COTTON BY WHITE LABOR

MORE THAN COLORED LABOR IS NOW GROWN IN MISSISSIPPI

A NOTABLE RAILROAD SUIT

By W. H. Griffin, Goldsboro—Against Southern and North Carolina Railways. Higher Lumber and Cotton After Election.

Special Correspondence. Raleigh, Oct. 27.—In the Supreme Court this morning a life sized oil portrait of the distinguished Archibald D. Murphy was presented by the family, the presentation speech being made by Major John W. Graham of Hillsboro and that of acceptance by Chief Justice Walter Clark.

The Corporation Commission report on the condition of the state savings and private banks in North Carolina, showing total resources $46,819,501. The capital stock amounts to $7,506,517; surplus $1,575,988; undivided profits $1,490,797; deposits subject to check $23,717,464.

Commissioner of Agriculture, Graham, speaking about the notable meeting of Southern Commissioners of Agriculture at Nashville, Tenn., last week said that the thing that most impressed him was the statement by the commissioner of agriculture of Mississippi, that now more cotton is grown by white labor in that state than by colored labor, the Commissioner adding that the reason was that great numbers of the negroes had gathered together in communities in the towns and had to a considerable extent abandoned the farms and country life. They could have taken no more unwise course in Mississippi, Georgia, or anywhere else.

W. H. Griffin, widely known as the proprietor of the hotel Kenyon at Goldsboro, and also a large property holder there has brought suit against the Southern Railway and North Carolina Railway to restrain them from building a connection line from the new depot to the former track on Beach Street in Goldsboro. Judge Neal today signed the restraining order. The attorney for Mr. Griffin said that this step was taken because the railways were using all of Beach street for their track and that it had been cut down so that it was not available as a thoroughfare owing to the reduction of the grade. He said it did not interfere with the use of the new depot. This in reply to a question whether it was intended to prevent the use of the new station, which is in the suburbs of the town.

T. B. Parker of the state agricultural department says that in the course of his trip to Tennessee he found that cotton in Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia seem to be even more closely picked than in North Carolina. It is evident that the bulk of the cotton has been picked everywhere. Texas seems to have a bigger and finer crop than any other state and Louisiana seems to have been hit harder than any other state by the boll weevil and the weevils. Enormous quantities of North Carolina cotton seed, from this and other counties in this section are to be used in Louisiana next season.

Under the auspices of the ladies of Raleigh the special meeting in the interest of missions is to be held on an early day, under the direction of an advisory committee of gentlemen. Mr. Edmund Soper the field secretary of the young peoples missionary movement will be present at a preliminary conference tomorrow evening at the Presbyterian Church.

A number of the most intelligent politicians say that they look for a period of very great prosperity soon after the election. They say that they confidently expect a notable advance in the price of lumber and also in the price of cotton.

Today, the Commissioner of Agriculture appointed 100 or more farmers, all cotton growers as delegates from this state to the great cotton growers convention which Harvie Jordan has called to be held at Memphis the purpose of this convention being to fix the price of cotton so that it shall not be sold at a figure less than 10 cents. Mr. Jordan feels confident that this would be the largest growers meeting ever held in the country and that the time is ripe for the very best results along this line.

News and Observer Won't Retract

Montgomery has demanded a retraction and apology under what is known as the London libel law for the publication of Tom Dixon's letter. The paper does not retract, but says that having published ex-Judge Montgomery's attack upon Mr. Dixon it had a perfect right to publish his reply.

CONFERENCE OF GODLY MEN

THE SYNOD OF NORTH CAROLINA COMMENCES ITS SESSIONS IN THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

A NOTABLE BODY OF CHRISTIANS

About 135 Answered Their Names at the Roll Call Last Night. Many More Will Arrive Wednesday, Strong and Impressive Sermon by the Retiring Moderator, Rev. A. R. Shaw of Charlotte Elected Moderator.

