ARRESTED FOR ARSON, PLAN FOR ENLARGEMENT.

Henry Conner, a Prisoner at the County Jail Charged With Serious Crime.

Late Friday night Henry Conner, white, was arrested at his home on New South Front street on the charge of burning a tug boat early in January. He is now confined in the county jail. The officers have been working on this case ever since the fire. Insurance Commissioner Young and his deputy, Scott were here in the interest of the owner of the boat some time ago. A clue was followed which led to this arrest and Conner has been suspected for some time but the officers have been unable to locate him. It is said that he set fire to the boat out of spite—a rival in business.

The tug boat referred to was the Virginia which was badly damaged by fire while lying at the Elm City Lumber Company's dock.

James City Notes.

The James City pay school which is being carried on by R. Henry Sawyer, Jr., as a supplement to the free school, is in a good condition. The register shows that the said pay school has 48 good standing pupils in attendance. The children are taught in conjunction with the public school course of study, how to sew; even the boys are taught how to sew by Mrs. Duggins, who has the sewing department in charge. Agriculture and practical drawing is taught with pleasure. The boys and girls are encouraged to morality, industry and neatness, as well as being taught thoroughly in all branches which they are required to study. The teacher himself is a moral young man, also an energetic teacher of eight years' experience in the public school work. He is prepared to teach by example as well as by precept. This school and teacher should be encouraged by the good citizens of James City and vicinity.

Rev. L. T. Christmas and Rev. D. L. Mantley, R. D., Mrs. Tankard, also Mrs. Kelley, (white) have visited the school and spoke glowing words of encouragement to both school and teacher. The latter donating to the school some very beautiful pictures.

BY A FRIEND.

(Any school for colored children with industrial features is an institution to be encouraged rather than disparaged. If the children are clever it helps them to be more clever, if they are dull or slow it develops them, and puts the seed of industry and love of work into them which will bear fruit when they are adults. There is no objection that the solution of the negro problem is in the fact that they must be encouraged rather than disparaged that work is enviable and that faithful labor performed to the best of one's ability is that which will give him honor among the white people and his will never want for friends. To this end therefore such a school with such a purpose is a much needed institution and the residents of James City should give it their most attentive attention.—Ed.)

PERFIDIOUS MAN.

Borrows Money From Young Bride and Then Skips on Eve of Marriage.

Special Correspondence.

Greensboro, April 22.—On last Monday of S. S. Chambliss, a young Syrian here, applied to Register of Deeds Kirkman for a marriage license; himself and Miss Katy Gabriel a beautiful and popular young Syrian merchantess of the city being the parties interested. The register of deeds did not issue the license until an hour later, when the young Syrian had gone and consulted the prospective bride and the Syrian colony and procured in writing the necessary papers to comply with the law in such cases made and provided, and the marriage was duly celebrated Monday night. On Wednesday the fair but disconsolate bride, reported to the police, that her husband had disappeared, and she feared evil had befallen him, and invoked the aid of the minions of the law to discover his whereabouts, there being suggestions that some envious and pretty Greek, had kidnapped the youthful groom.

But alas, on Saturday afternoon the bride again appeared this time not so much disconsolate, as she was angry. This time she informed the police that her kidnapping suspicion was unfounded, and instead, her husband had run off with $300 of her money besides her a debt of $15 for money borrowed during their courtship. She said that she had been keeping the money in her shopping bag and that when Chambliss extracted it therefrom he took care to replace it with something of equal weight so she could not discover the theft until she looked in the bag which she never did until yesterday morning. The fact that she is a deserted wife is apparently of little concern to Mrs. Chambliss since, as she confided to the police, she didn't love him any how, but the loss of her hard-earned dollars is causing her much worry. Chambliss's thoughtfulness in placing something in the bag of equal weight and size with the money that he took from it indicates that he had taken some pains from Vanture.

CATARH CAN BE CURED.

Kill the Germs by Breathing Hy-o-mel. Gives Quick Relief.

Many people who have suffered with catarrh for years naturally feel that the disease cannot be cured, and become discouraged.

The failure to get relief is due to the fact that they have not used the right remedy. Catarrh is an affection of the head, throat and lungs and cannot be cured by stomach dosing.

