The local market is well supplied with turkeys just at this time. The dealers however report that the demand for these birds is not very large and that they are disposing of but few of them. This is doubtless due to the high prices charged.

Hundreds of New Bern people congregated in favorable places last evening to witness the eclipse of the moon. The hour was much more favorable than that in which the last similar phenomenon occurred and the spectacle presented by the silvery orb as it was gradually last to view in the shadow was indeed awe inspiring. This is the last astronomical event of any importance scheduled to occur this year.

Frank Bryan, colored, was arrested by U. S. Deputy Marshal Potter yesterday morning on a warrant charging him with selling spirituous liquors without a license. He was carried before U. S. In the meantime Bryant, who could not give a bond of $100 for his appearance, is occupying a cell in the county jail.

Mr. Noah Hardison, the white man who was assaulted by a negro man near Oriental a few days ago, and who was brought to this city and placed in the Stewart Sanitorium for treatment, seems to have a very unsavory reputation at Chocowinity his home. In commenting on the accident the Washington News says: "Hardison was recently tried for wife beating Beaufort county court, and being found guilty was given his preference to leave this section of the state or serve two years on the county roads. Evidently he took the former, but up to the present time has not succeeded in getting very far away from his old haunts."

BRADSTREETS Weekly Trade Report.

Richmond, Va. 17 — Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:

Taken in general, trade conditions are normal for this season, however a lack of buoyancy is noted in some lines. Dealers in toys and holiday goods report satisfactory orders. Shoes, rubber goods and kindred lines continue active. Dry goods are rather quiet, produce and fruits are in good demand, the same may be said of fancy groceries. Drugs and chemicals continue active. The demand for lumber is quiet and building shows less activity. Retail trade is fair and collections show improvement over a comparative period of last month.

A NEW THEORY FOR PELLAGRA

Insect and Not Corn Responsible For Dreaded Disease.

Baltimore, Nov. 17.—Recently Dr. Frederick Wimby of London England, was in Baltimore and gave out his opinion of the disease and the noted physician said that pellagra is not caused by the eating of corn or corn products, whether in a sound or an unsound condition. In his statement, Dr. Wimby said, "The eating of corn, whether sound or unsound has no more to do with pellagra than the eating of oysters."

"The spoiled corn theory is an old one" he said, but I think it has been completely upset by recent scientific investigation in a number of Italian provinces where pellagra has claimed many victims for generations. Maize or Indian corn, cannot account for the malady since many pellagrins are found in the districts where that cereal is unknown and where the persons affected never used it as a food.

Just as a species of mosquito is responsible for yellow fever infection, so is there an insect carrier that disseminates pellagra. It is nothing more nor less than a sand fly of the genus Simulium, a blood sucking insect with a geographical range coincident with the zone of the disease and having the same periods of occurrence in the spring and autumn of each year. The disease centers have been found identical with the habitat of this sand fly.

Curiously enough, however, the disease never spreads from one of these centers to others. If a family removes from an epidemic center to a healthy site, children born after the change of residence are perfectly healthy, but those born prior to the removal are pellagrins as are their parents. The disease, therefore, is not hereditary nor is it contagious, but like malaria and yellow fever, is due to insect transmission.

People living in cities may congratulate themselves that they are exempt from pellagra, which not only means death but is a potent cause for insanity. The fly that perpetrates the harm is never known to approach towns. Its campaign is limited to the country in the vicinity of streams, and agricultural laborers who toil near by are its certain prey.

Savodine Remedy for Grip.

"SAVODINE in my opinion should be in every household. I have given it an impartial trial for several ailments for which it is recommended and without a single exception have received very perceptible benefit. In cases of Headache, Toothache or Difficult Breathing its effect is wonderful. I have had Grippe a number of times which has left me with heavy cough and also with throat, nasal and bronchial troubles. In these cases I get from SAVODINE a relief which nothing else has given me. I had a scabby sore throat on both of my ears. Continued application has removed it from the one and I believe will remove it from the other. Two great points in its favor are that it is harmless and that it does its work at once."
