MANY NEW IDEAS IN BOYS CLOTHING

Boys are mighty hard on clothes. They are restless, always on the go, kneeling, scrambling, scuffling, climbing and in a hundred and one pranks that knock clothing to pieces. Our clothing is made by makers who know the needs of boys. They are made to wear and stand 't'e strain. They will not rip and go to pieces. They are cut in the latest fashion and have all the new ideas admired by the "Little Men" and their elders.

To Farmers of Craven and Adjoining Counties.

This year is the farmers' own. We rejoice with you. A wise farmer seeks the best MARKET for his products. New Bern is paying more for farm products today than any town in Eastern North Carolina and the New Bern STORES are overflowing with well selected and attractive goods that may be bought at very low prices.

Now as a business proposition, if Cotton, Seed Cotton and other farm products are selling high in New Bern and the New Bern Stores are selling reliable goods cheaply, will it not pay the farmer to trade in New Bern?

A Cordial Welcome and a Square Deal Awaits You.

READY FOR A JOKE.

The Customs Official Had a Sense of Humor Himself. In the smoking room of the Hotel des Iles Britanniques at the lovely resort of Mentone, on the French Riviera, some three years ago two Englishmen met. After half an hour's conversation the Englishman from Manchester said to his new acquaintance from London:

"I say, old fellow, would you mind taking a small parcel for me to Paris and have it sent to this address? I'm leaving for Milan in the morning."

The Londoner willingly consented to do this much for one of his countrymen.

"A wondrous good of you. I'll have the boy take the parcel to your room in the morning," acknowledged the Englishman bound for Milan.

In the morning the package was left at the other's room.

"So that is what he calls a small parcel!" he exclaimed. "And what might it contain? A package of such size the custom officers would certainly want opened. What—cigarettes and 3,000 of them! Is it possible that any one could have the audacity to ask such a favor—to smuggle 3,000 cigarettes into France! That chap shall pay for this, for I shall declare these cigarettes and leave them to be called for when the duty is paid."

The Londoner left Mentone that afternoon. The following day he was in Paris at the Gare de l'Est, his luggage ready for examination.

"Anything dutiable?" asked the customs officer.

"Nothing," replied the Englishman, "excepting in that parcel there."

"What does it contain?"

"Three thousand cigarettes," said the Londoner, with a smile upon his face—a smile of embarrassment at having such a parcel with him.

The Frenchman raised his hands in the air and laughed heartily. He, too, was as ready for a good joke as any one, and on each piece of the Englishman's luggage went his O. K. cross.

Hardly realizing what had happened, the Londoner found himself riding in a taxicab along the streets of Paris with the parcel of 3,000 cigarettes under his arm and nothing left to do but to deliver it as he had been asked.

Made a Cigar Lighter.

"Ma," said a nine-year-old prodigy whose parents live in Oak Lane, "if I change this box of cigars into a cigar lighter will you give me a nickel?" And he held up a box of his father's cigars.

"No," said his mother. "But you can't do it."

"Will you give me a nickel if I do?"

"Er—yes. But you can't do it."

"You just look. See, I open the box, take out a cigar, and now it's a cigar lighter. Gimme the nickel."—Philadelphia Times.

Just Dissolved.

"So you broke your engagement with Miss Spensie?"

"No, I didn't break it."

"Oh, she broke it."

"No, she didn't break it."

"But it is broken?"

"Yes, she told me what her clothing cost, and I told her what my income was; then our engagement sagged in the middle and gently dissolved."—Houston Post.

Flogged for Bathing.

On an island in the Cam. at Grantchester, is a mill pond known as "Byron's pool" because it was here that the poet as an undergraduate enjoyed his favorite recreation. Even in his day Edward Conybeare tells us in "Highways and Byways in Cambridge" bathing was a practice somewhat frowned on by the academic authorities. A century or so earlier any student found guilty of it was publicly flogged in the hall of his college and was again flogged on the morrow in the university schools by the proctors. A second offense meant expulsion from the university.

Entitled to Them.

After the new arrival had registered the hotel clerk looked down the page and read "Jeremiah Great Chap, XXXX, Szeexville."

"What do all those X's mean after your name?" queried the officer.

"That means a lot," explained the new arrival. "I'm ex-school director, ex-township trustee, ex-county commissioner and ex-mayor, see?"—Exchange.

FEATS OF MARKSMANSHIP.

