University for women here has opened with 225 boarding students and 100 from Raleigh.

From time to time the State papers have had something to say about the class of lawyers known variously as shysters and buzzards, who, as soon as a person is killed or dangerously injured by a railway rush to the home and get the case, oftentimes taking chances, charging no fee but agreeing to take half of the damages which may be received. Old lawyers, reputable men, are often heard to express surprise that these things go on and yet are loath to take the proceedings necessary to disbar people who do these things, but at last there is to be a test case, brought before the Supreme Court and pushed by an eminent lawyer which will jar not a few of the shysters in North Carolina. The case is now being prepared and a lawyer who is behind it says something will drop and fall very hard.

At the opening of the State School for the blind here it is expected that something over 300 will be present. This is the one institution in North Carolina which has plenty of room for pupils. All the others need room, mainly dormitory room.

The number of rural free delivery routes in North Carolina has now reached 1,150. Four of the carriers are women.

It is said by farmers that the corn crop this year will be the largest ever grown in North Carolina. The height of the corn is so great as to attract much attention. There is a very large storage in peas in the central portion of the State.

Today the car of exhibits to go from the agricultural department to the fair at Boston was loaded. There will be some 4,000 objects, everyone selected with special care and it can truly be said that though it is not a large exhibit it will be the best display the State has ever made from an artistic standpoint. The minerals, agricultural products and everything else will be treated artistically and in a way to arrest attention. Great numbers of New Englanders will be at the fair and excellent results are expected from the exhibit. Much literature about the State will be given away. Governor Glenn is much interested and has from the start been hopeful of the best results. It was at his instance that the exhibit was made.

The First and Second Regiments of the National Guard are being very completely equipped, the stores necessary having arrived from the War Department, a lot of them coming all the way from San Francisco, this is why they were so long in arriving.

Among the visitors at the executive office today was Solicitor Larry Moore of the First District.

As soon as the work of laying the granite walks in the capital square is completed the grounds are to be graded and reset with grass. It has been a great many years since this was done.

Mr. Priestly H. Mangum, of the widely known and prominent North Carolina family of that name who owns a very fine estate near Wake Forest College was so unfortunate as to break an arm by a fall this week. He is 78 years old and rides horseback a great deal. While walking a spur caught in a piece of iron and he had a violent fall to the ground.

Secretary Bruner and Curator Brimley of the Agricultural Department today packed the gems, gemstones and some of the rare minerals as well as the very fine collection of photographs illustrating all parts of the state which go to the Boston Exposition. Some very fine views of Toxaway are received. There is a splendid series of transparent photographs of the state from the mountains to the coast.

Miss Juliet of Howan brought a negro child to the post-office to serve 7 years for murdering another negro and child. Kenneth of Albemarle brought a negro to serve 10 years for the same kind of a crime.

An extra fine supply of washed and vend at the Coast Line Market.

Colored Man Killed by Train on Southern Road. Quarterly Meeting of Children's Home Society. Notes of the State Normal College.

Greensboro, Sept. 8.—A warrant was issued this morning against C. D. Masters & Co., a money lending firm here charging them with usury and extortion, and the case will be tried Monday.

Eugene Thom, a negro, is the complainant claiming that he has been made to pay more than $200 in usury fees for a loan. Besides the State law giving double the amount of usury as a judgment in favor of complainant, there is special statute for Guilford and New Hanover counties making the charging of more than the legal rate of interest a misdemeanor, and a prominent money lender here was bound over to court last week for this offense.

In Justice Collins' court today Dr. W. A. Lash was given judgment against the Tar Heel Publishing Company for $110 for rent past due, an official notice was served on the company to vacate the room on north Elm street used by the paper as an office.

Ruffin Harrison, a colored man, of this city, was killed by train No. 7 yesterday afternoon near Lake, a station near Lexington. It is said that the engineer blew several blasts in order to warn Harrison, and some of his fellow laborers also shouted at him, but he failed to get out of the way; he was not killed instantly, but received injuries from which he died later. He was one of the laborers employed in the Southern's double track operations. He leaves a wife and several children.

The regular quarterly meeting of the directors of the North Carolina Children's Home Society was held at the Benbow hotel last night with the following members present: General Julian S. Carr, J. Van Lindley, Ex-Gov. Chas. B. Aycock, Rev. Dr. H. W. Battle, A. M. Scales and Dr. Charles D. McIver.

Mr. J. B. Blades, of New Bern, was elected a member of the board of directors. State superintendent, W. B. Streeter made a report of the condition of the Society and several questions affecting the policy of the society were discussed. Supt. Streeter stated that there has been one hundred and sixty-five children received and provided for since the Society was organized three years ago. He said all the children of a normal condition that came to the notice of the Society were being provided for in worthy Christian homes.

