WATER HIGHWAYS FOR COMMERCIAL GROWTH.

The three great factors for com mercial growth, good roads, good railroads, good waterways, and not alone, for commercial growth, are these contributary, but for a greater and broader civilization.

Years ago, New Bern possessed good waterways. There was a wa ter depth sufficient for boat service that carried passengers and freight, thousands in numbers of the first, hundreds of thousands of tons of the lost. Three, four, and five regular transportation boat lines, made this city the water metro do so. polis of this section. At the same period, there were no roads that one of three things a wise man will could be called good. There was not trust, and yet how few are the EASTER SUNDAY, ST. CYPRIAN railroad service of one passenger train in and out, daily, except daily on the street ! Sunday. There were freight trains every other day.

What a reversal of the situation today! Practically no river trans portation service, and what is at tempted, is compelled to meet rebuff as to dock accommodations. and serious hinerance when inter ior shipments are suggested. As And all poor April's charms are swept to good roads, a people eager for them, voting hundreds of thous ands of dollars, and ever anxious not merely for local good roads, but also willing to join in the movement for a great public highway through the state. Instead of two passenger trains, daily, twenty four, daily, and nearly as with extra freights a common daily the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. occurrence.

New Bern has grown during the should and could have grown. Neither in population nor in industrial and commercial expansion is there the development and growth that every local condition, soil, natural resources, geographi cal location, fully warrants. Good roads, good railroads, are New Bern's, today, but the third link of the all important chain that will form the fastening for commercial growth, industrial advancement, population increase, is wanting. There is the urgent need for this community to enter upon this waterway service, to have deeper water, municipal docks, and so in vite a trade that shall be competitive, but a competitive transporta tion service that while it lessens the cost of freights, increases vast ly the amount of freights, benefitting the merchant, transportation

African Giants. There are many giants in Africa nine feet high, Some of them weigh 300 pounds and are strong enough to kill a panther at one blow. Perhaps you think such big fellows must be clumsy, but they are not. They can run faster than any horse, springing twelve to fourteen feet at a leap. This all sounds like a fairy story, but not so when you bear that these African giants areostriches.

Spain Finally Won In the "Case of Screw Propeller."

Every British captain calling at Spanish ports is familiar with the "case of the screw propeller." The story is told for the benefit of landsmen in Mr. G. H. B. Ward's "The Truth About Spain:" "The steel screw of a cargo steamer which traded with Bilbao and other northern ports was damaged beyond repair during a rough voyage. The vessel was beached pending the arrival of a new propeller from England. "At last, when the steamer was about to sail, the captain was informed that he had to pay a duty for putting ashore a manufactured article-name ly, the 'scrapped' or broken propeller. The captain protested and offered to drop it into the sea, but the officials were obdurate. They seized the ship and demanded payment. The captain

"The duty was returned, but the captain was warned to be very careful about contraband, and for several voyages nothing occurred. Several months later some slight inaccuracy in the and the vessel was not allowed to leave until a heavy fine, corresponding to the original propeller duty, was Mount Etna is one of the great volcanoes of the earth. It is great in size, great in activity, great in beauty. In size it would cover the entire metropolltan district of New York and the surrounding countles. Its height is centuries ago killed 80,000 people, which is probably more than Vesuvius has ever done in all its existence as a volcano, not excepting the great eruption of 79 A.
