THE ROAD TO BALTIMORE.

It Was Over Floating Bridges in the Old, Old Days.

The road to Baltimore is over the lowest of three floating bridges which have been thrown across the Schuylkill river in the neighborhood of Philadelphia. The view on passing this river, which is about 250 yards wide, is beautiful. The banks on each side are high and for many miles above afford the most delightful situations of villas. A very elegant one, laid out in English taste is seen on passing the river just above the bridge. Adjoining to it are public gardens and a house of entertainment with several good rooms, to which the citizens of Philadelphia resort in great numbers during the summer seasons.

The floating bridges are formed of large trees, which are placed in the water transversely and are chained together. Beams are then laid lengthwise upon these and the whole boarded over under the way convenient for passengers. On each side there is a railing. When very heavy carriages go across these bridges they sink a few inches below the surface of the water, but the passage is by no means dangerous. They are kept in an even direction across the river by means of chains and anchors in different parts and are also strongly secured on both shores. Over that part of the river where the channel lies they are so contrived that a piece can be removed to allow vessels to pass through. AVERTS AWFUL TRAGEDY.

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis., (R. No. 1) prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung trouble. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Lottery Chances.

M. Henri Polmeur, the mathematician, told us a few years ago that if every one who buys a lottery ticket knew how little chance there was of any one winning a prize there could be no successful lottery. The chance of each was about equal to the chance of being killed in a railway accident.—London Truth.

THE SOUND SLEEP OF GOOD HEALTH.

Cannot be overestimated and any ailment that prevents it is a menace to health. J. L. Southern, Esq. Claire, Wis., says: "I have been unable to sleep soundly nights, because of pains across my back and soreness of my kidneys. My appetite was very poor and my general condition was much run down. I have been taking Foley's Kidney Pills but a short time and now sleep as sound as a rock, my general condition is greatly improved, and I know that Foley's Kidney Pills have cured me."—F. S. Duffy.

Seven Wonders of the World.

"I wonder where he gets his money."
"I wonder how she can afford such clothes."
"I wonder if he is really in earnest."
"I wonder if she will be sitting up for me."
"I wonder if he thinks nobody suspects him."
"I wonder if she thinks the powder doesn't show."
"I wonder if he will ever propose."

GIVES AID TO STRIKERS.

Sometimes liver, kidneys and bowels seem to go on a strike and refuse to work right. Then you need those pleasant little strike-breakers—Dr. King's New Life Pills—to give them natural aid and gently compel proper action. Excellent health soon follows. Try them. 25c at all druggists.

Why She Worried.

"But, mother, why do you object to my being pleasant to the young men? You can't hope to keep me with you always, you know. One of them will take me away from you some day."
"Take you away from me? Well, if that happens I shall not complain. It is the certainty that none of the young men who have been coming here so far would take you away that has worried both your father and me."
—Chicago Record-Herald.

IT'S EQUAL DON'T EXIST.

No one has ever made a salve ointment or balm to compare with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's the one perfect healer of cuts, corns, burns, bruises, sores, scalds, boils, ulcers, eczema, skin rashes. For sore eyes, cold sores, chapped hands or sprains its supreme. Unrivalled for piles. Try it. Only 25c. at all druggists.

Generous Tramp.

"Please gimme a quarter," begged a panhandler on Washington street. "I won't hand yer no tale about bein' hungry, pard—honest, I wanten git a drink."
"But," we objected (for it was indeed so), "you don't need a quarter to buy a drink."
"Siz," answered the panhandler, "do yonse tink I'm fallen so low as ter take a gent's money an' den not luvve him ter drink wid me?"—Boston Traveller.

LIFE BUOY AND OAR.

Putting on the Oars and Supporting Yourself With the Other.

Very few persons know how to get into a life buoy, and, as in this uncertain world one never knows when one may need to make use of a buoy in real earnest, a little practice might prove of great value in an emergency. Now, when the temptation is to try to lift it over one's head and shoulders or to dive through it. This, however, is impossible. The correct thing is to grasp the two sides of the buoy with fingers of the hands uppermost, lower yourself under the buoy and come up through the center, then rest your arms upon the sides, and you will be comfortably supported as long as it is necessary.

More often than otherwise, in case of accident, a life buoy is not at hand. In such an event an oar may be used as a substitute. Now, there is some little art in saving oneself by this means, for an average sized scull is not buoyant enough to support a person if grasped as the first impulse would direct. There is only one way in which the oar will support a human being. It must be ridden like a hobbyhorse. The haft is put between the legs and the blade allowed to project above the surface of the water in front of one. By this means the head is kept well above the water.—Pearson's Magazine.

Feeling For Death.

For a week the self appointed guide to the blind on their daily walks had noticed that the two men who were her special charges felt carefully of the wall on either side of the door of the asylum when passing in and out. Since she was there to lead them, that precaution seemed not at all necessary, and she finally asked their reason for it.

"I am looking for craps on the door," one old man told her. "They don't like to let us know here in the asylum when any one dies for fear of making us feel bad, but they put craps on the door, and by feeling for it when we pass in and out we can find out for ourselves when one of us has gone."—New York Press.

More and More.

The gravedigger in "Hamlet" was a very witty man, wittier far than many of the epitaph makers who have adorned headstones with their jingles. A sample of the punning rhymes which are cut on tomb follows. It comes from the grave of William More, at Stepney, near London: Here lies one More, and no more than he. The More and no more—how can that be? Why, one More and no more may lie here alone. But here lies one More, and that's more than one.

Took the Shilling.

A recruiting sergeant one day met an ignorant youth idling with his hands in his pockets and standing before a house on the front of which was a notice informing the public that the building was to be sold. The notice ran thus: "To Be Sold by Private Treaty."
The sergeant approached the youth and asked him if he had ever thought of joining the army.
"Not me," was the reply. "You'd have nothing in the army worth talking about."
"Is that so?" said the other. "Well, how is it that Private Treaty has a house for sale and him only a private yet?"
The youth looked thoughtful and puzzled, and presently, over a pint of ale, the possibility of owning a house by joining the army grew into a certainty and the shilling changed hands.—London Tit-Bits.

Going Back a Long Way.

Pick up any peevish book and you will find it bristling with ancient names whose presence is much more difficult to explain than that of the fly in the amber. And as you descend in the social scale the fictions multiply to the pedregers of the landed gentry to the family trees proudly cherished in hundreds of middle class homes. But these lineages, aspiring as they are are of mushroom growth compared with many that are claimed with seeming honesty. At Mostyn hall you may see a vellum roll, seven yards long, headed by no less famous an ancestor than "Adam, son of God." Another pedigree at the college of Hereford starts thus modestly with Adam and the garden of Eden, and Wales has many a family tree which traces descent with unerring hand from the same remote origin.

Lame Shoulder is nearly always due to rheumatism of the muscles, and quickly yields to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all dealers.

ANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For New Bern People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined: Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary trouble and dropsy, follows in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in this locality.

James Thompson, 808 Chestnut St., Kinston, N. C., says: "The public statement I gave in January 1908, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. I had severe pains across my loins and my back ached all the time. My kidneys were weak and I was obliged to pass their secretions every little while. Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly recommended to me that I got a supply and used them as directed. They strengthened my back and kidneys, and removed all symptoms of kidney complaint from my system. The benefit I received has been permanent and I have no need of a kidney medicine whatever."
