

SHORT PASSING EVENTS

SATURDAY.

There were several cases on the dock in the Police court yesterday afternoon but they were only of minor importance and but a short while was consumed in the session.

There is still a scarcity of chickens and eggs on the local market and despite the fact that the local merchants are making every effort to secure these two commodities for their customers they are still unable to supply the demand.

Two weeks ago Pamlico county had the brightest prospects of raising the largest cotton crop that it has had for several years. For the past week the rains have poured down both day and night every thing being flooded and washed to death. It has injured the crops to a great extent. Up to this time, we had not heard a single man in the county say that he had any right to complain in regard to his crop.

Late Thursday night policemen Griffin, Foscoe and Ipeck were informed that a crowd of negroes were engaged in gambling in an old shanty car near the Roper Lumber Company's mill in the northern section of the city. They at once went to the place designated and succeeded in catching Jim Jones, Joe Johnson and Walter Wood, all colored, engaged in a game of cards. The trio was taken into custody and carried to police headquarters and placed in the city jail. Yesterday afternoon they were given a hearing before Mayor McCarthy and sufficient evidence being secured, they were bound over to the next term of Superior Court under a bond of $25 each.

SUNDAY.

There was no session of the Police Court yesterday afternoon.

The funeral services of late John B. Lane will be held at the Presbyterian church this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock conducted by Rev. C. L. Greaves. Interment in Cedar Grove cemetery.

The bottom has again dropped out of the price of eggs. Yesterday morning one hundred dozen or more were brought to the city and were sold for 23 cents wholesale and retailed for 25 cents per dozen.

Mrs. B. A. Irving has moved her store from the location she formerly occupied to the store recently vacated by the Duff Piano Company on Middle street. The Singer Sewing Machine Company will occupy the store from which Mrs. Irving moved.

While attempting to turn one of the Southern Express Company's large delivery wagons around yesterday afternoon, the vehicle became overbalanced and turned over. The driver and horse escaped injury, but the shafts were totally demolished and it had to be placed in the repair shop.

At a meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of the Third Judicial district held in this city yesterday. Every county in the district was represented. It was unanimously voted to call a convention in New Bern on October 3d, to nominate a judge and solicitor of this judicial district.

Some of the Confederate veterans of this county have expressed their intention of taking advantage of the low round trip rate offered by the Norfolk Southern railroad to Norfolk next week on account of the reunion of the North Carolina Confederate veterans. The city of Norfolk has laid itself out to entertain the veterans on that occasion and those who go will be given a royal good time.

There was an elopement reported yesterday the parties being Mr. Henry Benton and Miss Mattie Castet, both of this city. It seems that they have been lovers for some time against the wishes of the young lady's parents. Saturday the young man declared his intention of marrying his sweetheart in spite of her father or anyone else, told him so, and so they departed the city. It is supposed that they went to Trenton.

TUESDAY.

The rainfall for August 1910 at this place was 11 1/2 inches.

Yesterday was another of those hot,

Do You Dread New Shoes?

It takes a deal of moral courage for some folks to buy new shoes. Stiff soles and unyielding upper leathers sometimes bring serious foot troubles in their wake. To many new shoes mean torment for a week or more.

Look for the Red Bell on the Box.

CRADDOCK-TERRY CO., LYNCHBURG, VA.

sultry days. The mercury began to aviate early in the day and by noon it registered 90 degrees in the shade while right out in the sun's full rays it was almost unbearable.

Early yesterday morning the large smoke stack which towered over the boiler room at the Gaston Hotel became loosened in some way and fell to the ground with a deafening crash. It is supposed that one of the guy wires gave way and this caused the accident.

Ben Meekins, a young white man, was given a hearing before Mayor McCarthy yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with being drunk and disorderly in the city limits. After hearing the evidence the mayor decided that he was guilty and imposed a fine of $10.00 and the cost of the case on him.

Late Sunday night a colored man who lives in the northern part of the city was accosted by another member of his race who wanted to sell him a fine milch cow which he was at the time driving down the street. The cow was offered to him for $13, about half of what the animal was worth, this made the would-be-purchaser suspicious and he called an officer. The negro who had charge of the cow had in the meantime departed and when the officer arrived the cow was turned over to him and taken to the city stables. Yesterday morning a man from near Jasper called at police headquarters and identified the animal which he said had been stolen from him.