George Ade's Clever Political Musical Satires.
In the successful musical comedy the "Sultan of Sulu", that will be the first of the musical shows to reach here this season, George Ade has written a political satire that ranks with the best of the older Gilbert and Sullivan pieces. Mr. Ade has taken for his theme our new Insular possessions in the Far East, where he has found plenty of local color of a brilliant not to say bizarre quality. Into this setting he has put an amusing story, replete with funny incidents and comedy situations of a new and interesting kind, together with a lot of the witty dialogue, sparkling lyrics and keen, yet kindly, satire for which he has become famous. A magnificent production, with new scenery and costumes and an exceptionally fine company has been provided by Corey.

The Sultan of Sulu in all his oriental splendor and majesty will appear at the Opera House next Friday night.

Letter to Simmons & Hollowell.
New Bern, N. C.
Dear Sirs:—
Now, may be, you can't get the goods; if you can, your fortune is made.
Cotton cloth—they call it muslin in some parts—at about the usual price yard, but wider, twice as wide as some, and better, wears better, keeps white and whole a surprising time in all sorts of wear.
You could sell that cloth for hundreds of miles; there'd be no limit.
A yard goes further; one buys less yards. Wears longer; one buys less of it. It always looks right till well worn-out. No one customer buys so much of it, but think of the number of customers!
May be you can't get it in cloth; but you can in paint: Devoe. Devoe is as if it were wider; a gallon goes further; you buy less gallons; you pay for less gallons; you pay for painting less gallons—as if one paid less for making a garment of that wide cloth—and it keeps its fresh look and sheds water till you have forgotten how old it is.
It isn't true in cloth, but it is in paint: the less you pay, the better it is; for the goodness of paint is reckoned by gallons; less gallons, more goodness. Goodness in paint is strength. The stronger a paint, the less gallons it takes for a job and the longer it wears.
Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.
New York.

TRAGEDY IN RED LIGHT DISTRICT.

A Killing, Whether Accidental or Intentional Will be Proved in Court.

A DEPLORABLE AFFAIR COMMITTED SUNDAY.

William Manson McCartney Shoots his Wife, His Solitude for the Wounded
Woman Implies Accident.
Evidence Develops Purpose.

Georgia McCartney, otherwise known as Georgia Moore, was killed Sunday morning at the house of Sue Scott at No. 41 West street, by a bullet at the hands of William Manson McCartney, her reputed husband. The affair is one of those unfortunate cases of which the circumstances would be revolting even were suspected murder not connected with it.

About 6:30 o'clock the inmates of the house were startled by a pistol shot and to see Mrs. McCartney who was a boarder, drop to the floor unconscious. The officer at Five Points was telephoned and policemen Howard and Bryan, responded and found McCartney bathing the woman and doing what he could to restore her. He was arrested by the policemen and went quietly to jail.

The woman never spoke after being hit by the ball and lay unconscious until after nine o'clock, when she died without the sign of a struggle. The ball entered the head at the right eye, and apparently took an upward course, lodging in the brain. Coroner Jones was notified, and empaneled the following jury: E. W. Rosenthal, foreman; O. A. Kafer, Secretary, C. P. Bartling, A. E. Bangert, Ed Clark and B. W. Styron. They reviewed the remains and then adjourned to Jones' office where the examination was continued.

McCartney was the first witness called and told a seemingly straight story of the affair, how he playfully took up the revolver from the dresser and that it discharged accidentally while the muzzle was pointing upward with the tragic result. His testimony was not unshaken by rigid cross questioning by members of the jury and it was thought then that he was going to prove his case of accidental shooting. When the inmates and others in the house were called to testify their evidence was at variance with McCartney in several particulars enough so as to make them suspicious that the shooting might have been intentional. The name of another witness was mentioned and it developed by degrees that this person was a very important witness, it was further learned that he had disappeared after the shooting. Coroner Jones issued a subpoena for the man, whose name was Pat Barry and deputy sheriff Williams found him at one of the railroad camps of the Raleigh and Pamlico Sound railway where he had been working. His evidence before the jury was of such a character as to put a much more serious light and acting on the evidence obtained the coroner held McCartney for trial in the superior court without bail. It is reported that McCartney is a tinner and worked for Elisha Odum on Craven street, that he came here from Wilmington about two months ago and that his wife preceded him.

The reputation of the place where the tragedy occurred led officials to believe that the affair was a repetition of the red light murders in Raleigh and elsewhere in the state. There is no question but that the woman was a bad character and that she sought the place in preference to a reputable boarding house. It is said that McCartney had a fight in the back yard of the Scott woman's house Saturday night and that Sunday morning the man and his wife had a dispute in an outhouse. The man Barry testified that he staid with the woman Saturday night.

The difficulties between the man and woman have not arisen from jealousy as he had acquiesced to her manner of life but over the division of money by the woman.

McCartney said they had been married for more than a year but did not show the certificate of marriage. The woman was 24 years of age and came originally from Jackson City, Tenn., where her parents are said to reside. McCartney's parents live in Wilmington. He has communicated with them about his difficulty.

The witnesses in the case were bound over to court in sum ranging from $50 to $200.
