Simpson and city editor H. E. C. Bryant, of the Charlotte Observer began late this afternoon and will be resumed tomorrow at the Attorney General's office.

All the six members of the conference committee were sworn and said that the charges that the Aberdeen & Asheboro railway was put in the 2d class to gratify the wishes of Josephus Daniels against President Henry Page's advice was untrue. One of their paid representatives.

Pell told him Page was coming here and that the charge was true.

Mr. Simpson was the most interesting witness. He read a signed statement to the effect that he would not violate the confidence under which he obtained the information, and that secondly, his counsel advised him not to answer any questions as it in effect charges that the publication is libelous and thus if sustained might subject him to criminal prosecution or disclose the source of his information. Simpson's statement was applauded. He resolutely declined to answer a score of questions. Bryant said his article was not an attack on the integrity of the committee but was intended to hit editor Daniels.

Locke Craig is counsel for the committee, James H. Pou and F. H. Busbee appearing for Simpson, and Bryant of Durham, for Bryant.

Special to Journal.

Raleigh, March 5.—In the Senate the Scotland Neck liquor bill, allowing an election on the question of saloons or prohibition passed in spite of an almost unanimously favorable committee report. The debate on this bill in both branches has been very hot.

The Senate considered the revenue bill and made no changes of moment. The bill will be almost precisely the present law.

In House a bill passed unanimously providing for a training school for teachers at some point in the east to be agreed upon later and for the establishment of from one to four high schools in each county located under the direction of the State educational department.

There was prolonged debate on the bill to give Wilmington compulsory pilotage, which came up with an unfavorable report after having passed the Senate. The House passed the bill by a very large majority.

There was a newspaper sensation here today, the retirement of R. W. Simpson, Jr., as editor of the Evening Times, the outcome of the trouble with representative Winborne and other members of the legislature conference committee on the railway rate bill. It was thought this was settled yesterday. An article in the shape of a profound apology was submitted by Winborne for the committee today to be printed as an editorial. The editor declined to do this, but the management insisted, whereupon he said in a signed article by way of protest that it was not his utterance, declines to apologize and publishes this statement as his resignation effective today.

Bills were introduced in the House to require solicitors to secure certified lists of all persons licensed by the United States to deal in liquor.

To regulate the writing of prescriptions for liquor by physicians.

To require insurance companies to invest their full legal reserve on North Carolina policies in State, county or city bonds.

To regulate the pay of departmental clerks.

Bills passed final reading.

Incorporating Hollyville, Pamlico Co. To extend the limits of Castalia.

No new bills were introduced in the Senate.

PUBLIC UTILITIES IN ANTI TRUST BILL

Freight Rate Bill Passed With One Amendment Offered by Speaker Justice.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED FOR EVENING TIMES.

The Fracas in Which Representative Winborne was Involved was Opened for Discussion. No More Bills to be Introduced Etc.

Special to Journal.

Raleigh, N. C., March 6.—Governor Glenn in his message and the recommendation of the State Auditor, the inequality of assessment being now a cause of great complaint, each county having its own system.

The House tabled by a heavy majority the bill to repeal the present newspaper libel law after a warm debate in which a number of editor members participated.

In the House last night a resolution was adopted raising a committee to investigate the Raleigh Times publication of a statement that the Conference committee on the Railway rate bill had fixed the bill to hit president Page.

The editor of the paper R. W. Simpson resigned yesterday, the owner of the paper having published a statement required by representative Winborne, of the Conference committee. The paper says editorially today that after this publication the action of the House last night was the strongest of all the remarkable occurrences which have marked this legislature. The paper says it carried out its end of the contract at the cost of the loss of its editor and now declares it has been unjustly treated by the legislature, calls on the people of the State to sit in judgment in the premises and declares an explanation is due it from the Conference Committee. The paper says that its agreement to print the apology yesterday was with Winborne, but it had every assurance that nothing more would be done and that surely Winborne informed the other members of the committee of the result of his conversation with Senator John C. Drewry, owner of the paper.