A Reflection on the Horse.
"My husband," bragged Mrs. Jones, "was a famous long distance runner in his day. He once outran a horse in a twenty mile race."
"Isn't that funny?" answered Mrs. Smith. "We once had a horse like that."

INDIFFERENCE FOR BONDS

By Majority Ninety Six Votes in Total of Four Hundred and Sixty Four.

The primary vote assisted very much in bringing out voters in the $50,000 bond election, yesterday. But with the democratic primary to bring out voters, there was an indifference on this very important question, and the vote cast indicated this. By wards the vote.

Wards	For	Against
First	30	37
Second	73	55
Third	45	46
Fourth	61	31
Fifth	23	1
Sixth	43	14
Total	230	181

This gives a majority of 96 votes in favor of bonds. In this connection comparison with the last $50,000 bond issue will be of interest, which shows that the sentiment in votes against bonds has increased. The 1909 vote was, for bonds 327, against 60, a majority of 267.

Primary Returns Not all in.

Several of the precincts in Craven Co. which held their Democratic primary last Saturday have not been heard from and although the Journal had hoped to have a complete tabulated report of the standing of the different candidates in this morning's issue, it was found impossible to do this. For the benefit of those who did not see the tabulated statement which was published in Sunday's issue we again publish it.

United States Post Office

By direction of the post office department, the attention of patrons of this office is invited to the advantages of providing facilities for the receipt of their mail by erecting conveniently accessible boxes of cutting suitable slots in their doors. Such action would enable the postmaster to give a prompt and better delivery service with the means at his disposal, since the carriers can cover much more territory in less time if not compelled to wait for an answer to their ring. Private receptacles for mail are also a great convenience to the householder, obviating the necessity of responding to the carrier's call at inconvenient moments and permitting the safe delivery of mail in the absence of members of the household. They also prevent the occasional necessity of a carrier's proceeding on his route without delivering mail because of failure to answer his ring within a reasonable time, and enable him to make deliveries to patrons living on or near the end of the route at an earlier hour.

It has been shown by actual experience that the benefits derived by patrons of city delivery from the use of such receptacles far outweigh the small expense involved. As this office is interested in furnishing the best possible service at the least expense, your compliance with the foregoing suggestion will be much appreciated.

Respectfully, JESSE S. BASNIGHT, Postmaster.

Note—Neither the postmaster nor any of his subordinates is authorized to act as agent for boxes.

WATCHED OVER BY SATAN.

Superstitions That Twine About the Mandrake Plant. The little plant the mandrake has a wealth of tradition centering round it such as is seldom found in floral lore. Quite an insignificant little plant with a spindle shaped root often divided into two or three forks and rudely resembling the human form, it is doubtless from this latter fact that it has derived its name. Longborne in the latter part of the eighteenth century tells us to Mark how the rooted mandrake weeps. His human feet, his human hands, while it was once believed that a person pulling up a mandrake would instantly fall dead. This was said to be because the mandrake had a human heart at its root and when pulled it would scream in such a fearsome manner as to terrify the bearer to death or else induce madness. Shakespeare alludes to this where he says: and shrieks the mandrake torn out of the earth.

That living mortal, hearing them, run mad.

And again in "King Henry VII," where Suffolk, asked by Queen Margaret whether he has not spirit to curse his enemies, replies: Would I could kill, as doth the mandrake's groan.

I would invent as bitter, searching terms as e'er, as harsh, as horrible to hear.

From time immemorial the mandrake has been associated with witchcrafts and has ever been believed to be one of the most powerful charms of witches. Mr. Conway in a paper on "Mythic Types and Flowers" states that "by popular superstitions in some places it is said to be perpetually watched over by spirits, and if it be pulled up at certain holy times and with certain directions the evil spirit will appear to do the bidding of the practitioner."—Washington Star.

"Last February, I had the Grippe, which left me in bad shape. Before that, I had been bothered with female trouble, for ten years, and nothing seemed to cure it. At last, I began to take Cardui. I have taken only three bottles, but it has done me more good than all the doctors or than any other medicine I ever took."
