Power of the Waves. The power of waves, says M. Brou nin in La Nature, is the sum of two efforts, one dynamic and due to the orbital movement of the water particles the other static and dependent on the height of the center of gravity of the mass raised above its normal position Theory and observation seem to show that the total power of waves is divided equally between these static and dynamic effects. If a body of water meets the wall of a structure there is a shock, and this is most violent at the water surface, diminishing with the depth. The loss is estimated at about $20,-

Trades That KHC One of the most dangerous of trades according to the Pfigrim, "Is the covering of thy ruimals with skin, chamols leather being used, for Instance, for the elephants, caliskin for the horse and goatskin for the camels. This covering must of course fit without a wrinkle to look pateral, so the wooden model to first alipped into giue, then sprinkled with chalk dust; then the skin is just on. The chalk is so fine that it file the air and is drawn into the throat gut lungs. A year of this sort of work often results in death. Another very bijurious toy is the rub ber balloon. The femes and solvents used in reducing thest rother to the necessary thinness while retaining its strength and the dveing of the brilliant yellows, greens and purple are most of them poisonous.

A Swelled Head.

A typical Englishwoman, when some one spoke the other day of a certain man havingen "swelled head," looked dazed. "Really! You don't mean it!" cried the Englishwoman. "I'm very sorry." A day or so later the Englishwoman, happening to meet the wife of the man in question, observed that she was so sorry to hear that Mr. Blank was !!!.

"But he isn't?" eried the wife. "He was never better in his life." "Is that to?" said the Er man, "Why, what could Mrs. Dash have meant the other day when she said he was suffering from a swelled head?"

His Narrow Escape.

A jolly old steamboat captain with more girth than height was asked if he had ever had any very narrow es- arr.

"Yes," he replied, his eyes twinkling once I fell off my boat at the mouth of Bear creek, and, although I'm an expert swiamer, I guess I'd be there now if it hadn't been for my crew. You see, the water was just deep enough so's to be over my head when t tried to wade out, and just challow enough"—be gave his body an ex-planstory pat—"so that whenever I tried to swim out I dragged bottom." -Everybody's.
