MANUFACTURERS RECORD NOT DISHONORABLE

When questioned about charges made on Saturday night by William Randolph Hearst that John D. Archbold had paid $3000 for a year's subscription to The Manufacturers' Record. Mr. Edmunds said his paper had for years been a bureau for distribution of pamphlets looking to the development of the South.

Even beyond New Bern, Kinston and Washington were visited and the places of '62 to '65 were looked up. The Confederate veterans lent his aid to reviving old times, and pointing out places, to both of personal interest because of old associations.

No doubt some plan whereby these old places could be suitably marked by metal plate or granite post, might be arranged, so that this section might become of peculiar importance to northern tourists whose relatives, friends or associates may be buried here.

The Charlotte Observer through Editor Caldwell now establishes the true position of editor Edmunds and the Record, through a personal letter, that the Observer publishes. The letter goes into a frank statement of the work of the Record, its efforts to show the South to northern capitalists, and an instance of success in the particular case of getting the Steel Corporation to invest $40,000,000 in Alabama.

Of the money referred to in the Hearst letter, Mr. Edmunds says: "Of the money referred to in the letter read by Hearst the entire amount covered annual subscriptions at the regular rate for subscription and they were distributed to attract people and money to the south and developing diversified agriculture and industrial interests."

The Journal trusts the Charlotte Observer will not feel that its matter has been infringed upon, in this quoting. It was such a good opportunity to clear the Record, that advantage was taken to do so through the esteemed Observer's help.

PORTING THE TOURIST THIS WAYWARD

Thoughting of the union veterans from Massachusetts here last week or so, a novel suggestion in honor of their dead soldiers and officers that he had in the National cemetery.

is suggestive of the fact that New Bern is a most important place to the union veterans of the north, whose regiments were in service in this section during the years 1861-1865.

Connecticut, New Jersey, and Massachusetts have sent delegations to memory of their dead soldiers. Rhode Island will follow next spring. It is said that New York and Michigan, whose dead lie in the National cemetery, may follow and commemorate the deeds of their dead soldiers in marble and bronze.

This is just recognition of the dead. A feature of the Massachusetts veterans visit was their interest in looking up the places and points in and about New Bern, where they fought battles, were on guard duty, and where they marched or served in some military way, while here during the sixties.

This points the way for making this city and vicinity a tourist resort. That is, while the veterans and the state officials of the several states above mentioned, and possibly others, are marking well the places of their dead, why may they not designate the places of interest to them and their descendants, where their dead lost their lives, and where matters of personal interest occurred. This is on the order of Gettysburg, where 300,000 people every year go to look over that historic field, that is now so splendidly laid out. It is not expected that New Bern has such celebrated points to show, but that there are places of intense interest to the union veterans who survived and their friends, was to be seen last week, as the Massachusetts veterans drove twenty and thirty miles, looking for the remains of fortifications, houses, roads and fields.

Thirty cents, contributed by the chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Massachusetts is understood to be the smallest item on the national committee's record book. It was said at Mr. Sheldon's office this afternoon that there were many instances in which contributors had subscribed money at different times and that no attempt would be made to place in one lump sum the total contributions of any person who gave on more than one occasion.

Herman Ridder, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, said he was having the Democratic national campaign list printed and expected to file it in Albany within a week. He intimated that the total amount would be $500,000 or thereabouts.

Baxter's Sale Continues. The right kind of merchandise together, with judicious advertising in the columns of this paper has undoubtedly proven a magnet for never were such crowds of buyers congregated under one roof as there have been the past week. Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather the store was filled with buyers all during the day and night. Mr. Baxter has decided to continue the sale as he has had numerous appeals from persons unable to attend the sale.

One of the most wonderful discoveries of recent years is the process of metalizing vegetable substances. This is a discovery of Prof. L. G. Delamothé, a noted French Electro-Chemist, who, after 15 years of arduous labor and at great cost, perfected what scientists have labored for a hundred years to produce. One of the many novel purposes for which this secret process is used is the metalizing of roses, by which live roses are actually turned entirely into metal, and then finished in attractive colorings, and mounted on Hat Pins. Of course there are no two the same. It is difficult to conceive anything more beautiful or artistic. One of our stores here has these Rose Hat Pins on exhibit, and they certainly are worth seeing.