The only scientific and natural treatment for this disease is Hy-o-mel, which is breathed through a nasal pocket inhaler, so that its healing medicated air reaches the most remote air-cells, kills all catarrh germs and restores the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs to a healthy condition.

Hy-o-mel is the only cure for catarrh that has ever been sold with the understanding that it was to cost absolutely nothing unless it cured. F. S. Duffy sells Hy-o-mel in this way and he is always ready to refund the money if it does not relieve and cure catarrh.

The healing and antibiotic balsams of Hy-o-mel perform their purpose by purification, and by using this remedy for a few times each day, you can have complete relief of any catarrh.

HONORS FOR OVERMAN.

His Leadership of the Minority Would Please President Roosevelt Who Is a Firm Friend of the Senator's.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun of April 22 has the following about North Carolina's junior senator:

Washington, April 21.—Senator Overman, of North Carolina, is regarded in senatorial circles as the man whom President Roosevelt above all others would like to see chosen Democratic leader in the senate next December. Of course, as the president is Republican and Mr. Overman a Democrat, the former has nothing directly to do with the matter, yet his desire is being discussed as an important factor because of the large number of "White House Democrats" in the minority.

Upon the death of Senator Gorman a year ago, Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, was chosen Democratic leader. His most notable move in this position was to declare boldly for endorsement of the president in the Brownsville controversy at a time when a portion of the majority were trying to put the president in a hole. Before March 4 Senator Blackburn had been offered, and since has accepted, a post as a member of the canal commission. The Democrats must caucus in December to choose some one to lead them in his stead.

Senator Bailey has been talked of. He is bitterly hostile to the president. Senator Overman, on the other hand, is friendly. As a member of the senate military committee he has clashed several times with Senator Foraker, who has sought to clear the negroes of the 25th Infantry of the imputation that they "shot up" the town of Brownsville. It is presumably because of Senator Overman's attitude on this subject that he is spoken of as the president's choice for Democratic leader. Senator and Mrs. Overman are also warm personal friends of the Roosevelts.

At the White House inquiries about this reported desire for Senator Overman's elevation to the leadership are met with smiles and little else. North Carolina is a state for the Republican delegation of which all the prominent candidates have made a "try." Vice-President Fairbanks, Secretary Taft and Leslie M. Shaw have all spoken there within the last year, and the boomers for "Uncle Joe" Cannon never fail to mention that, although the speaker has been identified most of his life with the middle west, he was really born in North Carolina.

THE SECOND DAY OF CONVENTION

Some Interesting Talks on the Phases of Sunday School Work.

The second day of the Sunday school convention of the Neuse-Atlantic Associations at the First Baptist church yesterday was full of practical work. The discussion was full and free. The first topic was "How My School is Conducted." In this many different methods were brought out; system was the principal idea that the superintendents desired to show. The custom of systematic giving was dwelt on quite an extent. Rev. W. B. Spillman gave a sample order of exercises and told why he thought it superior.

At the afternoon session there was a brief transaction of business in which a resolution was adopted to dissolve the separate bodies known as the Neuse and the Atlantic Sunday School Associations and merge them in one. "The Neuse-Atlantic Sunday School Association" was the name adopted for the new organization. Following are the officers elected for the ensuing year:

President, J. J. Rogers, Kinston; vice president, J. S. Canady; secretary, L. L. Leary; treasurer, W. B. Parker; secretary home department, G. E. Lineberry; superintendent primary department, Mrs. W. J. Wynn; Normal Training department, B. W. Spillman. Executive committee: D. H. Green, F. G. Mitchell and W. A. Ayers.

Rev. H. C. Moore, who will be pleasantly remembered as pastor of the First Baptist church some years ago delivered the address at last night's meeting. He is now secretary of the State Baptist Sunday School organization. His subject was Sunday School Work in North Carolina. He spoke of the reasons that one may have for encouragement in the progress of the movement, of the new recruits gained and of the substantial support given to the charitable and missionary causes of the church. He talked on various topics apropos to the general theme and very helpful and suggestive.

Today the program will be addressed by Rev. W. P. Campbell: "The Sunday School and Soul Winning." D. W. Sims, "Responsibility of Church Members to the Sunday School." He will also make the address tonight, on "Saving the Driftwood." Mr. Sims is superintendent of the second largest Sunday school in the United States.
