Art Exhibit.

Mrs. Bayard Wooten has returned from Asheville where she went to attend the Virginia-Carolina photographic convention, she reports a most enjoyable and profitable time and obtained much good in the line of artistic photography the results of which she will use for the benefit of the public.

She was fortunate enough to make arrangements to have an art exhibition here which will include oil paintings, water colors, pastels and sketches, and a line of ivory miniatures. All the pictures are artistic gems and will be greatly admired by all who see them. Such a display has never been seen in New Bern. Announcement will be made later when these pictures will be on exhibition at Mrs. Wooten's studio everybody should see them.

A Certain Cure for Croup—Used for Ten Years

Without a Failure.
Mr. W. O. Bott, a Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors and all who have used it say that it is unequalled for croup and whooping cough. For sale by Davis Pharmacy and F. S. Duffy.

After the 31st Day of October No Credit Will be Given by the Drivers of the Ice Wagons.

If our customers will think for a moment they will appreciate our difficulty and embarrassment in this credit business by the drivers of wagons.

It is difficult to secure in one and the same person, a wagon driver and a bookkeeper.

In selling the ice on credit as our wagons are now doing, the driver must keep a debit and a credit account with each customer; where more than a hundred customers ask for credit for five to ten cents worth of ice from day to day from each driver, it is difficult to find the right man to drive the wagons and deliver ice.

With a cash system we can give far better service in the delivery.

Those wanting credit can secure it from the office in the purchase of coupon books.

Coupon books will be sold at a 10 per cent discount at office or by the driver. If purchased from the drivers, cash must be paid for them.

COUNTY SCHOOL HOUSES.

Many Townships Are Building New Schools. People Show More Interest in Education.

Throughout the county there is a feeling that the better the schoolhouse, the better the education and there is a strong movement to provide better buildings for schools. Although in most cases these structures are not pretentious, nor perhaps as large as they ought to be, yet, it shows a growing desire to have good schools and good houses.

We are pleased to publish a list of these new buildings and will say that these are only a start and other communities will start building soon.

Cove, new schoolhouse, to cost $1,200.

Fort Barnwell, new schoolhouse, to cost $1,200.

At Dover a new room has been added to the comparative new building to make accommodations for the growing attendance.

North Harlowe is to have a new schoolhouse which will cost $600.

Creston also is contemplating building one.

Vanceboro will probably join the procession at an early date but nothing definite has been decided yet.

The money is furnished by a fund known as the State Loan Fund which was created for this very purpose and which has found to be a very important help in erecting schoolhouses throughout the State.

Death of Mrs. Josephine Dixon.

Beech Grove loses another most estimable member of our society, and heaven gains another star in the galaxy of the elect. Mrs. Josephine Dixon, the wife of Mr. H. W. Dixon died Oct. 11th at her home on the Washington road. We laid her remains to rest in Beech Grove cemetery Friday evening the 12th inst. She leaves a mother, husband and six children. We shall all miss her, the church, the community and the fond ones of the large home circle, where she was best known, she will be missed most.

Her life needs no eulogy, she was a living embodiment of what was pure and good in all her relations of life, though only about 46 years of age, she leaves the impression of a mature Christian life of devotion to all that was good and pure in life.

We can well commend to her loved ones and neighbors her devotion to the Master and the loved ones at home.

FROST KING'S REIGN BEGINS

The Winter Gets an Early Start With an Exceedingly Fierce.

The frost settled on this section Thursday night as was to be expected on account of the low temperature of the two preceding days. While the thermometer did not get low in the glass it was the lowest that any October weather has been for many years. When we consider that only two weeks ago the mercury averaged 91 degrees in the shade we can note how sudden is the change. It is a feature in the weather that is not conducive to good health. The cold weather has damaged the cotton crop badly and has been the means of many thousand dollars loss. The minimum temperature observed yesterday was 31 degrees.

SHORT PASSING EVENTS.