The Senate today considered the anti-trust bill submitted to its honorary committee.

An amendment was offered to include the associated press and all other news associations or public service corporations which sell or agree to sell to any person or single interest the exclusive use of any service. The bill will be disposed of tomorrow.

The House passed the freight rate bill on third reading with an amendment by Speaker Justice restoring penalties but cutting out what's known as penalty speculators and so fixing the law that persons who are injured are protected.

The Senate passed the Buxton bill creating a State Board of Equalization to assess real estate for taxation in all counties, carrying out the suggestion.

An order was made in the House that no more bills shall be introduced, except by unanimous consent.

Bills passed today.

To allow Wilson to issue road bonds, and amend its charter.

A bill passed the Senate to extend time to begin work on the Southport, Norfolk and Western railway.

A bill was introduced yesterday to allow the Aberdeen and Asheboro railway to tear up its tracks between Biscoe and Troy was withdrawn by its introducer.

It Snowed—That's All!
Snow fell yesterday gently as if it had a great dislike for coming to earth at all. It did not last long for the earth swallowed it in its capacious maw before it had a chance to even "rest in peace." The snowfall was quite brisk for a time and in Dover, Kinston and other places up the road it is reported fell to a depth of two inches. The mercury was barely on the freezing point and consequently it was short lived.

Funeral Notices.
The funeral of Clarence, the son of Mr. Rasmus T. Smith, will be held this morning at half past 11 o'clock at the home of the parents 221 North 1st Street, N. C.

BABY'S FACE IN TERRIBLE STATE

Awful Humor Was Eating Away Face and Ears—Body Mass of Sores—Three Doctors Tried to Help Little Sufferer But She Grew Worse—After Spending Many Dollars On Doctors and Medicine CUTICURA CURES IN TWO WEEKS AT COST OF 75c.

"I feel it my duty to parents of other poor suffering babies to tell you what Cuticura has done for my little daughter. She broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used everything recommended, but without results. I called in three doctors, they all claimed they could help her, but she continued to grow worse. Her body was a mass of sores, and her little face was being eaten away. Her ears looked as if they would drop off. Neighbors advised me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and before I had used half of the cans of Soap and box of Ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body were as clear as a new-born babe's. I would not be without it again if it cost five dollars, instead of seventy-five cents, which is all it cost us to cure our baby, after spending many dollars on doctors and medicines without any benefit whatever. Mrs. George J. Steggs, 701 Columbia St., Akron, Ohio, Aug. 30, 1905."

TWO BILLS BUNCHED

In Order To Pass Both School of Technology For Spray. Senators Hand Editor Daniels A Lemon.

Special to Journal.]

Raleigh, March 7.—The Senate passed unanimously after a long and rather warm debate the House bill providing for high schools in each county, with a county appropriation of $500 annually, and an eastern training school for teachers. The two entirely different measures having been joined in order that each might win.

A bill passed establishing a school of Technology at Spray, a noted mill town, with 120 free scholarships and $5,000 annual appropriation.

There was prolonged discussion in the Senate of the anti-trust bill during which Senators Buxton and Fleming denounced the editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, Buxton saying he would disrupt the Democratic party if it permitted him to continue without protest. Buxton read a petition signed by every tobacco dealer in North Carolina against the passage of this bill.

The bill providing for compulsory education by a majority vote in school districts or townships passed.

The immigration bill appropriating for the next 5 years $5,000 annually from the State treasury also passed.

The bill requiring telephone companies to connect with each other was tabled.

The House passed a bill taxing straw berry growers one cent per bushel to pay for an officer to inspect the berries and see that cars are provided, also a bill appropriating $7,800 for the Stonewall Jackson training school, which is really a reformatory for white boys.

Another bill which passed transfers Surry from the Eighth Congressional District to the Fifth in order to make the former safely Democratic and prevent the grave probability of its going Republican.

The bill requiring insurance companies to invest here their total reserves on North Carolina policies was unfavorably reported.
