POLITICAL ORATORY AND VOTE GETTING.

The statement in the public press, that the speaking of Mr. W. J. Bryan, on his trip through North Carolina during the past few days, has greatly helped the Democratic party of this State, is a statement which even those of opposite party convictions, will not deny. The question as to Mr. Bryan's position on public issues, has nothing to do with the effectiveness of his speeches. It is not whether his hearers believed all his ideas, or would vote for him, should he be the Democratic Presidential nominee. The fact that thousands were at the places where Mr. Bryan spoke, was cause in itself for a gain in Democratic strength.

The contention is sometimes made that political speaking is playing out. That the stump speaker is no longer a vote getter. Just how many votes the individual candidate may gain by his speeches, cannot be determined, but that political speeches help parties, when the right kind of speakers go upon the stump, cannot be denied. The help in getting the voters out, massed together in crowds, creating enthusiasm, and arousing an interest which a crowd always does. The political speaker should prepare the way in a campaign, by getting the voters out. Once aroused the interest, and the voter will follow arguments, read his newspaper, discuss with his fellow voter the political situation, and then be an early visitor at the polls on election day.

Naturally, Mr. Bryan attracted large crowds. His is the personality to do so. But reports also indicate that the Democratic State speakers are all having good crowds to hear their speeches, and this signifies an interest, and it should be the effort of all Democratic influences to keep up this interest in North Carolina. It is not enough that the Democratic party of North Carolina has an assured victory next November, at the polls. It is the duty, a duty that ought to be held a privilege and pleasure by every voter, to attend political meetings, listen to the speeches, keep informed on the issues of the day, and then cast his ballot on election day. It is good citizenship to be informed on public questions. It is only by knowledge that the vote can be cast intelligently. So that the voter who will keep up with the State Democratic party, and what it does for the advancement of the commonwealth, will be active in seeing that the party is kept in power in his state.

MENACES TO BUSINESS, LAW AND ORDER.

Familiarity with prevailing conditions, too often produces indifference and a neglect to correct. Poor sidewalks and streets often passed over, less their worst aspects because the eyes and feelings have become familiar and indifferent to their badness.

It is not that those in control of the municipal affairs of New Bern are over careless, or do not desire local improvements. But with many things to demand attention, unless their attention is called to them, bad conditions may prevail which can be easily remedied. Two matters it seems to the Journal calling for municipal action, are more or less lights for the center of certain streets in the business section, and the removal of all shelters covering the sidewalks in the business section.

If any citizen will note how dark it is in the street, in the middle of the down town blocks, and how little light comes from the are lights at each intersecting street corner, to help light the sidewalks between street corners, the demand for these additional are lights will be apparent. Well lighted streets serve not only business interests, but there is less of blurring to be feared. As to the shelters they are a menace to the sight, they also a provincial aspect to the streets, and are a source of ridicule from every visitor. In case of fire they are a menace to all property where fires occur, and as a rule they are tottering and dangerous dead falls, with rotten props, only waiting to be pulled down by some carelessly hitched horse, and cause severe injury to the innocent passer-by.

Both of these are menaces, too little light, and the dead fall shelter. The remedy is not only necessary, but it does not involve any special expense to the city.

The changes would give greater safety to the people, serve to promote better law and order, and every business interest would be helped. It is time for New Bern to shake off some of its provincialism, and get into twentieth century ways and manners.

THE CREATION OF IDEALS

Creating ideals to live up to, and building air castles in which to take imaginary repose and happiness, are not just the same. Day dreams are not harmful, if they are not made all-sufficient, to usurp the time which ought to be given to real workaday efforts. The creation of ideals holds a higher place than air castle building. And yet there often comes failure, when ideals are sought, not because they might not be attainable, but for the reason of human weakness.

It is the creating in thought of higher purposes which makes ideals seemingly beyond reach. They appear ideal because they are fuller and better than what at present exists. In community life, in social life, in church life, ideals ever present themselves. So also in the individual life the ideal is helpful as a stimulus for its attractiveness, the possibility of its attainment, gives courage to strive, the hope to secure.

It is the action, the impulse towards better things, which makes laudable the creation of ideals. Character in every thing calls for the ideal stimulus to develop and help its growth. Community advancement would never take place, except for those citizens who urge improvements, even in the face of obstacles. State and nation reach their high position through the progressive ideal strivings of their people. The ultra idealistic person, appears fanatic in his would-be creations. Yet, the effort to attain the seeming impossible will find some place of advancement far beyond the point of starting, and it will be a gain.

Thought of failure, can never enter into ideal creation. Ideals enter into thought creation because they are considered as possible, to reach. The falling short of the full ideal, need not discourage. It does not daunt the true idealist, simply lends strength to reach for a new and higher place, in the plan of advancement, whatever it may be. It is this seeking to improve, which gets the person beyond his present environment, and once started towards better, greater things, makes each advance easier, and so brings to a nearer reality the ideal sought.

This Fierce Weather.

For hot September weather, the year 1906 has the years for a long way back skinned. There has not been a day with maximum less than 85 degrees and the average will be easily 90 degrees. Several of these days the mercury has shot up to 94 and 96 degrees thus assuming a heat that a July day might boast of.

