ONE BAROMETER OF PRCSPERITY

Of the many industries in this country which may be held as indicative of the country's prosperity, the iron industry is one of the greatest. Almost a count less number of men and people depend upon it for their livit g. and every interest of importance is directly or indirectly affected as the iron production may be

The increase in the out-turn of pigiron is something enormous. In 1905. the production in the State of Pennsylvania, alone, was 10,579,127 tons, or about 2,000,000 tons more than the whole output of the country in 1896 while for the year ending June 30th, 1906, the pigiron output was the largest in the history of the business, that is it amounted to 24 432,106 tons.

The use of iron is becoming greater sach year. Specially is it true of this country, where the structural work consumes thousands of tons, and variour manufactures demand iron rather than wood, because of the growing scarcity and high price of the latter. As compared with the rest of the world it is estimated that the percapita con sumption of pigiron in this country is 620 pounds against 68 pounds.

ROAD BUILDING EIGHTH TOWN-SHIP.

The spirit of good road building can truthfully be said to be growing and developing into real and tangible results in Craven county. On a trip over the Trent road from New Bern to the Jones county line, the good work is specially to be seen. This road has functony character. As the average person notes in the newspaper that the in Ten Days, Use Nadinola President has set the day for Thanksgiving. As is further noted, the Govern or of the State has set his hand and sea to denote the same day. So perforce the merchant, the business man and the citizen accept the day as a holiday, and partially if not entirely, observe

But Thanksgiving Day observance, in its true sense has a far greater significance than is given it. Very few perions read the President's or Governor's proclamation. Yet it is a matter of personal profit if one or both, were read. If a study was made of the official proclamation for Thanksgiving Day, there could not help but be an inschool meeting yesterday a young lady dividual change of thought. There would come that individual introspecof this city, who is very prominent as acity missionary, told of her exciting tion, the looking backbrand twelve adventure Saturday on a train on the months, if not many years, and a men-Southern Railway coming from Salistal note be made of blessings which have bury to Raleigh. At Thomasville four come, and been accepted without thought, much less a prayer of gratitude to the Giver. The plea of "busiless. 'The offered excuse of "being so drew a self-acting revolver and fired busy," is all sufficient to many, to per six shots, one of which almost grazed the cheek of the young lady in question nit them to pass by or neglect to no

Hang Out Your License!

Revised statute law No. 3239 is most important one for those who hold U. S. licenses to sell liquor. It calls for the public and prominent display of the license. Several parties in this city hold these icenses issued by Uncle Sam. Some fail to show the credential. Yesterday J. W. Hamilton was before C. B. Hill, US Commissioner, charged with failure to observe 3239. He gave bond for his appearance before the next term of the Federal Court.

Work Progressing Rapidly. (Special Correspondence.)

Raleigh, Nov. 27th -The contractor who is at work on the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound Failway was here today and reports that everything is being pushed young white men, all intoxicated, got as rapidly as possible, all sections of ou the train. They left it at some station between that place and Raleigh the line being covered. The contractor and as they were departing one of them is the leading man in this line of business in the United States and he has a great force at work. The importance of completing the road at an early day is felt. There will be two ways of getting from Raleigh to Beaufort, one by going to a point about forty miles from New Bern, and then by a branch to that place and thence to the coast, the other by using a branch line across from Snow Hil. The distance from Raleigh to Norfolk by this rute is considerably longer than by the Seaboard Air Line or the Southern, but the Raleigt & Pamlico Sound will be a competitor for business between these

An Informal Rrception,

There will be an informal reception at the Stewart Sanatorium Thanksgiving Day from 3 to 5 p. m. and 8 to 10 p. m., to which the public are cordially invited. This is an institution which deserves much praise and a special request to the public to visit the place and note the perfect system with which the affairs are conducted. The success of the hospital is partially dependent on the knowledge the public have of it, and this they cannot have without a personal visit there, and consequently we believe it will be to the advantage of all concerned for the public to ac cept this invitation.

been for years, in places, notoriously bad. So bad that a great deal of country trade has been lost to New Bern The change today is most gratifying. While the road is not yet completed, yet unless the weather is bad the nine miles can be trotted by a horse and buggy. This is progress, and besides the greatly improved roadway, the road is being straightened and broadened, the width to be forty feet. A drive over this road gives an idea of the improvements already made, and those being made. The widening of the road gives a most beautiful effect, together with the straightening. Every farm along the road is already more valuable, for the improved road makes the distance in driving time, much less to New Bern. In Mecklenlurg county, six miles from Charlotte, farm lands sell for fifty dollars an acre, due to their accessibility, because of good roads.

Craven county is now putting into service its convicts on the roads, instead of giving this labor away, to be used in other counties. The work of road construction in this, the eighth township, is in charge of Mr. J. M. Spencer, and the work is being faithfully and skillfully pushed along. The road tax, which cannot be felt by any taxpayer, is being well used, and with a continuation of road building as now going on, this township will soon have good roadways leading from all sides into New Bern. This will mean increased trade for the merchants. It means increase of farm values, and ensior and quicker getting to market with produce by the farmers. Outside of the educational tax, the good roads tax is the best investment for 'ax payers, good roads and good schools. ically go together. Let the tax for good and better county roads be made in every township in Craven.

Prohibition Is Not All. The Greensboro Record says wisely: "One fault with prohibition is that Sawyer. too often its most enthusiastic supporters take it for granted that as they do not see a saloon open and doing busi-'clock. ness there is no liquor being guzzled and they are content. One great aim of prohibition is to stop making drunkards; the old rounders are of course going to get liquor and drink it. It would be a good idea if some concerted movement were made to induce the young boys around this town to desist from the habit of buying liquor by the gallon. We say "induce" for it is a case where they cannot be prohibited from doing It. It is about time that moral sussion was added to the existing laws, for as sure as the sun shines number of young fellows who were never seen around saloons are "biting" at the bait. It is quite fashionable for three or four to chip in and buy a gallon and awig it in U.eir rooms. This is a dangerous practice and it is making drunkards right under the nose of prohibition and the worst of it is that it is done with great secresy. Time was when nothing could hide the smell of booze on one's breath, but in this age of "improvement and invention," fellow has discovered something that kills the smell. We were talking to a young fellow the other day and he was full to the brim, yet a trained nonetrained from experience-could not de-tect the least smell of liquor. A little mary work would do a great mount of good just about now. At we are telling the truth."