The Synod of North Carolina, the state meeting of the Presbyterian church began its meetings here last night under very pleasant circumstances. About 125 members, clerical and laymen responded to their names but many more will arrive today. Both the Atlantic Coast Line and Norfolk & Southern brought large contingents last night.

The first session convened at 8.30 and a devotional service was first offered. The retiring moderator, Rev. C. H. Richards, of Statesville, preached a strong and earnest sermon on the text found in II Kings 13; 15: "And He Spote Thrice and said."

Blessings, he said, are like the bird of the tropics whose beauty of plumage and voice is appreciated only after they have taken their flight. Elisha, the prophet, had not received the call from the young king that were due a wise counsellor and holy man of God. Josiah although in some respects a good king had the perverse way of slighting the old man who had rendered good service to the kingdom in days past.

The king's visit to the prophets chamber was an all important one. Josiah sought the advice of the prophet as the direct command of God whether or not he should fight the Syrians and the action of that occasion although symbolic was prophetic. The truth of the text is obvious. If Israel was to win over Syria, they must use such weapons as they had, the bow, arrow, and spear together with Gods approval, and power.

The operation of God's power is limited by the measure of the spirit of God in men. There are two fields of struggle for mastery; the individual heart and (2) the world. The operation of divine power in the man is the demonstration of his ability to use the spiritual weapons. As in the battle of physical forces all available and tested weapons are to be put to use, so in the spiritual warfare our spiritual weapons must be ready.

When those early Christians were in the upper chamber at Jerusalem praying earnestly for the bestowing of divine power and it was demonstrated in the conversion of the 3000 and all others who joined the church in that wonderful revival.

Josiah stayed his hand at the third time of hearing the ground was symbolic of his three triumphs over the Syrians. He should have but more. It was not the lack of courage, for he had already proved himself a brave commander; it was not unbelief for he was a man accounted as a devout worshiper of God; it was the unbelief in God's service. The like weakness in difference that caused the partial defeat of the Israelites hosts. It is the lack of love for spiritual things of those within the church that retards the progress of christianity when we have conquered that and have become embued, the love of Christ so strongly that it outweighs all else, then we realize that the world is lost in sin; when we realize that the heathen dying without hope are lost and we strive to overcome these conditions with all our mind and heart, we may be said to have overcome that passionlessness that was so fatal in Josiah's case. We need another crusade; not a fanatical one, but one in which the men and women are embued with divine power and love for Christian work are earnest and hopeful for the salvation of the world, and the church will rise to a wonderful saving power.

After the sermon the first action of the synod was to elect a moderator. Three candidates were nominated: Rev. A. R. Shaw of Mecklenburg Presbytery; Rev. R. Layburn of the Durham Presbytery; and Rev. R. P. Smith of the Asheville Presbytery. The result was in favor of Dr. Shaw who was escorted to the chair and heartily welcomed by retiring moderator, Richards. Rev. Shaw was elected clerk. Rev. J. G. Garth was selected to welcome the visitors to New Bern and did so in a very hearty and cordial manner on behalf of the local church.

The services today will be at 8.30

EDUCATIONAL INTERESTS

Of the North Carolina Synod Discussed in Yesterday's Session. Davidson and The University.

The educational aid missionary interests of the synod were the topics discussed by that body yesterday. Rev. C. A. Smith of Chapel Hill presented the cause of the University to the extent that the gospel be at the university under the patronage of the church. The report of the denominational organization at Barham Springs was given by Rev. W. D. Morton, D. D. This charity is one that reflects credit on the church for admirable way of conducting it. The children are well provided for and are carefully taught. They are not only given lessons in school but have lessons in practical things and are carpentry, blacksmithing, gardening and many other crafts and trades which will enable them to make a living when they are dismissed from the institution. He spoke of the finances and said that he hoped that the churches' support would be more liberal during the coming year.