Yesterday the mercury registered 88 degrees. In the afternoon a breeze arose and fanned the fevered brow of prespiring humanity. Clouds covered the skies, there was some thunder but little rain.

The forecasts for the past week have been misleading, predicting rain but "old pros" is a contrary sort of a chap and delights to give us weather we're not looking for, not desiring.

Minstrel to Travel Luxuriously

New York Sept. 21.—A private letter from the town of Pullman, Ill., is to the effect that the Pullman Company has submitted drawings for a train of three special palace cars for the use of Lew Dockstader and his company, for delivery about January 1. One of these cars will be for the occupancy of Mr. Dockstader's minstrel associates, with a complete kitchen at the rear end; another is to be constructed for the housing of scenery and luggage, and the third will be for the exclusive use of Mr. Dockstader himself, together with members of his family, his manager and his private secretary. This train of luxuriously equipped railway carriages will travel on special schedules almost entirely.

PROFESSOR ROBESON COMING BACK.

The Popular and Accomplished Band Leader to Instruct the K. of P. Band During the Winter.

Prof. Eugene Robeson, the popular and highly valued instructor of the K. of P. Band, has decided to again spend the winter in New Bern and the band members are rejoicing over "signing" Gene as there were so many tempting offers from other towns up for his consideration that they were afraid they could not compete with the offers but being backed by the Lodge itself, they were able to cope with the offers and land their man.

Prof. Robeson, during his stay here, made many warm friends, and as a musician he is just as good as there is going, and no doubt the band will advance to the standard under his leadership. Prof. Robeson is expected to arrive next week and the members will then get down to business practicing.

It is the intention of the band to cater especially for dances during the winter and they will also be prepared to render indoor work where their services are desired. A careful selection has been made in securing the dance numbers as will be seen by the following list:

Kiss of Spring Waltz.
When the Whip-poor-will sings Marquerite.
Voice of the Flowers Waltz.

At the New Masonic.

Donnelly and Hatfield minstrels presented a high-class show last night at the New Masonic. It was a minstrel entertainment that entertained, and the performance was strong in those features which theatre-goers want, good singing; good musical playing and appropriate stage setting and costumes. In these, Donnelly and Hatfield excelled, and the appreciation of the large audience was evident in every part of the performance. The comedy work was of a high order, and the specialties were all enjoyable.

THINK OF IT!

The Pretty Matron Had Headache and Backache—Her Condition Was Serious.

RELIEF IN PE-RU-NA.

MRS. M. BRICKNER.

99 Eleventh street, Milwaukee, Wis.
Dear Sirs—A short time ago I found my condition very serious. I had headache, pains in the back, and frequent dizzy spells which grew worse every month. I tried two remedies before Peru-na, and was discouraged when I took the first dose, but my courage soon returned. In less than two months my health was restored.

The reason for so many failures to cure cases similar to the above is the fact that diseases peculiar to the pelvic organs are not commonly recognized as being caused by catarrh. Catarrh of one organ is exactly the same as catarrh of any other organ. What will relieve catarrh of the head will also relieve catarrh of the pelvic organs. Peru-na relieves these cases simply because it relieves catarrh. Peru-na is sold by your local Druggists. Buy a bottle today.

ST. MARYS OPENS AUSPICIOUSLY.

The College of North and South Carolina Dioceses.

[Special Correspondence.]
Raleigh, Sept. 21.—The opening of St. Mary's Female School here today was a very brilliant one. Many students, relatives and friends including a number of alumnae assembled to witness the opening exercises. A procession was formed and entered the chapel, headed by the Bishop, the rector, other clergymen, the trustees, faculty and students, all singing the hymn "The Church is One Foundation." The short special service was followed by an address by Rector Bost, of St. Philip's church, Durham, whose subject was, "An education not to be repented of." He pointed out that this was the time of opportunity. That St. Mary's stands for noble talk, high ideals and character developments, as well as for high grade of scholarship. Bishop Cheever then announced the 64th year of the school as formally begun. The congregation left the chapel singing "Savior, Blessed Savior." The enrollment of boarding pupils is 144, the largest in the history of the school, this taxing the dormitory capacity something beyond its limits, and several rooms in the infirmary have been put in temporary use until other arrangements can be made.

A number of applications to be refused admission for lack of room. There is a full day school with over one hundred students. There are young women from nearly all the Southern states and also from Maryland and New Jersey, among them being Miss Overman, daughter of Senator Lee S. Overman, and Miss Wilson, a daughter of President Woodrow Wilson, of Princeton University. Much work has been done at the school during vacation, the library has been refurnished and carefully catalogued; there is a new laundry; the auditorium is under way and probably will be ready for use late in the winter. Rector DeBose is receiving congratulations on his work.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Makes Kidneys and Bladder Right

Trade Report.

New York, Sept. 21.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say for Richmond and vicinity:

Local wholesale drygoods houses are especially busy. They are entering new fields with favorable results and indications are that at the end of the present season their sales will show an increase of at least 30 per cent over those of any previous year. Collections in this line continue to improve. The produce market is devoid of special features with the exception of the fact that the weather is unseasonable for the favorable handling of perishable products. Small quantities of 1906 crop tobacco are being marketed; prices are good considering the quality. Ware house men anticipate good prices during the entire season, as the weather during the summer months was unfavorable for the growing crops, which will not be more than 1 of an average one.
