ROOSEVELT THE REPUBLICAN ISSUE

The political campaign of 1906, which ends Tuesday, November Sixth, must be set down as remarkable in some ways, but in one way in particular has it established the fact of the Republican party discarding its platform and principles, and pledging its support to the platform and principles of its President.

With the exception of perhaps one piece of property, the store on Middle street occupied by Davenport and Son, property owners along the proposed street would quite likely give free right of way, and be glad to have the street cut through. The store in the line, is not very valuable, and the property could be condemned by the city.

The advantages from such a street, commercially, will be noted by every business man at once. It would give a short haul between important freight terminals. There would be room for a line of railroad track, besides a street for teams. This would relieve South Front street from the present amount of teaming, and give better chance for merchants on that street to do business.

From Maine to New York, the republican campaign has been Roosevelt, his lieutenants, voicing the President's sentiments, urging Rooseveltian methods. It has not been dignified but no fight is to be carried on with full dress regalia, and come out without damaged collar and coat tail. The new precedent of a Secretary of State at a Roosevelt order, entering upon a local political campaign, with bill posters and denunciations, is established.

An Inexpensive Hammock. A cheap and comfortable hammock may be easily made by taking two bur-lap sacks, two strong sticks the length of both sacks, and three sticks the width of the sacks. Put one at each end of the long sticks and the third about ten inches from one end. Fasten these to the long sticks firmly. Now take the sacks and pull one on at each end and sew together in the middle with strong string, and the hammock is finished. A piece of bur-lap may be fringed and sewed to the sides if desired.

A GHASTLY RAILROAD EXHIBIT. The railroad accident bulletin issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission, recently issued, gives a ghastly exhibit of figures, showing the number of wreck victims, for the twelve months ending June 30th, 1906.

For the twelve months there were 418 passengers and 4,225 railroad employes killed. The total number of casualties show an increase over the previous year of 11,000, or a total for the year ending June 30th, 1906, of 70,934. The fact that the property loss was $10,659,189, is the least deplorable in the showing.

That many railroad accidents are due to absolute carelessness or inefficiency of employes is well known, and while many accidents are apparently unavoidable, still they might have been prevented, if vigilance were used by the railroad officials. The bulletin shows that during the last four fiscal years the total number of casualties in railroads amounted to 234,760. Of these casualties, 15,864 represented deaths of employes and passengers and the other 218,896 casualties consisted of individual injuries. In the same four-year period 1,000 passengers were killed on the railroads.

it, until there is a showing made by them of a large decrease in accidents, casualties, injuries received, or deaths resulting, and in a service to those who travel and pay for the proper protection, that is rightfully due every passenger, that places his person under the care of a railroad.

BETTERMENTS FROM ASHES

Local fires, especially where old property is destroyed, usually prove of advantage to the community. In New Bern during the past two years, there have been fires, big and menacing, destructive of the property in which the fires originated. And while some property was destroyed that could be classed as in fair condition, there has been property burned that could hardly be classed as a loss. In all the fire losses, better buildings have taken the place of the buildings burned.

In the market dock fire, which cleared away a number of old frame buildings, there is given the chance to make several desirable improvements. The widening of the present water slip at the foot of Middle street, by rebuilding on the land instead of repiling the area that was formerly over the water. New buildings will of course replace the old. And perhaps most worthy of serious consideration, is the suggestion that there be a street opened up, extending from Craven St. to the A. & N. C. freight warehouse on the Trent river.

With the exception of perhaps one piece of property, the store on Middle street occupied by Davenport and Son, property owners along the proposed street would quite likely give free right of way, and be glad to have the street cut through. The store in the line, is not very valuable, and the property could be condemned by the city.

Rochester—This city gives Hughes a plurality of 1,908. Ithaca—The election here resulted as follows: Hughes 1,806, Hearst 1,571. The Brooklyn Eagle signals that great New York has been carried by Hearst.

