Special to Journal. Beaufort, N. Q June 8.—Beaufort the Beautiful, had a time | Kinston Man Elected Superintendent vesterday which will be long and pleasantly remembered both by her citizens and by the hundreds of visitors who gathered within her portals at her behest. The weather was ideal. In the morning clouds came over the sky and an ominous wind arose suggestive of a very unpleasant day and the people there were somewhat down cast but toward noon the clouds dispersed and with them fled the fear of any storm. While the hert of the sun was fierce the ocean breeze for which Beaufort is famous fanned peace and content into the people's hearts.

> We believe that the size of the crowds came up to the hosts' expectation. If there had been less the citizens might have been disappointed, if there had been more they could not have handled them so successfully. The people from the surrounding towns came in large numbers mostly by boat. It showel that they rejoiced with Beaufort in the cause of this jubilation. But the trains carried in the most passengers. There were three trains having an agregate of 35 coaches, and each coach accommodated 100, for there was barely standing room in any car. hi the first section were 12 cars in each of the other two were 14 cars. The military companies filled three cars.

mimirable and great credit is due the Norfolk & Southern for making travel so comfortable to the enormous crowds that were on board. There was copy of your paper under date sof scarcely any decay in the arrival at Beaufort with the exception of the train bearing the governor and railroad officials. The two special cars were the property of President Gannon and Superintendt Maguire. A notable feature was the train from Washington which was loaded with a goodly number of handsome men and fair women of that city. The train left Washington at 8:15 and reached New Bern at 10:10 a. m., very nearly on schedule time, arriving at Beaufort at 12:35. This was the first train carrying passengers from Washington.

Immediately upon the arrival of the train bearing the governor and when he was passing in the carriage to the place assigned him in the procession the governor's salute of 13 guns was given him by New Bern Naval Reserves gun. The procession was long and impressive. It was led by the Knights of Pythias band, and then followed the marshals after them carriages containing guests of honor and many citizens, military companies D. and E. of Goldsboro; B. of Kinston, G. of Washington; the New Bern and saufort divisions of the naval brigade and deteachment of marines from he Revenue Cutter Seminole; Commander C. D. Bradham being in charge of the naval militia. The proession ended at the speaker's stand where the exercises were conc at the speakers stand at the corner of Turner and Ann streets, Previous to the speaking the governor and staff reviewed the troops, in which the detachment from the Cutter Seminole were the only ones in good form, passing the reviewing stand at port

He expressed the belief hat the people of eastern Carolina unlerstood and appreciated the purposes of the Norfolk Southern road and he was grateful to them for their kndly sentiment. President Gannon was followed by Governor Glenn wlose address "The Material Resources and our Duty in their Development' was as all his speeches are, a spleidid oratorical effort. His remarks were to inspire industry and interes in the affairs which tend to uplift this section and to show how this state is assuming the lead in manufacturing as well as agricultural matters. No railroad was state. He referred to thesplendid prosperity the state is enjoying and howi t is rising in the scale of industry and making for itself a name which will be renowned over all the world.

After his speech a salute was fired and Mr. Abernethy on the behalf of some ladies presented him with two large and beautiful bouquets. Senator Simmons was the next speaker and his subject was the "Relations of Railroad Construtcion to the Development of Beaufort Harbor." The senator showed how the harbon was geographically and practically the best located of any harbor on the coast; how it will be made a popular and necessary place for ships to anchor and how the appropriation recently made will be used in making it a fit place to ancher in. He referred to the untiring efforts of Congressmen Thomas and Small and expressed a hope that the dream of Beaufort in being a seaport which shall have no equal on the coast. The dinner was announced at the close of the senator's speech and at no time did Beaufort's hospitality and free handedness in the dinner that was furnished the multitude. It was the old fashioned barbecue of which so many are fond and it was eagerly deyoured. The crowd was entertained in various ways afterward. An interesting contest was given by the soldiers in drilling. The prize which was ontested for was a handsome silk flag which was won by Co. D. 3rd regiment of Goldsboro. There was a German at night, the music being furnishedb y the Knights of Pythias band.