The Menhaden fisheries are said to be a total failure this year. The Wilmington Dispatch states that the season opened ten weeks ago but for six weeks there have been no fish caught at all. The reason is not known but the lack of this particular kind of fish is noticed all along the eastern coast of the Carolinas.

The interest in the base ball struggle at Chicago may be inferred from offers from Denver for $10,000 for the seventh game, if it is necessary, while the Chamber of Commerce at Spokane, Wash., offers $15,000 for the game and guarantees sunshine.

THE GALLANT SEMINOLE.

Revenue Cutter Saves Life And Prosperity With Business Like Dispatch.

(By Willard Homan.)

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 13.—To save three score lives from death and rescue more than a half-million dollars worth of property from destruction is an achievement of which most men would gladly talk. Such however is the record of the Revenue Cutter Seminole for the first six months of the year and hardly a man or officer of her crew can be persuaded to talk of it. This vessel is today busily engaged in patrolling the waters of the Southern Atlantic seaboard from Cape Hatteras to Jacksonville and it is probable that she will visit Norfolk next year during the life of the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition and that many thousands of persons may have an opportunity to see the useful craft.

The Seminole is a single crew vessel of 785 tons and is one hundred and eighty feet in length. She is built of steel and has a speed of about 17 knots. She is commanded by Capt. J. H. Quinn. Her first rescue of the year was that of the schooner Adelbert Ames of New York. This occurred on January 18th, 1906. The schooner was bound from Wilmington to New York when she was flung on a shoal at the Cape Fear bar near Wilmington, N. C., by a southwest gale. The schooner was pounding to pieces when discovered by the Revenue Cutter. The Adelbert Ames was hauled off by the Cutter and later towed into Wilmington by a passing tug. The schooner carried a crew of seven men.

The Seminole met the American bark Ethel, of Elizabeth, N. J., off Cape Hatteras on January 27th with ten men aboard. The vessel was making twenty-four inches of water per hour from a leak sprung in a heavy gale which was being raging. The crew of the Seminole were at once ordered to relieve the tired men, and at length the vessel was towed into Lookout Light, N. C. Two days later the Seminole started for Southport, towing the Ethel. The hawser by which she was fastened to the Revenue Cutter, parted three times during the trip. She was finally got into smooth water inside of the Cape Fear bar, and then it was found that she did not leak as fast as in the rough water outside. The bark would have undoubtedly sank had not the Revenue Cutter chanced upon her. A little later the Seminole pulled the American schooner, Maggie S. Hart, of New York off the shore at Hatteras Inlet where she had been flung by a heavy gale. The Maggie S. Hart was fast pounding to pieces when the Seminole reached her. The tug "Rescue" was present and assisted the Seminole in the work of hauling the schooner off the shoals. The next days heavy storm arose which would have broken her to pieces without doubt. She was towed into Norfolk where repairs were made. The Seminole had no sooner finished this piece of work when she was notified that a derelict was floating about the ocean in the vicinity of Hatteras. She at once went in search of it and found and destroyed the derelict fifteen miles southwest by south of Hatteras light.

The next exploit in which this cutter was engaged was the rescue of the Clyde Line Ship Navahoe from the clutches of the bar at Middle Ground Shoal Cape Fear. The Navahoe had a large crew and carried besides a large number of passengers. She also had a valuable cargo aboard.

The four masted schooner Myrtle Tunnel of Philadelphia was dragged off Frying Pan Shoals near Cape Fear a short time after. This vessel and its cargo were worth about $100,000.

Cruising off Cape Fear on the 18th of June the officers of the Seminole saw a sunken schooner squarely in the path of navigation. Charges of dynamite were lowered to the schooner's deck 8 fathoms below the water and she was blown up. This derelict was the schooner Jennie Sweeney of Philadelphia. Six hundred and fifty pounds of dynamite were used in destroying this vessel.

It is stated that a locomotive engine going a mile a minute gives 20 puffs a second.