Thanksgiving Day—Orphans' Day. The good people of North Carolina have chosen Thanksgiving Day as a time for special offerings to the orphan's homes of our State. We have abundant cause for gratitude to God. Can we in a better way express our thanks to Him than by heartily joining in to care for and sustain aright homeless, orphan children. When, impelled by a spirit of gratitude, we do for these little ones, does the great Father, of the fatherless not accept it as done for Him? At present the demands upon and needs of the orphan's homes of North Carolina are unusually large. The Thanksgiving offering will be a great factor in enabling these institutions to continue their beneficent work. The cause appeals to our sympathies to our reason, to our sense of justice. We hope even a larger number of our people will unite this time in the interest of this work, and that the gifts will be, in all respects, greater than any of the offerings of former years. We believe the interest of our people in this cause depending on you, we look for every liberal support to our orphanages.

Rainfall Still Ahead of Average. New Charter for Raleigh, Tobacco Market Figures. Coast Artillery.

Special Correspondence. Raleigh, Nov. 11.—Governor Glenn appoints B. F. Arendall a delegate to attend the National prison congress at Richmond November 14th to 17th. He will attend it as well as superintendent Mann and Secretary Arrington of the penitentiary.

Before long the two other companies which are to be united with the coast artillery company just formed at New Bern will be put into that service. Several companies of infantry in the National Guard have asked that they be assigned to this duty.

Governor Glenn and the Council of State went out today to the Agricultural and Mechanical College to meet President Roosevelt's Commission of Country Life, of which Walter H. Page a native of this county and Mr. Henry Wallace a well known newspaper man of an agricultural paper were present two other members of the Commission being at Athens, Ga., and yet another, Gifford Pinchot, having returned to Washington.

Weather observer Thiesen says that during October the total rainfall here was only 3.2 inches, that for October, 1.8 and so far in November only three one hundredths of an inch has fallen, this being considerably below the average for those months. Yet the rainfall in the state is 8 inches ahead of the average year, to this city. The temperature at Raleigh for the ten days of the year has averaged about 3 one hundredths of a degree a day above the normal, which brings the total increase during the year up to about 100 degrees above the usual figure.

Your correspondent yesterday went to the sites of the new building at the Central Hospital for the insane and work was being pushed quite rapidly large quantities of brick being delivered.

It has been stated that Judge Purcell of analysis or apoplexy, but this is denied. His condition yet continues such as to give his friends anxiety.

It seems now that the cotton crop in the state is somewhat larger than was expected sixty days ago, the wonderfully fine weather having aided it no little.

Mention was made yesterday of the fact that Winston-Salem leading the sales of leaf tobacco in October with almost seven and one half million pounds. Wilson came next with 3,870,000 pounds. The total sales in the state that month were 44,481,120 pounds.

The City Improvement League, which proposes to regenerate municipal affairs here will draft a new charter for the city, to be simple and direct, the present one being very much involved.

A line is being put up between Raleigh and the Raleigh Phosphate and Cotton Mills and wires will be strung next week so that the grounds and buildings at the phosphate mill can be electrically lighted.

IN MEMORIAM. Died, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Thomas, November Third, 1903 Belle, their only little girl, aged nine years, lacking one day. She was sick about three weeks with throat-trouble but was able to be out all the while until the day when she passed quietly away. She was a bright and lovely little girl and the pet of all the family.

While their home is vacant, and that sweet and lovely voice is no more to be heard they cannot call her back to be in this world of trial. She was just put here to be loved a while and then she passed away. We know more that she is gone to return no more and "have left an aching void the world can never fill."

Weep not as those that have no hope for us, know that she is a little Angel, and in the arms of Jesus. She was buried in the family graveyard on Thursday evening November 5th in the presence of her sorrowing relatives and friends.

When done with this world we hope that we may all be prepared as Belle was to answer to that call and may we all meet in the Celestial City. Maysville, N. C., November 8th 1903.
