Windmill Signals in Holland.

In certain parts of Holland births, marriages and deaths are frequently announced by the windmills. When a miller gets married he stops the mill with the arms of the wheel in an oblique position and the sails unfurled. His friends and guests often do likewise with their mills in token of the ceremony. To indicate a birth the wheel is stopped with the arms in a slanting position, but at a more acute angle than for a marriage, and with the two upper sails unfurled. Should a miller die, the sails of his mill are all unfurled and the wheel is turned round until the arms assume an upright cross, in which position they are left until after the funeral has taken place.

A Quibble Over Words.

"Do you believe in using words of one syllable?" asked the student of politics.

"Certainly not," replied the statesman. "Every real gentleman says 'perquisites' instead of 'graft.'"—New York Journal.

Suggested a Remedy.

Even medical gentlemen are not devoid of professional jealousy. Two doctors were bragging about the number of their patients.

"Why, last night I was wakened up half a dozen times," said the younger doctor.

"You were, eh?" replied the other.

"Well, why don't you buy some insect powder?"

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

An English Wart Charmer.

Of all country charms against disease the greatest is the wart charmer. This writer knows a man in a little village not far from Windsor whose power to cause warts to disappear brings sufferers to him from many miles round. He simply looks at the wart, says something to himself, and after a few weeks his "patient" finds they have all disappeared. You must, however, be careful to hit the exact number of these excrescences you possess, for if you have, say, ten and declare only nine the nine will vanish, leaving one which the wart doctor is powerless to remove. As in bridge, the declaration is the important point.

—London Chronicle.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

FOR RHEUMATISM, KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Pimples.

Zinc ointment applied to pimples when they are beginning to form will frequently check them. Applied to them daily after they have formed will in most cases prevent a scar, unless they have been opened and the flesh bruised.

Solid Goods.

"What because of that cake I baked for you?" demanded the fiancee.

"I sent it downtown to have my monogram engraved on it," replied the fiancee.—Kansas City Journal.

The Worst to Come.

"Do you think we have heard the worst of the disorders in our party?"

"Not yet," replied the musical man. "Just wait till our glee club gets to practicing."—Exchange.

Good Proof.

"Guess I must have been born unlucky."

"What makes you say that?"

"Well, for instance, I went to a ball game once. There were eighteen players on the diamond, fifteen or twenty on the benches, 10,000 people in the grand stand, 20,000 on the bleachers, and—the ball hit me!"—Toledo Blade.

A Proof.

"That girl is trying to make a fool of me."

"Oh, no! She never tries anything ready-made."—Baltimore American.

Charles Lamb in British Museum.

The British museum reading room was a favorite resort of Charles Lamb in the days following his retirement from the East India House. "I am going through a course of reading at the museum," he writes to Bernard Barton in 1828. "The Garrick plays, out of part of which I formed my 'Specimens.' I have 2,000 to go through and in a few weeks have dispatched the tythe of 'em. It is a sort of office to me, hours 10 to 4, the same. It does me good. Man must have regular occupation that must have some regularity. Mary Lamb expressed her delight in her brother's fondness for the museum, 'as occupying his time and keeping him from his walks, which she seemed to think over long.'"

To his teacher's request that he give the class ideas on the subject of "bravery" little Johnny delivered himself of the following:

FLIGHT TO A MOUNTAIN PEAK

250 Miles One Stop Landing
8,900 Feet in The Air.

Paris, March 3.—Eugene Renaux flew in a biplane with M. Snouque as a passenger, from St. Cloud, a Paris suburb, to the highest peak of the Pyrenees mountains, 250 miles distant. He made the flight in only one stop in 8 hours and 30 minutes, thereby winning the Michelin prize of $20,000, the terms of which required the flight to be made in six hours.

The peak on which Renaux landed is 4,806 feet high. The landing place was only a few yards square and exceedingly rough. The machine, although hovering without injury. Even a broken wing would have barred Renaux from claiming the prize.

Renaux beat Henry Weymann and Alfred Le Blanc, fellow aiators, who traveled the route in an automobile.

Renaux covered the first 543 miles of the trip at an average speed of more than 57 miles an hour, arriving at Navarra in 153 minutes. He descended and inspected his biplane, reascending a half hour later.