Dr. S. R. Gammon spoke of the synodical missions in Brazil in the afternoon session. The work there is most encouraging and cheerful, the section where the mission is located embraced the richest part of the empire and the people were not lazy as has been said by many. The natives are zealous and earnest for the cause of Christ and with the present progress and prosperity it will not be many years before the church will be self-sustaining. The opposition of the Catholic church, though still powerful is growing less.

President, J. Henry Smith, of Davidson, College spoke entertainingly and enthusiastically of the college. He showed what the churches may be expected of universities and unsectarian colleges; only four graduates in a thousand of that class of institutions, take up the ministry and therefore the hope of the denomination is in the small colleges. In view of this he urged the more zealous care of the church for Davidson. He said that the attendance has steadily increased from 1901 and that the spiritual interests of the colleges were well developed. The first of last year there were five missionary volunteers and the close there were 52. His report of the financial condition was not favorable and he urged that the synod take this matter under consideration as the deficit is alarming.

The meeting last night was a debate participated in generally by the synod. The question embraces the placing of Home Mission supervision under different auspices. The discussion took all the evening and several spoke.

The buildings he said all of them were substantial and another was being added, which would be ready for use within a few months. The faculty were men of thorough learning and deep spirituality and took great interest in their work. He felt sure the mutual interest of professor and pupil was evident by their splendid achievements to daily studies.

Kinly Cox, a colored boy, 13-years old, whose parents live near the water works, was the victim of a distressing accident, last night. He took up a gun—a .22 calibre rifle, which was in its place in the house, and not knowing it was loaded, played with it carelessly. While handling it the gun was discharged and he received a bullet in his abdomen. The course downward through the intestines. He was removed to the Stewart Sanatorium but died while being prepared for an operation. The cause of death was internal hemorrhage.

meccament when the newly endowed professorship will be dedicated and two professors inaugurated.

He spoke appreciatingly to the audience of the members' loyal support of the seminary and urged them to remember the school in their prayers. He felt that the seminary had been greatly blessed especially in its spiritual life and said that by the earnest and devoted prayers of the Synod could they expect to do effective work. The members then went to the auditorium where the ordinance of the Lord's Supper was served. This was an occasion in which every member present partook. Rev. J. W. Rose, D. D., of Laurinburg, and Rev. A. A. McGehee, of Charlotte, presided, assisted by six elders.

After the communion memorial services appropriate to the memories of those who had died during the year. A sketch of the lives of late Rev. L. C. Johnson, Lincolnton; Rev. Henderson, Rutherfordton; and Rev. W. F. Thom, Fayetteville.

There was no formal meeting during the afternoon, but the time was devoted to discussion of church matters in committees. At night after devotional exercises Dr. Morris, of Atlanta, secretary for Home Missions presented the subject in a powerful and impassioned appeal. He showed how in the cities the population is exceeding the evangelistic efforts of all denominations. In some communities in the large cities there is only one church to 8,000 people and in the same case there will be found one saloon to every 111 inhabitants. The increasing food of which four-fifths are ignorant and almost as large a proportion are vicious, it is our solemn duty to place mission workers where aliens may have the enlightening influence of the gospel. He spoke of the insidious work of the Mormon church. Two thousand missionaries are at work throughout the country and many of them are in the Southland. He demonstrated the manner of their peculiar instruction and told how great a menace their pernicious teachings were.

Rev. J. O. Reavis, of Nashville, secretary for foreign missions and his address also tended to show the great need of workers. The spirit of the gospel demanded that followers of Christ should go to the heathen lands and preach the gospel. He spoke of the millions in China, India, Africa, and South America that had never heard of God or Christ. The proportion of missionaries are 1 in 25,000 and there are sections of country in Africa, containing thousands of square miles where the foot of civilized Christian men has not trod. The need for men was never greater. He also made a plea for funds for the extension of the work of the Southern Presbyterian church. His remarks were vigorous and the cause was ably presented. Dr. P. R. Law, editor of the Presbyterian Standard made a few remarks in behalf of his paper—the organ of the Synod. He spoke of consolidation with the Central Presbyterian of Virginia, and the Southern Presbyterian of South Carolina he favored the idea as did Dr. Wilson, editor of the Central Presbyterian, the latter speaking at length on the proposition. Rev. Mr. Wilson, a stockholder, opposed the plan of consolidation vigorously and made a strong contention to maintain the Standard solely an organ of the North Carolina Synod.