Baltimore—Congressman Mudd (Rep.) is elected by 900 majority. New York—Chairman Connors of the Democratic State Committee says: "From the present information in my possession I am able to state that Mr. Hearst has carried the state by 40,000 majority. Mr. Hughes will come down to Harlem river with not more than 70,000 plurality. I concede Erie county to Hughes by 2000 and Brooklyn by not more than 3000.

The Sun says: "The count in Rochester shows that Hearst has plurality of 730. Des Moines Iowa—The vote for governor is large. Cummings majority is somewhat reduced but he will be elected. New York—The Associated Press bulletin present returns indicate that Hughes is elected by 40,000.

Jacksonville, Fla.—All democratic candidates in this State are elected. The legislature is presumably democratic. The proposition by Governor Broward to drain the everglades is defeated.

The Democrats carry Wake Co. by 2,300 majority. Forsyth county last year, 270 Democratic, in doubt. Anson Democratic 1,000, Democrats carrying every precinct. Yadkin probably 400 Republican, loss of 300 to that party. Stokes again Republican.

Intense interest is felt in the eighth and tenth Congressional districts. Returns from only ten counties. In the eighth Hackett carried Iredell by 100 over Blackburn, a Republican gain of 200; he carries Stanly by 200, a gain of 250. Republicans make heavy gains in Asheville over Crawford. This district went Democratic a few years ago by 833, and Blackburn carried the eighth by 255.

Additional returns up to ten o'clock appear to show the election of Hackett and Crawford to Congress from the 8th and 10th districts. Hackett gains 253 votes in the home county of Blackburn. Hackett's gain so far 650. He makes gain in Haywood county.

The New York Herald says the entire Tammany judiciary ticket is probably elected by a large majority. The World bulletin says Hughes elected governor, and Chandler, democrat, lieutenant governor. Republicans sweep Connecticut, carrying State and Congressional tickets by large pluralities.

In Wyoming, late returns indicate republicans carry State ticket by good majority, and legislature will elect republican senator. The New Jersey State legislature will be largely republican. At Philadelphia republicans claim the State by over 50,000 majority.

Republicans carry Delaware, electing Burton over Marvel, democrat, and will control State legislature. Senator Simmons claims 45,000 Democratic majority in North Carolina.

PARTICIPATION OF CITIES

A New Departure in Exploitation to be Feature at the Jamestown Exposition

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 6.—Among the many interesting features of the Jamestown Ter-Centennial exposition to be held by the shire of Hampton Roads near Norfolk next year will be the hearty participation of the cities. The first large city to definitely fix upon the Jamestown Exposition as a proper place to exp. of its greatness was the city of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Other cities are rapidly falling in line behind the metropolis of the great northwest. Washington, D. C. is now arranging to make a comprehensive exhibit at the great celebration and other cities are doing likewise.

Notices were sent out recently by a joint committee of prominent Washington business men to people of Washington calling on them to aid in making a great exhibit at the Jamestown celebration. The Board of Trade, the Business Men's Association and the Jobbers and Shippers Association are behind this movement and several meetings have already been held in connection with their plans. The members of the committee on behalf of the Board of Trade are Thomas W. Smith, Robert H. Harper and J. H. Small, Jr., Those acting for the Jobbers and Shippers Association are Charles J. Bell, President Monroe Luchs, Secretary and R. P. An drews.

These men feel confident that 10,000 or more square feet of floor space will be taken up at the exposition by the commercial interests of Washington. The business men of the capital feel that it is particularly urgent that the opportunity to make a good showing be fore the world should not be lost inasmuch as all Washington is anxious to make the city one of the greatest in the country.

In Milwaukee similar plans are under way and they have progressed much farther than at Washington. This form er city is now assured of a great exhibit at the Jamestown fair which will do much toward forming the city's commerce. Committees have been appointed and funds are now being raised to carry on this project.
