AN OBJECT TO WORK FOR.

New Bern Wants The Normal School of Eastern Carolina A Good Offer to Start.

Within a few days the legislature will take up the bill and determine the fate of the bill to establish a Normal School for Eastern Carelina and New Bern is in the race for the location of the school and we believe this city can offer some advantages equal to any other city competing for this prize. Her location is a point in her favor and the development that is in progress now, the railroad building, industrial activity and growing population all demonstrate that New Bern's star is in endancy and that it is best for many reasons to establish the school here. It will be a means of circulation of money the value of which it would be difficult to estimate and in every way it is something to work for. A gentleman will donate property valued at $1 200 if the school shall be located here and this offer should be an incentive to double or triple this nt and do all in our power to make this a sure thing. We can get paid, Greensboro, Feb. 8.-Frank Bohan ion, the negro railroad hand, who so orutally murdered R. E. Beachman the foreman of the Southern railway gang, in which gang Bohannon had worked, but had been discharged, today paid the full penalty of the law. The murder was committed at James town, near here July 31st, 1906.

At 11 o'clock this morning Rev. W R. Tolliver, pastor of one of the colored churches here, and who has been administering to the dead man for some time, held a regular service in the dead man's cell. > Raleigh, N. C., February 9th. In the House a bill was introduced requiring insurance companies to pay full amount of loss for which premiums have been collected. The Senate discussed at some length Daniels' bill to construe the statute providing a penalty for delaying transmission of freight. It was stated that the word "transport" in the original statute had been construed by the supreme court to mean "to begin to carry" and the bill is to make clear the meaning the court having requested the legislature to construe the act. The bill was made special order for Tuesday.

The bill to create Lee county passed with only one dissenting vote. The chief discussion of the day was on the bill to give McDowell county entire prohibition and abolish the saloons and distilleries at Marion. It was stated that one man ruled affairs at Marion, a barkeeper and distiller, who used $3,200 and 1,000 gallons of whiskey to corrupt the town. The bill passed by a vote of 32 to 4.

A WEEK OF CIVIL CASES

Last Week of the Winter Term.

The case of Smith vs the Norfolk & Southern Co . was the first on the calendar for trial in the Superior court yesterday. It was an important case in admiralty proceeding and one which aroused a good deal of interest, The cause of the suit was the collision of the steamer Necse with the steamer Blanche which occurred in the early morning of August 25, 1905, during a thick fog.

The counsel for the plaintiff, Capt Bern Smith, was Mr. W. W. Clark and for the derendant Mr. A. D. Ward and Mr. Little, the later of the well known law firm, Hughes & Little of Norfolk. The evidence introduced by the plaintiff's witnesses showed that both boats were violating the rules of navigation, the steamer Nuese in exceeding the speed prescribed by statute and the Blanche by taking the wrong side of the channel.

Cept. Bern Smith the owner of the Blanche said that the cost of raising the boat was $350 and of repair was $2,000. Capt. J. J. Harper of the fog and the boat was going at the rate of three or four and a half miles per hour and sounded the fog signal for ten minutes, did not see the Neuse until it got within 50 yards.

The course of the Blanche was south by south-east and was crossing the channel. Capt. George Wallace of the Neuse, testified that his boat was running at a speed of about 8 miles per hour having slackened from the usual rate of speed of 12 miles on account of

Before all the evidence for the plaintiff was completed, the counsel for the defense made a motion for non-suit which was overruled.

No more evidence was introduced and statement before the jury was that though there was a technical violation of the rules by the Blanche it was done for the purpose of more safety and that t could not be accounted against them when they were seeking a safer course moreover the Neuse itself was going at much greater rate of speed than the law allowed in a fog such as prevailed case very well by citing an imaginary track, if the engineer sees him and has time to stop his train before striking him and fails to do it the corporation vantage over another by rebate or re- is liable for damages, although the also Jacobson's amendment. The argument for the defense was ably made by Mr. A. D. Ward who contended that in the act of crossing to the wrong side of the channel no matter what were the circumstances an open violation of the United States statutes and they did it at their own

The jury had the case under consideration about 20 minutes and returned a verdict for the full amount of damages asked for, $2,000. The defense gave notice of appeal.