Wonderful Shooting of Captain Bogardus and Dr. Carver.

Old gentlemen of the period just after the war will tell you sadly that there are no such shots as there used to be. In this connection it is interesting to note that $1,000 was wagered against $100 that the champion of the world could not hit a hundred consecutive birds. Many amateurs, not to speak of professionals, frequently make such a score without arousing comment in these days. Captain Bogardus was to be allowed three trials. If he lost the first two and made the third the money was his, and by the way, he used a twelve gauge, full choke, ten pound gun, and his load was five drams of black powder with No. 9 shot. He loaded his own shells or had them loaded according to his directions.

While shooting in England his load was challenged by one of his defeated rivals, who asserted that the champion's phenomenal scores were the result of his superior shells. The captain suggested that in their next match both contestants should use his ammunition, to which the Englishman eagerly consented. The captain was delighted, for well he knew what would happen to the action of the light and delicate English gun under such a charge. Before the match had proceeded very far the Britisher withdrew—for message.

With the invention and success of the ball tossing machine a chase for ridiculously high scores swept the country. Five thousand balls in 500 minutes, 5,194 out of 5,600, in seven hours and twenty minutes—these were some of the stunts that delighted the hearts of the gun people of that day.

One man, the English crack, Dr. Carver, shot for six consecutive days, breaking 60,000 balls out of a possible 64,881. The wonder is that there remained of his shoulder anything more than pulp. True, it is on record that after the three-thousand shot at such an exhibition in Gilmore's Garden, New York city, the contestant had to pry open his trigger fingers by main force and only succeeded in continuing in the match by frequent immersions of arm and shoulder in hot water.—Outing.

The Inns of Chancery.

Most of the old Inns of Chancery are no more. Clement's Inn, where Falstaff and Shallow "heard the chimes at midnight," New Inn, of which Sir Thomas More was a member; Lyon's Inn, where Coke once taught the students; Furnival's Inn, where Charles Dickens lived; Thavies Inn, which was one of the earliest of all the legal settlements in London; Barnard's Inn, where Lord Chief Justice Holt was among the "principals"—all these historic places have "in the change and chance of time" disappeared from view. Staple Inn remains in its ancient state by the good will of the insurance company that purchased it some twenty years ago.—London Law Journal.

Transparent.

The teacher was giving the juvenile class an object lesson on the word "transparent." She told them water and glass were transparent, because one can see through them, then asked them to name something else that was transparent. One little fellow promptly raised his hand.

"Well, Alvin, what is it?" she asked.

"A hole," was the unexpected reply.—Chicago News.

EDITING AN ENCYCLOPEDIA.

Strenuous Times in Getting Out an Early French Work.

Many adventures befell the French eighteenth century encyclopedia. More than once the production of that work, regarded by authority as revolutionary, had been stopped, eight days of imprisonment in the Bastille for the printer being one incident. At the very last moment, after Diderot had corrected the final proofs, the printer and his foreman secretly slashed the articles—right and left, cutting out everything that seemed even possibly dangerous, and hurried the manuscript. Diderot discovered the atrocity too late when referring to one of his most remarkable points in that for years very few persons knew of what had happened, even the contributors remaining in ignorance. They had had enough of their own articles when writing them.

Voltaire tells a pleasing story of Louis XV's convulsion to the merit of the encyclopedia, according to the London Chronicle. The talk one night at a Trionan supper turned on sport and thence to gunpowder, as to the composition of which the party could not agree. Mme. de Pompadour lamented their all-round ignorance. For instance, she herself did not know what her rouge was made of or how her silk hose were manufactured.

"This is pity," said the Duc de la Valliere, "that his majesty consulted our encyclopedias, which cost us 100 pistoles."

The king recalled that he had a copy, and three volumes were sent for the twenty-one volumes and staggered back with seven each. Gunpowder, rouge, silk stockings, were all found there. Some found answers to legal problems that troubled them. The king discovered the rights of his crown set forth, and in his satisfaction he allowed the confiscated copies to be returned.

Will you do an act of humanity? Will you tell some sick friend of this, my remedy?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its failure will say to you that you are dead.

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Kidney and Bladder Pills.

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Bladder ailments everywhere.

What the "inside" or controlling nerves of these organs begin to feel, is in Dr. Shoop's Kidney and Bladder Pills. These pills, when taken, send the nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not do the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart of Kidney—nor that kind of thing.