The session will be resumed today at 9.30 a. m., and 2.30 p. m., and 7.30 p. m.

RELIC OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

LARGE NUMBER ATTENDING THE MARRIAGE CEREMONY OF GREGORY F. GANNON AND LILLIAN FERRAL.

THREE HYDROPHOBIA PATIENTS

Hygienic Department State Medical Laboratory Becoming Popular.—Missionary Institute to be Held in Raleigh. Chamber of Commerce Considering Entrance of Norfolk and Southern Railway to Union Station.

Special Correspondence. Raleigh, Oct. 28.—A very interesting relic of the revolutionary days was today lent to the Hall of History by Miss Jennie Peocud, stenographer to the Commissioner of Agriculture, this being a shaving case which during the revolution was presented to her famous ancestor, Peter Francisco of Virginia, by General Nathaniel Green. It bears the inscription so showing and was given in 1776. Peter Francisco was the strongest man in the United States, of immense size and used the sword which he had made himself, with this weapon on one occasion killing several British soldiers who had entered his house to take him prisoner.

A number of out of town people were here today to attend the wedding of Mr. Gregory F. Gannon of the Norfolk & Southern Railway and Miss Lillian Ferral, among these being Mr. Mat Manly of New Bern. The marriage was solemnized at the church of the Sacred Heart, among those present being Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Gannon, the parents of the groom, who came from Washington; Dr. Gannon and two other brothers, of the groom.

Three more patients have arrived here and are under the treatment at the state laboratory of hygiene by Dr. C. A. Shore, these being Mr. and Mrs. Ashford of Pilot Mountain and a little boy named Perkins from Rocking ham, aged 7 years, these all having been bitten by mad dogs.

Arrangements have been made for a missionary institute here, embracing all the denominations, about November 19th to 21st, under the direction of field secretary Soper and possibly two other workers.

The Chamber of Commerce is considering with great care the question of the entry into the Union passenger station here of the Norfolk & Southern Railway train. The railway receivers claim that the cost would be too much for them, but on the other hand it is stated that arrangements were all made months ago for such use of the station and that the railway ought to be forced to enter it.

A CURE FOR HOG CHOLERA.

Hog Cholera or Swine Plague as it is sometimes called is a highly contagious disorder.

When a hog shows any symptoms of this disease, he should be isolated at once and the pen fumigated in order to save the other hogs if possible. When a hog shows any symptoms of this disease, he should be isolated at once and the pen fumigated in order to save the other hogs if possible.

Mix one part Sloan's Liniment with two parts milk in a bottle and give every hog a tablespoonful of this mixture night and morning for three days Sloan's Liniment is a powerful antiseptic, kills the disease germs, soothes all inflammation and acts as a tonic to the animal.

A. J. McCarthy, of Idaville, Ind., says:—"My hogs had hog cholera 3 days before we got Sloan's Liniment, which was recommended to me by a neighbor who was using it with success. I have used it now for three days and my hogs are almost well. One hog died before I got the Liniment, but I haven't lost any since."

Mr. G. W. Balshagor of Peru, Ind., writes:—"I had four pigs that were coughing and were not doing well, I gave them some of Sloan's Liniment and they got better at once."

Sloan's book on Horses, Cattle, hogs and poultry sent free. Address Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass.

Frank Dillmore, a Blackfoot, Pa., treated his hogs with Sloan's Liniment and cured them.
